Ubiquitous Computing Complexity And Culture:

Ubiquitous Computing, Complexity and Culture Ulrik Ekman, Jay David Bolter, Lily Diaz, Morten Sondergaard, Maria Engberg, 2015-12-22 The ubiquitous nature of mobile and pervasive computing has begun to reshape and complicate our notions of space time and identity In this collection over thirty internationally recognized contributors reflect on ubiquitous computing's implications for the ways in which we interact with our environments experience time and develop identities individually and socially Interviews with working media artists lend further perspectives on these cultural transformations Drawing on cultural theory new media art studies human computer interaction theory and software studies this cutting edge book critically unpacks the complex ubiquity effects confronting us every day The companion website can be found here <http://ubiquity.dk>

The Routledge Companion to Media and Tourism Maria Månsson, Annæ Buchmann, Cecilia Cassinger, Lena Eskilsson, 2020-07-07 The Routledge Companion to Media and Tourism provides a comprehensive overview of the research into the convergence of media and tourism and specifically investigates the concept of mediatized tourism This Companion offers a holistic look at the relationship between media and tourism by drawing from a global range of contributions by scholars from disciplines across the humanities and social sciences The book is divided into five parts covering diverse aspects of mediatization of tourism including place and space representation cultural production and transmedia It features a comprehensive theoretical introduction and an afterword by leading scholars in this emerging field delving into the ways in which different forms of media content and consumption converge and the consequential effects on tourism and tourists The collection is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of tourism studies cultural studies and media and communication as well as those with a particular interest in mediatization convergence culture and contemporary culture

Compact Cinematics Pepita Hesselberth, Maria Poulaki, 2017-01-26 Compact Cinematics challenges the dominant understanding of cinema to focus on the various compact short miniature pocket sized forms of cinematics that have existed from even before its standardization in theatrical form and in recent years have multiplied and proliferated taking up an increasingly important part of our everyday multimedia environment Short films or micro narratives cinematic pieces or units re assembled into image archives and looping themes challenge the concepts that have traditionally been used to understand cinematic experience like linear causality sequentiality and closure and call attention to complex and modular forms of cinematic expression and perception Such forms in turn seem to meet the requirements of digital convergence which has pushed the development of more compact and mobile hardware for the display and use of audiovisual content on laptops smartphones and tablets Meanwhile contemporary economies of digital content acquisition filing and sharing equally require the shrinking of cinematic content for it to be recorded played projected distributed and installed with ease and speed In this process cinematic experience is shortened and condensed as well so as to fit the late capitalist attention economy The essays in this volume ask what this changed technical socio economic and political situation entails for the aesthetics and experience of contemporary cinematics and call attention to different concepts theories and tools at our disposal to analyze these changes

Critique of Digitality Jan Distelmeyer, 2022-10-12 Dealing with digitality is one of the most urgent challenges of the present The increasing importance and spread of computer technology not only challenges societies and individuals this development also puts pressure on the concept of digitality which tries to grasp the totality and peculiarity of the conditions and consequences of electronic digital computing in all its forms However precisely because digitality is commonplace so should be its critique its analysis and assessment How can an analysis do justice to both fundamental characteristics and changing concrete forms infrastructures and practices How do the developments of a digitalization that programmatically encompasses forms of networking embedding and autonomization shape media cultures and societies How do artificial intelligence and algorithmic government relate to each other how does the immateriality of the digital fit with the materiality of computers How does the changing status and scope of this technology mediate itself This book introduces ongoing debates and develops its own approach to the critique of digitality asking about forms of interfaces and processes of governance This book is a translation of the original German 1st edition Kritik der Digitalit t by Jan Distelmeyer published by Springer Fachmedien Wiesbaden GmbH part of Springer Nature in 2021 The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL com A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation Springer Nature works continuously to further the development of tools for the production of books and on the related technologies to support the authors

Arts Methods for the Self-Representation of Undergraduate Students Miranda Matthews, 2023-04-07 This timely book explores the transitional experiences of undergraduates in minority groups studying at university and how arts methods and practices can play an important role in facilitating these transitions Based on research from UK universities this volume is the first to draw together the experiences of educators in the humanities and social sciences who integrate sensory methodologies in taught curriculum in relation to arts educators who add extra curricular arts practice It offers an original contextualised analysis of how to enable university structures to adapt to complexity difference and diversity taking the view that arts practice forms meeting points for confident interconnection and spaces of self representation It outlines the novel concept of sensory transition in how arts practices can be used to address issues of inclusion diversity and self representation for minority groups Each chapter offers an in depth analysis of significant issues such as dimensions of race gender and class and the specificities of social and cultural group experiences as they occur in arts practice The book reflects on the decolonisation of university structures and curriculum and demonstrates how universities can support students and build spaces for self representation in academic courses Accessible and investigative this book is essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students in the field of higher education inclusion and arts methods It will also be of great interest to higher education staff interested in decolonisation diversity and university futures

Composing Place Jacob

Greene,2023-04-01 Composing Place takes an innovative approach to engaging with the compositional affordances of mobile technologies Mobile wearable and spatial computing technologies are more than the latest marketing gimmick from a perpetually proximate future they are rather an emerging composing platform through which digital writers will increasingly create and distribute place based multimodal texts Jacob Greene utilizes and develops a rhetorical framework through which writers can leverage the affordances of these technologies by drawing on theoretical approaches within rhetorical studies multimodal composition and spatial theory as well as emerging maker practices within digital humanities and critical media studies to show how emerging mobile technologies are poised to transform theories practices and pedagogies of digital writing Greene identifies three emerging modalities through which mobile technologies are being used by digital writers First to counter dominant discourses in contested spaces second to historicize entrenched narratives in iconic spaces and third to amplify marginalized voices in mundane spaces Through these modalities Greene employs Indigenous philosophies and theories that upend the ways that the discipline has centered place based rhetorics offering digital writers better strategies for using mobile media as a platform for civic deliberation social advocacy and political action Composing Place offers close analyses of mobile media experiences created by various artists and digital media practitioners as well as detailed overviews of Greene's own projects also accessible through the companion website www.composingplace.com These projects include a digital countertour of SeaWorld that demonstrates the ways in which the attraction is driven by capitalism an augmented reality tour of Detroit's Woodward Avenue and a mobile advocacy project in Jacksonville Florida that demonstrates the inequitable effects of car centric public infrastructure Ultimately by engaging with these theoretical frameworks rhetorical design principles and pedagogical practices of mobile writing readers can utilize the unique affordances of mobile media in various teaching and research contexts
