Turkish Social And Business Culture:

Ethical Business Cultures in Emerging Markets Douglas Jondle, Alexandre Ardichvili, 2017-10-26 Previous research on corporate cultures and ethical business cultures has focused almost exclusively on studies of multinational corporations from a handful of developed countries This book addresses the intersection of human resource development and human resource management with ethical business cultures in the four BRIC countries and four other fast growing emerging economies those of Mexico Indonesia South Africa and Turkey Drawing on longitudinal large scale survey based studies it compares managers and employees perceptions of ethical business cultures in these countries contrasting them with the US economy It then discusses the economic and socio cultural context and current research on business ethics in each of these countries including implications for research and practice This significant study will appeal to scholars researchers and students in business ethics management human resource management and development and organization studies and addresses issues faced daily by business executives and practitioners working in emerging market countries

Economic Survival Strategies of Turkish Migrants in London Olgu Karan, 2017-09-16 Economic Survival Strategies of Turkish Migrants in London by Olgu KARAN is about economic survival in the Turkish and Kurdish communities of North London with some interesting comparisons to the longer established Turkish Cypriot community It is to be welcomed that the study spans macro and micro levels Also to be welcomed is that it eschews the idea that identity and culture is fixed and unchanging providing some fascinating and important examples to the contrary and that it moves beyond essentially culturalist approaches to entrepreneurship and even more so mainstream individualist ones Dr Karan noticed that two ethnic communities in conflictual relationships with each other in home country Turkey are marshalling collective resources in a very cooperative way across ethnic boundaries and forming small business ventures and thus contributing to the empowerment and upgrading of their households and communities
