Conversations with May Sarton May Sarton, 1991 With increasing candor and openness May Sarton's conversations have given an intimate view of her honest courageous inner life Best known to her many readers as a novelist and keeper of journals Sarton sees herself pre eminently as a poet In the interviews collected here she speaks forthrightly about herself her independence and her writing Although born in Belgium Sarton is quintessentially American in her choice of solitude on which her personal well being and writing depend She is a modernist who has defined herself as an artist with the occasionally painful recognition that all else must finally be subordinated to her writing Her journal After the Stroke makes clear that when she cannot write she stands on the edge of the abyss of nonbeing These interviews offer Sarton's readers the model of a woman who has supported herself as a writer of achievement who has made her way without the comforts of academic tenure grants or bestseller listings

The Hum of the World Lawrence Kramer, 2021-06-21 The Hum of the World is an invitation to contemplate what would happen if we heard the world as attentively as we see it Balancing big ideas playful wit and lyrical prose this imaginative volume identifies the role of sound in Western experience as the primary medium in which the presence and persistence of life acquires tangible form The positive experience of aliveness is not merely in accord with sound but inaccessible even inconceivable without it Lawrence Kramer's poetic book roves freely
