Urban Growth in Ethiopia, 1887-1974 Getahun Benti, 2016-12-20 This book highlights the positive achievements that Imperial Ethiopia made in its journey towards urbanization into the modern era and undertakes a critical assessment of the economic political and social impediments that prevented the country from transitioning into a truly fully fledged modern urbanization It provides a comprehensive history of the growth of towns between 1887 and 1974 It is organized chronologically regionally and thematically divided into three distinct time periods during which Ethiopian towns

saw progresses and exposures to limited modern urban features First during 1887 1936 the country saw the creation and growth of a national capital 1887 that coordinated the country's economic and political activities and facilitated the growth of other towns in the empire It introduced new towns the railway modern schools and health centers Rudimentary factories were established in Addis Ababa and Dire Dawa along with motor cars and modern roads which increased trade between cities The next era was the Italian occupation from 1936 1941 which shook the pre-existing process of urban growth by introducing a modern European style urbanization system Ethiopian cities saw a qualitatively different way of urban growth in both form and content The Italians introduced modern economic and physical planning administration and internal organization People were introduced to modern life in urban areas exposed to modern wage labor system and thus moved to towns to take advantage of the opportunity The Italian occupation left behind many features of modern urbanization and this influenced population exposed to modern consumptive tastes was determined to retain what the Italians introduced Finally the post Italian period saw a new era of urban growth Due to economic and organizational problems resulting from destructions caused by the war the process of urban growth was slowed down in the early 1940s Although the government did not introduce a clear urban policy in the immediate aftermath of the Second World War towns continued to grow progressively from the early 1950s to 1974

Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1989 International Relations and Historical Sociology Stephen Hobden, 2006-08-21 This book provides an original analysis of recent work by key historical sociologists through the prism of International Relations Stephen Hobden investigates the number of issues which overlap between the two disciplines by focusing on three main themes the ways in which historical sociologists approach international relations in general and the concept of an international system in particular recent advances on the concept of the state as developed by Historical Sociology and their implications for International Relations the potential for productive dialogue between the two schools of thought Here Begins the Dark Sea Meredith Francesca Small, 2023-06-06 The remarkable story of the cartographic masterpiece the Venetian mappa mundi that revolutionized how we see the world In 1459 a Venetian monk named Fra Mauro completed an astonishing map of the world Seven feet in diameter Fra Mauro's mappamundi is the oldest and most complete Medieval map to survive into modernity And in its time this groundbreaking mappamundi provided the most detailed description of the known world incorporating accurate observation and geographic reality urging viewers to see water and land as they really existed Fra Mauro's map was the first in history to show that a ship could circumnavigate Africa and that the Indian Sea was in fact an ocean enabling international trade to expand across the globe Acclaimed anthropologist Meredith F Small reveals how Fra Mauro's mappamundi made cartography into a science rather than a practice based on religion and ancient myths Here Begins the Dark Sea brings Fra Mauro's masterpiece to life as a work of art and a window into Venetian society and culture In telling the story of this cornerstone of modern cartography Small takes the reader on a fascinating journey as she explores the human urge to find our way Here Begins the Dark Sea is a riveting testament to the undeniable impact Fra Mauro and his mappamundi have had over the past five centuries and still holds relevance today

Boundaries in Question John MacMillan, Andrew Linklater, 1995 This collection of essays aims to present a challenge to neo realist approaches highlighting the dynamic quality and potential of international relations This volume presents an alternative theoretical perspective on international relations united by issues of the state A range of subjects are covered dealing with the analysis and limitations of the state as well as challenges and changes to it The Analysis tackles our basic understanding of the state looking at how it maintains itself and the role of belief systems as well as innate systems of privilege The impact of global issues on inter state relations is examined under the umbrella of Challenges in the section on Change contributors highlight the tension between growing social cultural technological and economic influences and the ability of states to maintain their traditional areas of competence The final section identifies changes in the international environment which question the proficiency and sometimes the legitimacy of the state as an international actor This book aims to provide a review of the field of international relations to challenge familiar concepts and theories and to act as a springboard for further debate

A Global History of Modern Historiography Georg G Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2013-09-13 So far histories of historiography have concentrated almost exclusively on the West This is the first book to offer a history of modern historiography from a global perspective Tracing the transformation of historical writings over the past two and half centuries the book portrays the transformation of historical writings under the effect of professionalization which served as a model not only for Western but also for much of non Western historical studies At the same time it critically examines the reactions in post modern and post colonial thought to established conceptions of scientific historiography A main theme of the book is how historians in the non Western world not only adopted or adapted Western ideas but also explored different approaches rooted in their own cultures
