Nuclear Weapons Proliferation in the Next Decade Peter Lavoy,2020-09-23 The intensification of the Iranian and North Korean nuclear crises has created new fears that deteriorating security conditions in the Middle East Northeast Asia and other regions will lead additional countries to seek their own nuclear arsenals in the years to come This special issue examines the factors that are likely to shape nuclear weapons proliferation over the next decade The internationally recognized authors of this issue many of whom are prominent scholars and others of whom have held influential governmental positions with responsibility for countering nuclear proliferation bring to light the conditions and events that might drive new countries to pursue nuclear weapons the indicators and cautionary signs that can provide early warning that a country is interested in building nuclear bombs and the policy and military measures that can be adopted to prevent or at least dissuade new proliferators The introductory chapter develops a novel analytical approach focusing on the role of nuclear myths and mythmakers and the subsequent chapters draw on this approach to help analysts better understand and policy makers better manage nuclear proliferation over the next ten years

Choice ,2005-09 Violent Non-state Actors in World Politics Klejda Mulaj,2009-10 The essays in this volume follow the political economic and social processes behind the emergence of VNSAs and the way in which they manipulate crises Contributors isolate the point at which violence becomes desirable to the non state actor and explore how this change alters the relationship between VNSAs and the state and they track the influence of VNSAs on the rebuilding of the very governments they tear down One of the first resources to describe these groups in depth this volume decodes the internal structure of VNSAs their recruitment strategies and ideologies their characteristics and partnerships and their fundamental similarities and differences Jacket Gentle Warlords Tyler Bembenek,2015 This paper provides a heuristic to determine the potential effects of violent non state actors VNSAs on stability It classifies VNSAs by type categorizing groups as either clientelist communal or corporate It finds that corporate VNSAs those organized around a shared but non ascriptive identity such as membership in a guild or society generally behave in a manner that is most likely to create stability This hypothesis is supported through an in depth examination of the Civil Defense Forces a corporate VNSA that played a crucial role during the 1991 2002 Sierra Leone Civil War Violent Non-state Actors Igwenyere Christian Obioma,2016
