Writings For A Liberation Psychology:

Writings for a Liberation Psychology Ignacio Martín-Baró, 1996-09-01 A Spanish born Jesuit trained in psychology at the University of Chicago and killed by a Salvadoran death squad in 1989 Martín Baró devoted much of his career to making psychology speak to the community and to the individual This collection clarifies his importance in Latin American psychology and reveals a major force in social theory Potent Mana Wende Elizabeth Marshall, 2012-01-02 Brilliantly elucidating and weaving together the forces of indigenous sovereignty colonialism and personal health Potent Mana offers a uniquely holistic and intimate portrait of the long term effects of colonialism on an indigenous people the k naka maoli Native Hawaiians An ethnographic exploration based on fifteen months of research the book moves the conversation on the dangerous effects of colonialism forward by exploring the theories and practices of Native Hawaiians engaged in decolonization Decades of substance abuse mental illness depression language loss and the concomitant dispossession from sacred lands have accompanied colonialism Consequently healing both mental and physical are essential to decolonization and indigenous sovereignty in twenty first century Hawai i Native Hawaiian run treatment centers and clinics more than political rallies are centers for healing and decolonization on O ahu today The effects of colonialism and the measures taken to counter and move beyond it as Wende Marshall convincingly argues do not take place solely on a supralocal level but shatteringly involve the physical and emotional well being of real individuals Becoming decolonized is about overcoming the shame of colonialism and requires a process of remembering the traditions of ancestors and reinterpreting and rewriting histories that have only been told from a colonial point of view Decolonization is an indigenous perspective and an understanding that health was impossible without political power and cultural integrity Creating Inclusive Knowledges Christopher C. Sonn, Alison M. Baker, 2019-07-23 There has been a growing interest in the role of arts and cultural practice in tackling perennial forms of social exclusion marginalization and oppression Researchers and educators from different disciplines have been collaborating with community based agencies and community groups to forge new ways to challenge these forms of exclusion This volume discusses how various social actors work in interdisciplinary and cross institutional ways to push an agenda that privileges those individuals and groups who experience and live at the front line of social inequality discrimination racism and oppression For instance what new understandings are generated through creative interdisciplinary action oriented work and the implications for social action and transformation How are community pedagogies constructed and communicated through arts based research contemporary and innovative mediums such as creative performances arts technologies mixed cultural practices and social media and networking This collection of articles blurs the lines between cultural practice and knowledge production with the process and products coming in the forms of theories creative methodologies and a range of arts Together these act as powerful pedagogical tools for engaging in social justice and transformative work The contributions further highlight the multifaceted and diverse ways of creating and disseminating knowledge and the attempts to decenter text based ways of communicating in hopes of sharing collaborative knowledge beyond the academy and engaging the public This volume was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Inclusive Education Early Psychological Research Contributions from Women of Color, Volume 2 Rihana Shiri Mason, Jon E. Grahe, Michelle L. Ceynar, 2024-07-29 This volume serves as a companion to Early Psychological Research Contributions from Women of Color Volume I It focuses on the dissertations of 20 builders women of color who earned their doctoral degrees in psychology prior to 1990 and who were leaders in the field through their leadership or innovation An introductory chapter bridges the two volumes Each subsequent chapter summarizes and examines a dissertation using a consistent format including a biographical sketch of the builder with an emphasis on her significant contribution to an organization or innovation that moved the field forward a summary of the dissertation a reproducibility critique of the dissertation and an alternative framework section that analyzes the dissertation from a modern theoretical perspective or methodological approach e g feminist theory liberation psychology mestiza consciousness etc The topics cover the breadth of the discipline of psychology including physiological cognitive developmental social and clinical Some topics are also relevant to business education medicine and social work The varying nature of these dissertations allows the book to be used to augment coursework either as a complete collection or as individual chapters This volume is intended for both instructors and students The course activities provide examples of how to integrate key aspects of the dissertation research into the classroom The volume was written with upper level undergraduate students in mind so that it could be used across the psychology curriculum but the editors envision this book as a potential graduate level text as well

