Human Development in the Life Course Tania Zittoun, Jaan Valsiner, Dankert Vedeler, João Salgado, Miguel M. Gonçalves, Dieter Ferring, 2013-11-14 Drawing on philosophy the history of psychology and the natural sciences this book proposes a new theoretical foundation for the psychology of the life course It features the study of unique individual life courses in their social and cultural environment combining the perspectives of developmental and sociocultural psychology psychotherapy learning sciences and gerontology psychology In particular the book highlights semiotic processes specific to human development that allow us to draw upon past experiences to choose among alternatives and to plan our futures Imagination is an important outcome of semiotic processes and enables us to deal with daily constraints and transitions and promotes the transformation of social representation and symbolic systems giving each person a unique style or melody of living The book concludes by questioning the methodology and epistemology of current life course studies

Social Interactions in Multicultural Settings, 2019-02-11 Multicultural issues are part of the agenda for researchers academics and politicians The new technologies have brought multiculturalism into our professional and personal lives opening new possibilities for social interactions among people from different countries cultures ages and gender Being able to deal with diversity including other cultures is a must in the 21st century This book is an opportunity to read narratives about social interactions in multicultural settings and to discuss the role they play in the construction of school and social achievement It is not only a book on multiculturalism It is also a multicultural book including an introduction and 13 chapters from authors representing 11 countries and many more cultures It is a journey that brings you through different settings situations and scenarios describing them vividly so that the reader can have an authentic taste of them This is a book that researchers academics teachers policy makers and politicians should read It illuminates many of the problems related to multiculturalism But it also reports on educational experiences and forms of interacting that help solving these problems It also illustrates the barriers that still exist and that keep many persons apart from equity Moreover due to its narrative mood the descriptions of what happens in different educational systems and episodes that could happen to us all including our kids this is a book for parents youngsters and all the ones interested in knowing other cultures After all education is an issue that is related to each human being We are all cultural individuals who need to interact with each other Thus this is a book to learn how social interactions in such a demanding multicultural world can help us live in peace and understand each other

The Oxford Handbook of Culture and Psychology Jaan Valsiner, 2013-12-15 Now in paperback The Oxford Handbook of Culture and Psychology is an internationally representative overview of the state of the art in cultural psychology

The Cambridge Handbook of Sociocultural Psychology Jaan Valsiner, Alberto Rosa, 2007-06-04 This book first published in 2007 is an international overview of the state of our knowledge in sociocultural psychology as a discipline located at the crossroads between the natural and social sciences and the humanities Since the 1980s the field of psychology has encountered the growth of a new discipline cultural psychology that has built new connections between psychology sociology anthropology history and semiotics The handbook integrates contributions of sociocultural specialists from fifteen countries all tied together by the unifying focus on the role of sign systems in human relations with the environment It emphasizes theoretical and methodological discussions on the cultural nature of human psychological phenomena moving on to show how meaning is a natural feature of action and how it eventually produces conventional symbols for communication Such symbols shape individual experiences and create the conditions for consciousness and the self to emerge turn social norms into ethics and set history into motion

Becoming Other Alex Gillespie, 2006-12-01 The research reported in this book is unapologetically Meadian While the work of George Herbert Mead has been of widespread significance and his name is often cited there are in fact few empirical studies that have sought to rigorously instantiate his ideas This is in part because his theory is abstruse and in part because there have been so many divergent interpretations of his theory The point of departure for the present research is a novel interpretation of Mead Mead's core problematic I argue is how to explain self reflection and his answer to this is the theory of the social act The present research is an attempt to instantiate this reading This book puts to rest any glorification of postmodernist belief in the local nature of knowledge and context specificity of human cultural acts as a part of the image of fragmented human lives Human beings are differentiated and hierarchically integrated wholes who regulate their own organization by cultural means This conceptual deathblow to postmodernist ideologies is done here without denying the reality of context specificity In fact all the evidence in this book shows that each and every moment in the touring act is context bound and hence unique Yet there is generality operating upon and creating that uniqueness The author's careful development of theoretical insights George Herbert Mead reached in his self dialogues almost a century ago is a new step in the development of cultural psychology as a Wissenschaft aiming at making sense of the human conditions in its generic ways This itself is an exploring act one that the social sciences need very much at our present time of abundance of fragmented bits and pieces of information about the others that lead us to search for our own unified selves through invention of new ways for touring

The Subjectified and Subjectifying Mind Min Han, Carla Cunha, 2017-01-01 Putting subjectivity back in psychology and in social sciences is the aim of this volume Subjectivity is a core psychological dimension but frequently forgotten Without a full understanding of the uniqueness of each human life our understanding of psychological life fails to reach its aim This book explores precisely the field of subjectivity offering the reader different and innovative views on this challenging theme This book is an asset for all those interested in understanding how the mind operates as a subjectifying process and how this subjectifying mind is simultaneously the product and the content of feeling an unique and unrepeatable subjective life By bringing together renowned and emergent experts in the field it provides a fresh new look on the human mind The reader will find thought provoking and challenging contributions of 26 different scholars from 10 countries It covers a wide range of perspectives and approaches such as dialogical perspectives cultural psychology approaches developmental psychology feminist perspectives semiotics and anthropology This volume will be very much recommended for all sorts of scholars and students in social and human sciences interested in the human mind and in subjectivity It will be adequate for different levels of teaching from undergraduate to master courses It also meant to be understood for all readers interested in the topic

Religious Voices in Self-Narratives Marjo Buitelaar, Hetty Zock, 2013-07-31 In present day pluralistic and individualized societies the question of how individuals appropriate religious traditions has become particularly relevant In this volume psychologists anthropologists and historians examine the presence of religious voices in narrative constructions of the self The focus is on the multiple ways religious stories and practices feature in self narratives about major life transitions The contributions explore the ways in which such voices inform the accommodation and interpretation of these transitions In addition to being inspired by Dan McAdams approach to life stories as personal myths that inform us about the quests of individuals for a satisfactory balance between agency and communion most of the contributors have found the theory of the dialogical self developed by Hubert Hermans particularly useful Thus the contributions explore the ways in which identity formation is shaped by internal dialogues between personal and collective voices in the context of the specific constellations of power in which these voices are embedded The volume is divided into three parts addressing theoretical and methodological considerations religious resources in narratives on life transitions and religious positioning in diaspora

Otherness in Question Livia Mathias Simão, Jaan Valsiner, 2007-01-01

This book brings to social scientists a new look at how human beings are striving towards understanding others and through that effort making sense of themselves It brings together researchers from all over the World who have suggested a set of new approaches to the basic research issue of how human beings are social beings while being unique in their personal ways of being Issues of social representation communication dialogical self and human subjectivity are represented in this book The book contributes to the contemporary epistemological and ethical debate about the question of otherness and would be of interest to educationalists sociologists psychologists and anthropologists It is an invitation to the wide readership to join in this collective effort towards the construction of new conceptions about myself others relationships that allow for innovative understanding of various social practices and problem solving in society
