Tundra 2014 Box Calendar:

Behavioural Ecology of Western Palearctic Falcons Giovanni Leonardi, 2020-12-07 This monograph is the result of eight years of bibliographical and field research concerning several behavioural ecology aspects of the Palearctic falcons For a while this book grew along with The Lanner falcon published in 2015 and revised in 2017 In both books the main aim was to provide a clear overview of the biology and ecology of these species In fact in the last 20 years the number of publications on falcons has grown tremendously and in parallel also those belonging to the so called grey literature The number of people involved is also increased by including both academics and nature lovers Many previously published books emphasized identification and offered little insights on the behavioural and ecological aspects of the species Very often the research on behavioural ecology remains closed within the confines of academic community By contrast a multitude of basic data is scattered in countless articles published in local magazines Many falcon species are easy to observe and study such as kestrels but others are more rare and localized In order to understand the survival strategies adopted by this group of avian predators it is necessary not to lose sight of the overall picture This book tries to explain the different survival strategies by examining through a few essential chapters some crucial aspects for all species The first chapter provides information on the genus Falco its genetics evolution and morphological peculiarities The other chapters deal with reproductive strategies competition exploitation of resources dispersal patterns communication and sociality One of the main objectives of this book is to produce an accessible but scholarly curated source of reference By understanding the most common species it is possible to provide a working framework for rarer and especially threatened falcon species
