The Windfall Battleships Aidan Dodson, 2025-04-22 This new book explores for the first time the full story of how two Turkish and two Chilean battleships became British capital ships after the outbreak of the First World War. Under construction by the shipbuilding giants of Armstrong and Vickers in August 1914, Sultan Osman I, Readiye, Almirante Latorre, and Almirante Cochrane became HM Ships Agincourt, Erin Canada, and Eagle. The first three served with the Grand Fleet fighting at Jutland, while the last was transformed into a pioneering aircraft carrier which would serve with distinction until sunk while escorting a convoy to Malta in 1942. While two of the other ships had short lives cut short by the Washington Naval Treaty, the final ship, Almirante Latorre, would be returned to Chile after the war for a continuing active career that would last into the 1950s. When finally towed away for scrap in 1959, she was the penultimate survivor of Jutland. Drawing on extensive archival research, the book begins with an overview of the warships under construction around Europe for foreign customers in August 1914 and how the four ships featured were acquired by the Royal Navy. It then looks at them as manifestations of the international rivalries which directed much of the national budgets of impecunious South American and Balkan states towards armaments. The focus then switches to the British service of the ships actually completed as battleships and then to the story of the carrier. Although never finished as a battleship, she would play a crucial role in the development of British carrier aviation. Finally, the author traces the stories of the battleships of the Latin American naval race from the 1920s down to the 1950s. The stories and back stories of Agincourt, Erin Canada, and Eagle embrace almost the whole of the twentieth-century battleship era and they take us down the byways of international naval power ranging from the Pacific to the Black Sea and from the line of battle to mutiny and revolution. A fascinating and original story.

Arming the Warship Iver P. Cooper, 2024-11-04 In the 16th century, warships engaged at close range.

Super-Battleships of World War I Angus Konstam,2025-05-22 As World War I ended the victors were developing a powerful new generation of hyper dreadnoughts and battlecruisers Fully illustrated this studies the big gun warships that never were 1918 was a moment of great naval change Britain still had the largest fleet in the world but its ships were ageing and many of them were markedly inferior to the latest American and Japanese battleships An arms race loomed between the war s victors In this book naval expert Angus Konstam studies and compares the battleships being designed between 1918 and 1922 which drew on the lessons of World War I Britain was designing four G3 class 15in gun battlecruisers plus four N3 hyper dreadnoughts mounting colossal 18in guns The US Navy was planning six new South Dakota battleships carrying an incredible 12 16in guns plus six Lexington class battlecruisers Japan was working on a similar project and in 1920 the first of four Amagi class battlecruisers were laid down However in 1922 this costly arms race was averted by the Washington Naval Treaty which halted new battleship construction and limited the major fleets These battleships and battlecruisers were mostly cancelled and scrapped with a few such as Lexington and Akagi converted into aircraft carriers With new colour reconstructions of the G3 H3 South Dakota

Lexington and Amagi classes this is the first book to study these never built monster warships

Warships in the War of the Pacific 1879-83 Angus Konstam, 2024-05-23 Superbly illustrated with original artwork throughout this book explores the ironclad warships that fought the little known battles of South America's War of the Pacific. In the late 19th century a war erupted between Chile and Peru the catalyst for which was control of guano rich Chincha islands. Given the geography of the two countries with a narrow arid land border and long exposed coastlines it was inevitable that the War of the Pacific would predominantly be a naval war. It was a unique episode of military history fought by two newly emergent South American states using the latest technology ironclad steam powered warships and involving more naval battles than in the American Civil War including a blockade the capture of key warships and bombardments of ports. Chile's navy was larger and more modern while Peru's trump card was the small but powerful ironclad Huascar. In this book naval expert Angus Konstam offers readers an essential guide to this little known naval war illustrated with detailed profiles of the key ironclads spectacular original artwork of the battles and a cutaway of Huascar. He briefly covers the strategies of the warring powers as well as exploring all the key points of the naval campaign and the details of the warships involved as a handful of ironclads fought for naval supremacy in South America.

Warship 2016 Stephen Dent, 2016-05-19 Warship 2016 is devoted to the design development and service history of the world's combat ships. Featuring a broad range of articles from a select panel of distinguished international contributors this latest volume combines original research new book reviews warship notes an image gallery and much more to maintain the impressive standards of scholarship and research from the field of warship history. This 38th edition features the usual range of diverse articles spanning the subject by an international array of expert authors.

Big Guns in the Atlantic Angus Konstam, 2021-08-19 At the outbreak of World War II the German Kriegsmarine still had a relatively small U boat arm. To reach Britain's convoy routes in the North Atlantic these boats had to pass around the top of the British Isles a long and dangerous voyage to their hunting grounds. Germany's larger surface warships were much better suited to this kind of long range operation. So during late 1939 the armoured cruiser Deutschland and later the battlecruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were used as commerce raiders to strike at Allied convoys in the North Atlantic. These sorties met with mixed results but for Germany's naval high command they showed that this kind of operation had potential. Then the fall of France Denmark and Norway in early 1940 dramatically altered the strategic situation. The Atlantic was now far easier to reach and to escape from. During 1940 further moderately successful sorties were made by the cruisers Admiral Scheer and Admiral Hipper. By the end of the year with British mercantile losses mounting to surface raiders and U Boats plans were developed for a much larger raid first using both cruisers and then the two battlecruisers. The climax of this was Operation Berlin the Kriegsmarine's largest and most wide ranging North Atlantic sortie so far. Scharnhorst and Gneisenau remained at sea for two months destroying 22 Allied merchant ships and severely disrupting Britain's lifeline convoys. So when the operation ended the German commander Admiral Lütjens was ordered to repeat his success this time.

with the brand new battleship Bismarck The rest as they say is history These earlier Atlantic raids demonstrated that German surface ships could be highly effective commerce raiders For those willing to see though they also demonstrated just how risky this strategy could be Covering a fascinating and detailed analysis of the Kriegsmarine s Atlantic raids between 1939 and 1941 this book will appeal to readers interested in World War II and in particular in Germany s naval operations

German High Seas Fleet 1914-18 Angus Konstam,2023-09-28 A superbly illustrated new account of how Germany s High Seas Fleet was built operated and fought as it challenged the world s most powerful navy in World War I Seven years before the outbreak of World War I the Imperial German Navy rebranded its Home Fleet as the Hochseeflotte or High Seas Fleet It was a force designed to take on the Royal Navy then the world s most powerful and for the next four years the North Sea would be their battleground Drawing on extensive research Angus Konstam offers the reader a concise fully illustrated account of how the entire High Seas Fleet was designed and built how it operated and how it fought The fleet was a modern balanced force of dreadnought battleships battlecruisers cruisers and torpedo boats using Zeppelins and U boats for reconnaissance The ultimate test between them came in May 1916 when they clashed at Jutland Packed with spectacular original artwork maps 3D diagrams and archive photos it explains how and why the fleet was built its role and how and why it fought as it did From fighting doctrine and crew training to intelligence logistics and gunnery this book is an essential guide to the Kaiser s audacious bid for naval glory
