EXT. RAIN FOREST, OLIMPIC NATIONAL PARK, WASHINGTON - DARK
Moss-draped. Shadow-scented. Textured tree trunks twist upward, reaching for rare sunlight.

BELLA (V.O.)
I'd never given much thought to how
I would die...

Suddenly, every creature in the forest is deadlier silent. Neither bird, beast nor insect make a noise. A predator is near.

Then, in the distance, hear a tiny SNICK - a twig snapping. Abruptly, we're on the move. Fast.

CUTTOFF POV - MOVING

Trees start whipping past us at a dizzying speed, branches are dodged with preternatural agility. And we're speeding up, chasing something. It's exhilarating. Terrifying. Finally, up ahead, we get the first glimpses of our prey --

A DEER

-- running for its life as it darts through this maze of a forest. It sprouts forward, but we gain on it. Beyond the deer, SEE the forest's edge ahead, white sunlight glowing against the trees. The buck races for the light. We're just behind it, about to emerge from the shadowy darkness --

The deer LEAPS into the light in a high arc, hovering (possibly SLOW MOTION) against the WHITE GLASS of the sun... then BANG

The deer abruptly plummets out of frame at an unnatural angle, leaving the WHITE GLASS to fill the screen. HOLD ON WHITENESS

BELLA (V.O.)
But dying in the place of someone I love seems like a good way to go...

-- Then into the WHITENESS steps the face of --

DIANE LANE, 17

Eyes closed against the sunlight, absorbing its rays. Long, dark hair frames alabaster skin. She's a vulnerable, introverted, imperfect beauty.

BELLA (V.O.)
... So I can't bring myself to regret the decision that brought me here to die...

The background comes into focus as we realize we're NOW IN --

2.

EXT. SCOTTSDALE, AZ - DAY

Bella stands at the end of a cul-de-sac on the desert's edge. The sun blazes behind her -- she bends down and carefully scoops a tiny BARREL CACTUS into a clay pot.

BELLA (V.O.)
... The decision to leave home.

She stares at the cactus in a state of reverie, until --

BLONDE #1 (O.S.)
Bye, Bella!

BELLA'S POV - McMansion ACROSS THE STREET

Three tanned, athletic, blonde GIRLS hop into a convertible Mercedes. Their flawless, bought-and-paid-for beauty contrasts with Bella's pale naturalness. They wave.

BLONDE #1
Good luck at your new school!

They ADLIB superficial good wishes, "Don't forget to write!" "We'll miss you." Bella waves back, sweetly, but halfheartedly as she steps off the curb --

BELLA
Have a good...

-- and trips. When she rights herself, they're already gone.

... life.

Clearly, not close friends. Bella's grown-up demeanor and innate intelligence become apparent as --

BELLA'S MOTHER, RENE, mid 30's -- exits their house -- it's low rent for this ritzy neighborhood. Rene is eclectic, scattered, anxious, more best friend than parent. She thrusts a cell phone at Bella.

RENE
It won't work again, baby.

BELLA
You put it on hold.

RENE
I did?

BELLA
Look. You also called Mexico.

Rene pushes her playfully, they laugh.

Polasek,2020-01-15 The most comprehensive reference text of theoretical and historical discourse on the biopic film The biopic often viewed as the most reviled of all film genres traces its origins to the early silent era over a century ago. Receiving little critical attention, biopics are regularly dismissed as superficial formulaic and disrespectful of history. Film critics, literary scholars, and historians tend to believe that biopics should be artistic yet accurate true to life representations of their subjects. Moviegoing audiences, however, do not seem to hold similar views; biopics continue to be popular commercially viable films. Even the genre's most ardent detractors will admit that these films are often very watchable, particularly due to the performance of the lead actor. It is increasingly common for stars of biographical films to garner critical praise and awards, driving a growing interest in scholarship in the genre. A Companion to the Biopic is the first global and authoritative reference on the subject. Offering theoretical, historical, thematic, and performance-based approaches, this unique volume brings together the work of top scholars to discuss the coverage of the lives of authors, politicians, royalty, criminals, and pop stars through the biopic film. Chapters explore evolving attitudes and divergent perspectives on the genre with topics such as the connections between biopics and literary melodramas, the influence financial concerns have on aesthetic, social, or moral principles, the merger of historical narratives with Hollywood biographies, stereotypes, and criticisms of the biopic genre, and more. This volume provides a systematic in-depth analysis of the biopic and considers how the choice of historical subject reflects contemporary issues. Places emphasis on films that portray race and gender issues. Explores the uneven boundaries of the genre by addressing what is and is not a biopic as well as the ways in which films simultaneously embrace and defy historical authenticity. Examines the distinction between reality and the real in biographical films. Offers a chronological survey of biopics from the beginning of the 20th century. A Companion to the Biopic is a valuable resource for researchers, scholars, and students of history, film studies, and English literature, as well as those in disciplines that examine interpretations of historical figures.

Else Lasker-Schuler Betty Falkenberg, 2003-07-25 Else Lasker-Schuler a pivotal figure in German Expressionism presided over avant-garde café life in pre-World War I Berlin in much the same way Gertrude Stein did in Paris around the same time. While her work is not yet very well known in the English-speaking world, it has been enjoying a critical and popular revival in Germany. This full-length biography of Lasker-Schuler, the first in English, explores her poems, plays, prose, and graphic works in light of her life. It begins with her fleeing to Switzerland after Hitler's accession to power in 1933, looks back at her childhood in Wuppertal, then follows her life through to its end in Jerusalem in January 1945. As a Jew, a woman, and a bohemian, Lasker-Schuler defied every category. Her two marriages, first to Dr. Berthold Lasker, then to Herwarth Walden, founder of the leading avant-garde periodical, gallery, and publishing house Der Sturm (The Storm), as well as her interactions with Karl Kraus, Franz Marc, Gottfried Benn, Martin Buber, and Gershom Scholem are documented in letters and poems, many included here both in the original and in translation.

Richard Matheson on Screen Matthew R. Bradley, 2010-10-04 Though innumerable biographies have been written about novelists playwrights and poets screenwriters are rarely granted this distinction even ones as prolific and successful as Richard Matheson Beginning with The Incredible Shrinking Man in 1957 Matheson has occupied a unique position in writing for television and cinema for more than fifty years This biography documents his rise to prominence his literary influences and the role he played in the horror and science fiction renaissance The narrative examines each of Matheson's works in chronological order with an index indicating where each can be found from his early work in the 1950s through I Am Legend in 2007

The Literary History of Saskatchewan David Carpenter, Kelly-Anne Riess, 2018-10-01 Volume 3 shifts its focus to Regina's literary culture and to the coming generation of younger writers but it continues to examine the best work from Saskatchewan The impact the relevance the illuminations of our best writers work tend to move well beyond the borders of our province This work transcends the regional sources of its inspiration Just as Marilynne Robinson has much to say to Canadians about the disruptions and the graces of family life Dianne Warren has much to say to Americans about the omnipresence of the past the shadows it casts on people's lives in the present Many of our best books are nurtured by the history and the life of this province but they spring into literature roughly in proportion to their applications and their immemorial responses to the human condition
