The Transformative Workplace Carole and David Schwinn ,2015-05-19 The greatest need in the world today is for far more people to be developed enough to bring forth a world that works for all Organizations need people who are capable of facing the challenges of an uncertain global economy communities need people who can strengthen institutions in the places they live societies need people with the capacity to address the urgency and complexity of the problems we face in the world today The authors propose that the places we work must become the context for becoming more of who we are meant to be as highly aware fully functioning human beings at the same time that we accomplish the goals of the enterprise The book explains what is meant by transformative work highlights examples of where it is occurring around the world and offers ideas about how workplaces can benefit from equally valuing and focusing on the purposes of their work the purposes of the people who work there and the purposes of their communities and the larger society Technology-Enhanced Professional

Learning Allison Littlejohn,Anoush Margaryan,2013-10-30 Technology Enhanced Professional Learning addresses the need for continuous workplace learning that derives from the emergence of new specialized and constantly changing work practices While continuous learning is fundamental to enabling individuals to function in and productively shape contemporary workplaces digital technology is increasingly central to productive workplace practice By examining the intersection of human learning processes emergent work practices and patterns of use of digital technology to support learning and work this edited collection brings the disparate fields of professional learning and technology enhanced learning together to advance theory and practice in both realms Slow at Work Aoife McElwain,2017-12-29 The way we work has changed We need new tools to help navigate this world of work not only to achieve career success but to stay sane while doing so and this book can be one of them Our jobs can become such an important part of our identity that we walk the treacherous line between loving our work and speeding towards burnout. An always on culture, the cult of busyness and blurred boundaries mean that work and life can become seriously out of balance. So if you are burnt out, anxious, feel like an imposter or caught in a cycle of procrastination, this life changing book contains all the advice you need to restore your balance and get back on track.

Cultivating Professional Resilience in Direct Practice Jason M. Newell, 2017-09-26

Overwhelming empirical evidence indicates that new social workers, particularly those going into child welfare or other trauma related care, will discover emotional challenges including the indirect or secondary effects of the trauma work itself, professional burnout and compassion fatigue. However, the newly revised CSWE Educational Policy and Accreditation Standards (EPAS) does not mandate the inclusion of content related to self care in social work curriculum or field education. In a textbook that bridges the gap between theoretical and pragmatic approaches to this important issue in human service work, Jason M. Newell provides a potential resolution by conceptualizing self care as an ongoing and holistic set of practice behaviors described as the key to professional resilience. To address the effects of trauma related care on direct practitioners, Newell provides a comprehensive competency based model for professional resilience, examining four key constructs: stress, empathy, resilience, and self care from a range of theoretical dimensions. For those who work with vulnerable populations, the tendency to frame self care solely within organizational context overlooks the importance of self care in domains beyond the agency setting. Alternatively, he uses a framework grounded in the ecological systems perspective, conceptualizing self care as a broader set of practice behaviors pertaining to the whole person, including the physical, interpersonal, organizational, familial, and spiritual domains of the psychosocial self. Alongside professional self care practices at the organizational level, Newell makes a case for the pragmatic role of recreational activities, time with family and friends, physical health, spirituality, and mindfulness. The application of a comprehensive approach to self care practice has potential to empower practitioners to remain resilient and committed to the values, mission, and spirit of the social work profession in the face of trauma.

