

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a large-scale solar power plant, also known as a concentrated solar power (CSP) plant. The image shows a vast field of solar collectors, which are heliostats, arranged in neat rows. These collectors are reflecting bright sunlight, creating a shimmering effect across the landscape. In the distance, a tall, slender tower (the receiver) is visible, which is the focal point for the concentrated solar radiation. The sky is a clear, deep blue, and the overall scene conveys a sense of clean, renewable energy technology.
