Too Much Luck The Mining Boom And Australias Future:

Too Much Luck Paul Cleary, 2011-08-10 We think we are the lucky country but what we really have is dumb luck too much luck more than we know what to do with Paul Cleary In Too Much Luck Paul Cleary shows how the resource boom which seems a blessing could well become a curse We have never seen a boom quite like this one Under taxed and under regulated multinational companies are making colossal profits by selling off non renewable resources New projects are being rushed through weekly but who is looking out for the public interest As the boom accelerates it will drive the dollar higher and higher and force up the cost of doing business for everyone else Industries that involve many jobs such as tourism and education will fade away What happens if commodity prices suddenly collapse as they have in the past Or worse when the resources run out Many countries before us have been caught by the resource trap a heady period of boom and growth followed by a painful bust Paul Cleary maps out the pitfalls counts the human and environmental costs shows what has worked overseas and suggests a better way forward one which would turn this one off windfall into a lasting legacy

Neoliberal Australia and US Imperialism in East Asia E. Paul, 2012-10-23 A critical analysis of Australia s neoliberal state and role in the American imperial project in Asia In exposing the causal mechanisms for violence and prospects for more wars it argues for emancipatory alternatives to the existing dominant and anti democratic neoliberal governmentality

Rural Change in Australia John Connell, 2016-04-08 New twenty first century economic social and environmental changes have challenged and reshaped rural Australia They range from ageing populations youth out migration immigration policies that seek to place skilled migrants in rural Australia tree changers agricultural restructuring and new relationships with indigenous populations Challenges also exist around the patchwork economy and the wealth that the mining boom offers some areas while threatening regional economic decline in others Rural Australia is increasingly not simply a place of production of agriculture and minerals but an idea that individuals seek and are encouraged to consume The socio economic implications of drought water rights and changing farming practices have prefaced new social cultural and economic reforms This book provides a contemporary perspective on rapidly evolving population economic and environmental changes in rural and regional Australia itself a significant concept Bringing together a range of empirical studies the book builds on established rural studies themes such as population change economic restructuring and globalisation in agriculture but links such changes to environmental change culture class gender and ethnic diversity Presenting original and in depth interventions on these issues and their intersections this book assembles the best of contemporary research on rural Australia

The Architecture of Industry Mathew Aitchison, 2016-03-16 From the Rust Belt to Silicon Valley the intersection between architecture and industry has provided a rich and evolving source for historians of architecture In a historical context industrial architecture evokes the smoking factories of the nineteenth century or Fordist production complexes of the twentieth century This book documents the changing nature of industrial building and planning from the end of the nineteenth century to the beginning of the twenty first century Drawing on research from the United States Europe and Australia this collection of essays highlights key moments in industrial architecture and planning representative of the wider paradigms in the field Areas of analysis include industrial production factories hydroelectricity aerospace logistics finance scientific research and mining The selected case studies serve to highlight architectural and planning innovations in industry and their contributions to wider cultural and societal currents This richly illustrated collection will be of interest for a wide range of built environment studies incorporating findings from both historical and theoretical scholarship and design research

Environmental Crime and Social Conflict Avi Brisman, Nigel South, Rob White, 2016-03-09 This impressive collection of original essays explores the relationship between social conflict and the environment a topic that has received little attention within criminology The chapters provide a systematic and comprehensive introduction and overview of conflict situations stemming from human exploitation of environments as well as the impact of social conflicts on the wellbeing and health of specific species and ecosystems Largely informed by green criminology perspectives the chapters in the book are intended to stimulate new understandings of the relationships between humans and nature through critical evaluation of environmental destruction and degradation associated with social conflicts occurring around the world With a goal of creating a typology of environment social conflict relationships useful for green criminological research this study is essential reading for scholars and academics in criminology as well as those interested in crime law and justice

Coal's Final Void Kari Dahlgren, 2025-02-25 This book explores the continuation of coal mining in Australia despite growing awareness of its contribution to the climate crisis Through an in depth ethnographic study Kari Dahlgren reveals the complex and often contradictory ways that miners lobbyists and communities navigate the uncertain future of coal By focusing on the human stories behind this industry the book sheds light on broader environmental political and social issues of global significance Dahlgren's research spans multiple Australian coal communities primarily in Moranbah Queensland and the Hunter Valley of New South Wales She offers insights into the daily decisions and ethical considerations of coal miners and lobbyists that sustain the industry in the face of climate change The book addresses diverse topics such as labour precarity gender roles populist politics and the moral accusations faced by pro coal advocates connecting these themes to the broader social and political challenges of Australia's energy transition Central to the book are the final voids left by mining both physical and metonymic holes left in the aftermath of mining These voids represent the emptied livelihoods of those entangled in the coal industry as they grapple with the uncertainty of what comes next The book explores how communities lobbyists and miners attempt to imagine and fill these voids with hopeful but often impractical visions avoiding a reckoning with the industry's destructive legacy This struggle highlights the deep entanglement of labour and ecological precarity in sustaining the climate crisis offering fresh insights for scholars in anthropology human geography and energy policy This book is essential reading for scholars policymakers and activists engaged in climate and energy debates as well as anyone interested in the complex human dimensions of the energy transition      Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Australia. Parliament.
