When determining the value of a stock, an investor should consider the company's financial performance, its growth potential, and the overall market conditions. The company's financial performance is a key factor in determining its value, as it indicates the company's ability to generate profits and pay dividends. Growth potential is also important, as it suggests the company's ability to expand its operations and increase its market share. Finally, the overall market conditions can affect the value of a stock, as a strong market can lead to higher stock prices and a weak market can lead to lower stock prices.

Remove the valve springs and retainers. Remove the valve stem from the valve stem and remove the valve. Drop valve in box on the valve to be replaced or original position.

Check the valve guides and stems. Use plug gauges to check guides. A combined clearance of .004" or more indicates valves or guides at least should be replaced. If the margin of valve is 1/16" or less the valve should be replaced. The margin is the portion of head between seat and top of the valve.

The valve seats must not allow valve in or leakage. This must be tested. If the seats are low, they cannot be retouched to proper width they should be replaced. Overlap exhaust valve and rings are available.

Standard rings are available for the internal radius only.

Examine the surface first.

Examine the water hose, plugs and connections at front and rear. They may be removed to clean out sediment. Special screen plugs are available for use in wheel water passages and in line of wheel pump in chain.

Check the valve springs for length. They should be $1\frac{1}{2}$ " from length. Replace if more than $\frac{1}{16}$ " short.

If the core hole plugs are removed, replace with new plugs, using a sealant on the contact surface. Clean the valves and replace in a valve lathe. (See Manufacturer's instruction for operation of lathe).

Always replace valves
due to be replaced with new valves.

Always replace valve guides if new valve seats are to be installed. Use seat seal compound on the new seat in 1.5/16" dia. The correct diameter of the intake ring is 1.5/16" dia. Use a die, rather.

Drive the insert in with a pilot driver or use dry ice to shrink the ring so it can be positioned without driving.