A Postcolonial Commentary on the New Testament Writings Fernando F. Segovia, R. S. Sugirtharajah, 2007-09-27 Since its emergence a few years ago postcolonial biblical criticism has witnessed swift expansion and development in Biblical Studies This critical approach has been increasingly applied to biblical texts as well as modern and postmodern interpretations and interpreters of these texts yielding an ever growing body of dissertations scholarly articles and volumes In the process this approach has become increasingly sophisticated as well in matters of method and theory This Postcolonial Commentary on the New Testament Writings represents a critical benchmark in postcolonial biblical criticism Indeed the Commentary stands as the most comprehensive application to date of postcolonial criticism to the biblical texts with its focus on the entire corpus of the New Testament It places the reality and ramifications of imperial colonial frameworks and relations at the centre of biblical criticism The various entries pursue their analysis across a broad range of concerns and through a number of different approaches They show among other things how texts and interpretations construct and or relate to their respective imperial colonial contexts foreground literary rhetorical and ideological marks of coloniality and postcoloniality in both texts and interpretations reveal how postcolonial reading strategies disrupt and destabilize hegemonic biblical criticism and engage in critical dialogue with the visions and projects identified in texts as well as in interpretations

Toward this end the Commentary has recourse to a highly distinguished and diversified roster of scholars making this a definite point of reference for years to come

Psychology's Contribution to Socio-Cultural, Political, and Individual Emancipation Carl Ratner, 2019-10-29 This book articulates how psychologists can use their theory research and intervention to generate insights into emancipatory social change that is necessary to solve social and psychological problems These include racism sexism civil rights poverty militarism education and politics Psychology was not developed to directly address social issues It must therefore be reconceptualised to fulfil this aim In this book Carl Ratner makes use of Vygotsky's psychological approach known as cultural historical psychology supplemented by Martin Baro's Liberation Psychology and the work of Bourdieu and Foucault to develop an emancipatory psychological theory

This approach is then utilized to lay out a specific program of social and psychological emancipation. This reconstructed psychological theory is also used to evaluate populist movements that aim at social and psychological emancipation. Ratner posits that populism is inadequate to solve social and psychological problems because it misunderstands the nature of society and what it takes to improve society and psychology. This is demonstrated through wide ranging examples including populist feminism, populist socialism and populist distortions of liberation psychology and cultural historical psychology. This lively critique opens a pathway for academic across the social sciences concerned with how their disciplines can be oriented toward understanding and solving social psychological problems and will appeal to wide readership including policy makers and social activists.

Beyond Suffering and Reparation Timothy James Bowyer, 2018-11-01. This book presents the key issues, debates, concepts, approaches and questions that together define the lives of rural people living in extreme poverty in the aftermath of political violence in a developing country context. Divided into nine chapters, the book addresses issues such as the complexities of human suffering, losing trust, psychic wounds, dealing with post traumatic stress situations and disillusionment after change. By building knowledge about human and social suffering in a post conflict environment, the book counters the objectification of human and social suffering and the moral detachment with which it is associated. In addition, it presents practical ways to help make things better. It discusses new methodological concepts based around empathy and participation to show how the subjective reality of human and social suffering matters. Finally, the book maps a burgeoning field of enquiry based around the need for linking psychosocial approaches with the actual lived experience of individuals and groups.

Mutual Accompaniment and the Creation of the Commons Mary Watkins, 2019-06-25. A landmark book that maps a radical model not only for the helping professions but for the work of solidarity. This timely and pathbreaking volume maps a radical model of accompaniment, exploring its profound implications for solidarity. Psychosocial and ecological accompaniment is a mode of responsive assistance that combines psychosocial understanding with political and cultural action. Accompaniment grounded in horizontality, interdependence and potential mutuality moves away from hierarchical and unidirectional helping profession approaches that decontextualize suffering. Watkins envisions a powerful paradigm of mutual solidarity with profound implications for creating commons in the face of societal division and indifference to suffering.
