Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico, Bunting, Ian, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Handbook of Research on Learning in the Age of Transhumanism Sisman-Ugur, Serap, Kurubacak, Gulsun, 2019-05-03 As a movement transhumanism aims to upgrade the human body through science constantly pushing back the limits of a person by using cutting edge technologies to fix the human body and upgrade it beyond its natural abilities Transhumanism can not only change human habits but it can also change learning practices By improving human learning it improves the human organism beyond natural and biological limits The Handbook of Research on Learning in the Age of Transhumanism is an essential research publication that discusses global values norms and ethics that relate to the diverse needs of learners in the digital world and addresses future priorities and needs for transhumanism The book will identify and scrutinize the needs of learners in the age of transhumanism and examine best practices for transhumanist leaders in learning. Featuring topics such as cybernetics, pedagogy, and sociology, this book is ideal for educators, trainers, instructional designers, curriculum developers, professionals, researchers, academicians, policymakers, and librarians. Strategies for Facilitating Inclusive Campuses in Higher Education Jaimie Hoffman, Patrick Blessinger, Mandla Makhanya, 2019-07-25. This volume provides educators with a global understanding of the successes and challenges associated with facilitating inclusive campuses in higher education amidst the growing diversity of students by providing evidence-based strategies and ideas for implementing equity and inclusion at higher education institutions around the world. Searching for Sharing Daniela Merolla, Mark Turin, 2017-05-15. In a world where new technologies are being developed at a dizzying pace, how can we best approach oral genres that represent heritage? Taking an innovative and interdisciplinary approach, this volume explores the idea of sharing as a model to construct and disseminate the knowledge of literary heritage with the people who are represented by and in it. Expert contributors interweave sociological analysis with an appraisal of the transformative impact of technology on literary and cultural production. Does technology restrict or constrain the experience of an oral performance, or does it afford new openings for different aesthetic experiences? Topics explored include the Mara Cultural Heritage Digital Library, the preservation of Ewe heritage material, new resources for texts in Mande languages, and the possibilities of technauriture. This timely and necessary collection also examines to what extent digital documents can be and have been institutionalised in archives and museums, how digital heritage can remain free from co-optation by hegemonic groups, and the roles that exist for community voices. A valuable contribution to a fast-developing field, this book is required reading for scholars and students in the fields of heritage, anthropology, linguistics, history, and the emerging disciplines of multi-media documentation and analysis, as well as those working in the field of literature, folklore, and African studies. It is also important reading for museum and archive curators. Revaluation and Preservation of Indigenous Knowledge Systems in Modern Society Masenya, Tlou Maggie, Bhuda, Monicca Thulisile, 2025-05-08. Indigenous Knowledge can be used to integrate education in today's society, honoring and respecting the diversity of knowledge sources and fostering an inclusive and fair learning environment. This increases cultural pride and consequently the drive to find creative solutions to local problems using resources and inventiveness that are available locally. Indigenous people have important knowledge about the ecosystem in the area and how best to manage its natural resources. A growing number of people outside of indigenous knowledge systems are interested in them as a result of the current global ecological catastrophe and the understanding that overuse of natural resources arises from unsuitable attitudes and technology. Indigenous Knowledge is the basis from which alternative ways of managing resources can be developed using indigenous technologies that are cost-effective and economically affordable. Revaluation and Preservation of Indigenous Knowledge Systems in Modern Society contributes to the role of indigenous knowledge in the contemporary society by focusing on the preservation, promotion, and dissemination.

Urban Mobilities in the Global South Tanu Priya Uteng, Karen Lucas, 2017-11-27 The book considers urban mobilities and immobilities in the Global South through an exploration of the theoretical and methodological entry points that can be used to further the agenda of transport planning Transport system improvements can and do have complex and unequal impacts on different sectors of society Conventional approaches to analysing travel demand and transport system performance developed in the Global North are typically ill equipped to identify and understand the complexities and inequities in urban areas of the Global South Using case studies from urban Africa and Asia the book addresses the need to understand the lived world of mobilities and use this knowledge to address issues that are central to our urban existence in the 21st century Higher education for public good Noluthando S. Matsiliza, 2023-03-01 This book focuses on the knowledge area of higher education governance organisational dynamics leadership and decolonisation We have observed that governance discourse has been excluded in debates that concern the public good The construct of public good seeks to support higher education that does not support a capitalist view of profit making arguably to respond to societal demands and needs such as developmental efforts through academic functions Higher Education focuses on interconnected multi disciplinary constructs intending to provide services for the public good The issue of public good is an interesting construct that puts universities on the spot since they are expected to be responsive to environmental changes and stakeholder needs through the functioning of accountable governance structures These governance structures are compelled to comply with policy demands within external and internal environmental factors This experience has exposed universities to systematic challenges that are local regional and global and which forces them to adapt while serving stakeholders and society This book will also interrogate the governance of South African public universities in the post decolonisation era and new demands from stakeholders
