Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity Linda C. Tillman,James Joseph Scheurich,2013-08-21 The rapid growth of diversity within U S schooling and the heightened attention to the lack of equity in student achievement school completion and postsecondary attendance has made equity and diversity two of the principle issues in education educational leadership and educational leadership research The Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity is the first research based handbook that comprehensively addresses the broad diversity in U S schools by race ethnicity culture language gender disability sexual identity and class The Handbook both highly values the critically important strengths and assets that diversity brings to the United States and its schools yet at the same time candidly critiques the destructive deficit thinking biases and prejudices that undermine school success for many groups of students Well known chapter authors explore diversity and related inequities in schools and the achievement problems these issues present to school leaders Each chapter reviews theoretical and empirical evidence of these inequities and provides research based recommendations for practice and for future research Celebrating the broad diversity in U S schools the Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity critiques the inequities connected to that diversity and provides evidence based practices to promote student success for all children

From Ike to Mao and Beyond Bob Avakian, 2005 Bob Avakian has written a memoir containing three unique but interwoven stories The first tells of a white middle class kid growing up in 1950s America who goes to an integrated high school and has his world turned around the second of a young man who overcomes a near fatal disease and jumps with both feet into the heady swirl of Berkeley in the sixties and the third of a radical activist who matures into a tempered revolutionary communist leader If you think about the past or if you urgently care about the future if you want to hear a unique voice of utter realism and deep humanity and if you dare to have your assumptions challenged and your stereotypes overturned then take a look at this book From publisher description

Prosperity for All Matthew Hilton, 2011-05-02 The history of consumerism is about much more than just shopping Ever since the eighteenth century citizen consumers have protested against the abuses of the market by boycotting products and promoting fair instead of free trade In recent decades consumer activism has responded to the challenges of affluence by helping to guide consumers through an increasingly complex and alien marketplace In doing so it has challenged the very meaning of consumer society and tackled some of the key economic social and political issues associated with the era of globalization In Prosperity for All the first international history of consumer activism Matthew Hilton shows that modern consumer advocacy reached the peak of its influence in the decades after World War II Growing out of the product testing activities of Consumer Reports and its international counterparts including Which in the United Kingdom Que Choisir in France and Test in Germany consumerism evolved into a truly global social movement Consumer unions NGOs and individual activists like Ralph Nader emerged in countries around the world including developing countries in Southeast Asia and Latin America concerned with creating a more equitable marketplace and articulating a politics of consumption that addressed the needs of both individuals and society as a whole Consumer activists achieved many victories from making cars safer to highlighting the dangers of using baby formula instead of breast milk in countries with no access to clean water The 1980s saw a reversal in the consumer movement's fortunes thanks in large part to the rise of an antiregulatory agenda both in the United States and internationally In the process the definition of consumerism changed focusing more on choice than on access As Hilton shows this change reflects more broadly on the dilemmas we all face as consumers Do we want more stuff and more prosperity for ourselves or do we want others less fortunate to be able to enjoy the same opportunities and standard of living that we do Prosperity for All makes clear that by abandoning a more idealistic vision for consumer society we reduce consumers to little more than shoppers and we deny the vast majority of the world's population the fruits of affluence

The Indispensability of Phenomenology, Experiment and History René Van Hezewijk, Henderikus J.

Stam, 2024-11-08 This book is the first comprehensive intellectual biography of Johannes Linschoten whose work has been credited with helping to bring down the Utrecht School of phenomenological psychology. The authors show this to be a mistaken assumption in the light of Linschoten's entire oeuvre and demonstrate his importance for an understanding of a phenomenological psychology that necessarily coexists with an experimental scientific psychology. In the Netherlands Linschoten is particularly appreciated for his last book published posthumously, That volume Idols of the Psychologist, took a critical look at phenomenological psychology and its pretensions while simultaneously acknowledging that a phenomenological outlook is a necessity for beginning any kind of experimental investigation. Most commentators on this book considered Linschoten a convert from phenomenology to experimental psychology but have either ignored his earlier substantive work or have not seen the importance of the intellectual context for his final work. By examining his life and the full extent of his voluminous writings, this book demonstrates Linschoten's importance for the development of psychology in the Netherlands and beyond. It will shed new light on the life and work of Johannes Linschoten as well as the Dutch school of phenomenology and its postwar contributions to psychology in Europe and North America. Furthermore, for the first time, this book brings together important aspects of Linschoten's life with his prodigious output. It demonstrates how his life and work created a unique psychology that deserves to be continued and developed. Russian War Films Denise Jeanne

Youngblood, 2007 A panoramic survey of nearly a century of Russian films on wars and wartime from World War I to more recent conflicts in Afghanistan and Chechnya with heavy emphasis on films pertaining to World War II. The Kentucky

Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes Richard Sowers, 2014-03-11 This is the definitive history of thoroughbred racing's three premier events which have never before been explored in such detail. This book gives the history of America's classic races from the inaugural Belmont Stakes in 1867 through 2013, identifying which equine participants were truly worthy of lasting acclaim and which were one-hit wonders. Perhaps even more compelling are the stories of the men and women who rode, trained, owned or bred classic winners, including their exploits on the turf and their triumphs and failures in arenas far removed from horse racing. Gifts of Language Bension Varon, 2016-07-08 Bension Varon is a Sephardic Jewa descendant.

of Jews expelled from Spain under the threat of conversion in 1492 He was born and grew up in Istanbul Turkey where he had two mother tongues Turkish and Judeo Spanish the language of his ancestors He became familiar with Hebrew and Greek and acquired fluency in French and English through both education and professional work including in international organizations Varon has lived as a multilingual most of his adult life in harmony with his multicultural upbringing and vocation This book describes the historical currents that made Istanbul a uniquely multicultural city evident in its diversity of languages and the vibrancy of its cultural and linguistic exchanges It paints a vivid picture of the sensibility mores and culture of Turkey's Sephardic community grounded in the Judeo Spanish language It discusses the importance of language acquisition and use to both the author's own immigrant experience and to immigrant experiences more generally Multilingualism knowledge of three or more languages is not rare in much of the world Varon's case is special partly because of the mixture of his languages which combines the Eastern Turkish Hebrew and Greek and the Western Spanish French and English One of his languages Judeo Spanish is considered severely endangered by the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization UNESCO and is therefore given special attention by Varon who retains a rare knowledge of it
