Winged Victory Altered Images Transcending Breast Cancer:

Winged Victory Art Myers, Maria Marrocchino, 2009 This is a book of elegant photographs by award winning photographer Art Myers of women following treatment for breast cancer Scars and missing breasts are openly revealed in an artistic way The pictures are accompanied by vignettes written by each woman relating a short story of her journey through the breast cancer experience Original poems by Maria Marrocchino are paired with some of the photos and the book has a poignant foreword by Dr David Spiegel author of Living Beyond Limits The photographs include women in the United States as well as in France and the narratives written by the French women are presented in both French and English Two women well known in the breast cancer support communities Dani Grady in the US and Annick Parent from France have written introductions

The Feisty Woman's Breast Cancer Book Elaine Ratner, 1999-08-23 Breaking down the taboos associated with breast cancer and its treatment Elaine Ratner shows that this illness does not have to be a nightmare and that most women who contract it can take charge of their experience and come out whole She begins her book with a list of 18 insights learned from her experience with breast cancer including Surround yourself with people who make you feel good The human body is a miraculous healing machine Nobody really knows much about breast cancer A breast is completely expendable In addition to offering down to earth advice Ratner discusses the paternalistic attitudes of the medical establishment toward women the exaggeration of breast cancer statistics and the way our culture shapes women's attitudes toward their bodies

Mammographies Mary K. DeShazer, 2018-05-09 Uncovers the lived experience of breast cancer through autobiographical and photographic narratives

Pink Ribbon Blues Gayle A. Sulik, 2012-10-18 Explores the hidden costs of the pink ribbon as an industry and analyzes the social impact on women living with breast cancer the stereotypes and the stigmas

The Invading Body Einat Avrahami, 2007 Widely debated in feminist poststructuralist and literary theory is the relationship between subjectivity and the body Yet autobiographical criticism an obvious place for testing this conceptual relationship has lagged behind contemporary queries about the embodied self In The Invading Body Einat Avrahami corrects this deficiency by analyzing the genre of terminal illness autobiographies These personal narratives challenge the world of self writing in their power to question the assumption that autobiography and the body are products of cultural constructs and discursive practices Their self disclosures of symptoms disabilities and the physical and psychological pains of treatment especially when combined with thoughts of further deterioration and imminent death defy the theoretical formulations of identity and alter the definition of autobiography itself Avrahami investigates an array of autobiographical testimonies of terminal illness ranging from Harold Brodkey's poignant account of his struggle with AIDS to Hannah Wilke's and Jo Spence's gripping self portraits of cancer By challenging the artificial and contrived skepticism that critics and theorists bring to their concepts of the self the author argues these illness narratives constitute an invasion of the real confronting the notions of self representation and self invention on which current autobiographical studies are based The author's examinations of these moving memoirs and photographs will engage not only the growing field of disability studies but also a more general readership interested in the transition that occurs when one's body suddenly falls out of step with one's mind

Handbook of Asian American Health Grace J. Yoo, Mai-Nhung Le, Alan Y. Oda, 2012-10-12 Asian Americans encounter a range of health issues often unknown to the American public policy makers researchers and even clinicians National research often combines Asian Americans into a single category not taking into account the differences and complexity among Asian ethnic subgroups The definition of Asian American derives from the U S Census Bureau's definition of Asian which includes peoples from all the vast territories of the Far East Southeast Asia and the South Asian Subcontinent While Census classifications determine demographic measurements that affect equal opportunity programs the broad rubric Asian American can never describe accurately the more than 50 distinct Asian American subgroups who together comprise multifaceted diversity across cultural ethnicities socio economic status languages religions and generations This volume rectifies that situation by exploring the unique needs and health concerns of particular subgroups within the Asian American community It consolidates a wide range of knowledge on various health issues impacting Asian Americans while also providing a discussion into the cultural social and structural forces impacting morbidity mortality and quality of life The volume is designed to advance the understanding of Asian American health by explaining key challenges and identifying emerging trends faced in specific ethnic groups and diseases illnesses innovative community based interventions and the future needed areas of research

Visual, Narrative and Creative Research Methods Dawn Mannay, 2015-10-23 Visual research methods are quickly becoming key topics of interest and are now widely recognised as having the potential to evoke emphatic understanding of the ways in which other people experience their worlds Visual Narrative and Creative Research Methods examines the practices and value of these visual approaches as a qualitative tool in the field of social science and related disciplines This book is concerned with the process of applying visual methods as a tool of inquiry from design to production to analysis and dissemination Drawing on research projects which reflect real world situations you will be methodically guided through the research process in detail enabling you to examine and understand the practices and value of visual narrative and creative approaches as effective qualitative tools Key topics include techniques of data production including collage mapping drawing and photographs the practicalities of application the positioning of the researcher interpretation of visual data images and narratives in public spaces evaluative analysis of creative approaches Visual Narrative and Creative Research Methods will be an invaluable companion for researchers postgraduate students and other academics with an interest in visual and creative methods and qualitative research
