Tsodilo Hills Copper Bracelet Of The Kalahari:

Tsodilo Hills Alec C. Campbell, 2010 Tsodilo Hills is a richly illustrated account of one of the world's oldest and most beautiful historical sites

Living with Heritage: The Case of Tsodilo World Heritage Site and Neighbouring Localities Stella Basinyi, 2019-10-31 In 2008 several heritage sites in Botswana were opened for tourism in addition to the Tsodilo World Heritage Site. Insufficient research was undertaken to understand how local communities and local cultures respond to these ventures. This study presents an overview of community transformation and responses to heritage sites as globalised platforms

Handbook of Pleistocene Archaeology of Africa Amanuel Beyin, David K. Wright, Jayne Wilkins, Deborah I. Olszewski, 2023-08-17 This handbook showcases an Africa-wide compendium of Stone Age archaeological sites and methodological advances that have improved our understanding of hominin lifeways and biogeography in the continent. The focal time spans the Pleistocene Epoch c. 2.5 million to 11,700 years ago, during which important human traits such as obligate bipedalism that freed the hands to engage in creative activities, a large brain relative to body size, language, and social complexity developed in the general forms that they are found today. The handbook is the first of its kind and it is expected to play a significant role in human evolutionary research by collating the African Stone Age record, which exists in a fragmented state along the lines of national boundaries and colonial experiences. Showcasing emerging conceptual and methodological advances in African Pleistocene archaeology, providing reference datasets for teaching and researching African prehistory, making Africa's Stone Age record accessible to researchers and students based in Africa who may not have access to journal publications where most new field discoveries are published. The Handbook features 128 chapters of which 116 are site entries grouped by the host countries and presented in an alphabetical order. A number of those site-related entries examine multiple archaeological localities lumped under specific projects or study areas. The rest of the contributions deal with methodological topics such as luminescence and radiocarbon dating, field data recovery, lithic analysis, micromorphology, and hominin fossil and zooarchaeological records of Pleistocene Africa. The introductory chapter provides an historical overview of the development of Stone Age/Paleolithic archaeology in Africa, beginning in the mid-19th century and paleoenvironmental and chronological frameworks commonly used to structure the continent's Pleistocene record. By making a good amount of African Stone Age literature accessible to researchers and the public, we wish to promote interest in human evolutionary research in the continent and elsewhere. Awarded the 2025 The Best Book Award by The Society of Africanist Archaeologists

Ancient African Religions Robert M. Baum, 2024 This book examines the history of religions in Africa from the burial practices of the earliest humans to the rise of centralized theocratic kingdoms like ancient Egypt up to the rise of Islam in the Seventh Century

Landscapes and Landforms of Botswana Frank D. Eckardt, 2022-05-17 This volume contains 22 chapters introducing a wide range of semi-arid and geologic landscapes. Botswana, a thinly populated nation the size of France, is a Southern African keystone country at the heart of the Kalahari, sharing some of the major sub continental drainage basins such as the Limpopo Zambezi Orange and Okavango with its neighbouring countries The extensive Kalahari Sand surface has been sculptured by numerous past processes which have produced subtle but regional landforms consisting of extensive dunes and shorelines Incipient rifting has created the dynamic Okavango and Makgadikgadi fan basin systems which produces iconic wetlands with a world heritage status Geological outcrops in particular to the east expose highly denuded basement lithologies which produces numerous inselbergs that are home to a rich archaeological heritage The book also examines the geomorphology of mineral and water resources which sustain the economy and population and also features dedicated chapters that cover diamondiferous kimberlites caves pans dams duricrusts and wildlife Chapter 6 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com

Africa from MIS 6-2 Sacha C. Jones, Brian A. Stewart, 2016-03-04 Bringing together archaeological paleoenvironmental paleontological and genetic data this book makes a first attempt to reconstruct African population histories from out species evolution to the Holocene Africa during Marine Isotope Stages MIS 6 to 2 190 12 000 years ago witnessed the biological development and behavioral florescence of our species Modern human population dynamics which involved multiple population expansions dispersals contractions and extinctions played a central role in our species evolutionary trajectory So far the demographic processes modern human population sizes distributions and movements that occurred within Africa during this critical period have been consistently under addressed The authors of this volume aim at 1 examining the impact of this glacial interglacial glacial cycle on human group sizes movements and distributions throughout Africa 2 investigating the macro and micro evolutionary processes underpinning our species anatomical and behavioral evolution and 3 setting an agenda whereby Africa can benefit from and eventually contribute to the increasingly sophisticated theoretical and methodological palaeodemographic frameworks developed on other continents

Archaeology and Ethnography Along the Loango Coast in the South West of the Republic of Congo Gerry Wait, Ibrahima Thiaw, 2018-09-30 This book presents the results of the Environmental and Social Impact Assessment ESIA project in the southwest region of the Republic of the Congo undertaken to identify and evaluate cultural resources which might need further investigation The study also reports on ethnographic surveys considering intangible cultural heritage

Ecotourism Impacts on Indigenous Peoples Wayne A. Babchuk, Robert K. Hitchcock, 2024-11-30 Ecotourism defined as responsible travel to natural areas that conserves the environment and improves the well being of local people has become one of the fastest growing industries in the world The impacts of ecotourism on people in virtually every part of the planet are particularly true for Indigenous people Indigenous people are found in over half of the world's countries and their cultures customs traditions identities and natural resource management systems are of great interest to scientists tourists and travelers Many Indigenous peoples reside in conservation hotspots and places with high biological biodiversity As shown in this book ecotourism has both promises and pitfalls for Indigenous peoples who seek to enhance their livelihoods while conserving the habitats in which they reside and the sacredness of their traditions Drawing on cases from South America North America Africa and Asia Ecotourism Impacts on Indigenous Peoples examines the social economic political and environmental impacts of ecotourism A common plea of Indigenous people is that they have greater control over incoming ecotourists and receive more equitable social economic and cultural benefits from what they recognize as a highly complex industry with significant environmental economic and political effects

Foragers in the middle Limpopo Valley: Trade, Place-making, and Social Complexity Tim Forssman,2020-09-24 Foragers were present in the Limpopo Valley South Africa before the arrival of farmers and not only witnessed but also participated in local systems leading to the appearance of a complex society Despite numerous studies in the valley forager involvement in socio political developments has been until now largely ignored

World Heritage Sites and Tourism Laurent Bourdeau,Maria Gravari-Barbas,Mike Robinson,2016-11-10 Not all World Heritage Sites have people living within or close by their boundaries but many do The designation of World Heritage status brings a new dimension to the functioning of local communities and particularly through tourism Too many tourists accentuated by the World Heritage label or in some cases not enough tourists despite anticipation of increased numbers can act to disrupt and disturb relations within a community and between communities Either way tourism can be seen as a form of activity that can generate interest and concern as it is played out within World Heritage Sites But the relationships that World Heritage Sites and their consequent tourism share with communities are not just a function of the number of tourists The relationships are complex and ever changing as the communities themselves change and are built upon long standing and wider contextual factors that stretch beyond tourism This volume drawing upon a wide range of international cases relating to some 33 World Heritage Sites reveals the multiple dimensions of the relations that exist between the sites and local communities The designation of the sites can create obscure and heighten the power relations between different parts of a community between different communities and between the tourism and the heritage sector Increasingly the management of World Heritage is not only about the management of buildings and landscapes but about managing the communities that live and work in or near them