Learning for the Long Run Holly Burkett, 2016-11-22

Make your learning organization truly indispensable. If you're planting the seeds of improved organizational and individual effectiveness, you are a true learning leader. You know better than anyone that learning is an evolution, not a singular event. But what if your organization isn't on the same page? Or worse, what if you find that your efforts are the first to go when there's a change in the C-suite or when budget cuts loom? Learning for the Long Run tackles sustainability concerns head on. Discover seven proven practices businesses use to ensure continuity in learning and development. Original case studies from the public and private sector put these practices into action, while self assessments and job aids show you how to attain a sustainable mindset. Explore how FlightSafety International leveraged its measurement capabilities to drive results and improve its avionics safety system. How the U.S. Army Warrant Officer Career College built and bent its change capabilities to prepare the next generation of Army officers amid labor shortages and complex global threats. How the Tennessee Department of Human Resources led an award winning shift to transform a tenure based environment into a performance driven learning culture And more In Learning for the Long Run innovative change leader Holly Burkett demystifies how to earn credibility and grow the learning function into a mature enterprise that will weather today s frequent business disruptions Now s the time to build lasting organizational value and resist the temptation of the quick fix Maurice Blanchot Carolyn Bailey Gill,2005-08-04 This timely collection of essays is the first to be written on the work of Maurice Blanchot in English One of the finest writers of our time Blanchot is a contemporary of Bataille and Levinas his writing has influenced the likes of Derrida and Foucault Eminent commentators featured here include Simon Critchley Paul Davies Cristopher Fynsk Rodolphe Gasche Leslie Hill Michael Holland Jeffery Mehlman Roger Laporte Ian Maclachlan Marie Claire Ropars Wulfeumier Gillian Rose and Ann Smock The essays consider the political implications of Blanchot s questioning the relationship between philosophy and literature In addition the provocative issue of Blanchot s politics during the 1930s is clarified by a letter from Blanchot to one of the contributors published here for the first time Maurice Blanchot The Demand of Writing is a crucial selection for all students of philosophy literature or French studies The Death Penalty, Volume I Jacques Derrida,2013-12-04 In this newest installment in Chicago s series of Jacques Derrida s seminars the renowned philosopher attempts one of his most ambitious goals the first truly philosophical argument against the death penalty While much has been written against the death penalty Derrida contends that Western philosophy is massively if not always overtly complicit with a logic in which a sovereign state has the right to take a life Haunted by this notion he turns to the key places where such logic has been established and to the place it has been most effectively challenged literature With his signature genius and patient yet dazzling readings of an impressive breadth of texts Derrida examines everything from the Bible to Plato to Camus to Jean Genet with special attention to Kant and post World War II juridical texts to draw the landscape of death penalty discourses Keeping clearly in view the death rows and execution chambers of the United States he shows how arguments surrounding cruel and unusual punishment depend on what he calls an anesthesial logic which has also driven the development of death penalty technology from the French guillotine to lethal injection Confronting a demand for philosophical rigor he pursues provocative analyses of the shortcomings of abolitionist discourse Above all he argues that the death penalty and its attendant technologies are products of a desire to put an end to one of the most fundamental qualities of our finite existence the radical uncertainty of when we will die Arriving at a critical juncture in history especially in the United States one of the last Christian inspired democracies to resist abolition The Death Penalty is both a timely response to an important ethical debate and a timeless addition to Derrida s esteemed body of work

Freedom of Expression Ioanna Tourkochorití, 2021-11-11 Two legal systems founded on similar Enlightenment philosophical and political values use state coercion differently to regulate a liberty at the core of the Enlightenment freedom of expression This comparative study of France and the United States proposes a novel theory of how the limits of freedom of expression are informed by different revolutionary experiences and constitutional and political arrangements Ioanna Tourkochorití argues that the different ways freedom of expression is balanced against other values in France and the United States can be understood in reference to the role of the government and the understanding of republicanism and liberty This understanding affects how jurists define the content and the limits of a liberty and strike a balance between liberties in conflict Exploring both the legal traditions of the two countries this study sheds new light on the broader historical social and philosophical contexts in which jurists operate

Scripting Revolution Keith Michael Baker, Dan Edelstein, 2015-10-07 The Arab Spring was heralded and publicly embraced by foreign leaders of many countries that define themselves by their own historic revolutions The contributors to this volume examine the legitimacy of these comparisons by exploring whether or not all modern revolutions follow a pattern or script Traditionally historians have studied revolutions as distinct and separate events Drawing on close familiarity with many different cultures languages and historical transitions this anthology presents the first cohesive historical approach to the comparative study of revolutions This volume argues that the American and French Revolutions provided the genesis of the revolutionary script that was rewritten by Marx which was revised by Lenin and the Bolshevik Revolution which was revised again by Mao and the Chinese Communist Revolution Later revolutions in Cuba and Iran improvised further This script is once again on display in the capitals of the Middle East and North Africa and it will serve as the model for future revolutionary movements

Speaking of Freedom Diane Enns, 2007 Speaking of Freedom analyzes the development of ideas concerning freedom and politics in contemporary French thought from existentialism to deconstruction in relation to several of the most prominent post World War II revolutionary struggles and the liberation discourses they inspired
