Walking the Llano Shelley Armitage, 2016-02-15 When American explorers crossed the Texas Panhandle they dubbed it part of the Great American Desert A sea of grass the llano appeared empty flat and barely habitable Contemporary developments cell phone towers oil rigs and wind turbines have only added to this stereotype Yet in this lyrical ecomemoir Shelley Armitage charts a unique rediscovery of the largely unknown land a journey at once deeply personal and far reaching in its exploration of the connections between memory spirit and place Armitage begins her narrative with the intention to walk the llano from her family farm thirty meandering miles along the Middle Alamosa Creek to the Canadian River Along the way she seeks the connection between her father and one of the area's first settlers Ysabel Gurule who built his dugout on the banks of the Canadian Armitage who grew up nearby in the small town of Vega finds this act of walking inseparable from the act of listening and writing What does the land say to us she asks as she witnesses human alterations to the landscape perhaps most catastrophic the continued drainage of the land's most precious resource the Ogallala Aquifer Yet the llano's wonders persist dynamic mesas and canyons vast flora and fauna diverse wildlife rich histories Armitage recovers the voices of ancient Native and Hispano peoples their stories interwoven with her own her father's legacy her mother's decline a brother's love The llano holds not only the beauty of ecological surprises but a renewed realization of kinship in a world ever changing Reminiscent of the work of Terry Tempest Williams and John McPhee Walking the Llano is both a celebration of an oft overlooked region and a soaring testimony to the power of the landscape to draw us into greater understanding of ourselves and others by experiencing a deeper connection with the places we inhabit

Getting to Grey Owl Kurt Caswell, 2015-06-22 Writer teacher and adventurer Kurt Caswell has spent his adult life canoeing hiking and pedaling his way toward a deeper understanding of our vast and varied world Getting to Grey Owl A

Man's Journey across Four Continents chronicles over twenty years of Caswell's travels as he buys a rug in Morocco rides a riverboat in China attends a bullfight in Spain climbs four mountains in the United Kingdom and backpacks a challenging route through Iceland's wild Hornstrandir Peninsula Writing in the tradition of such visionary nomads as Hermann Hesse Robert Louis Stevenson Bruce Chatwin Paul Theroux Pico Iyer Samuel Taylor Coleridge and William Wordsworth Caswell travels through wild and urban landscapes as well as philosophical and ideological vistas championing the pleasures of a wandering life Far from the trappings of the everyday he explores a range of ideas the meaning of roads and pathways the story of Cain and Abel nomadic life and the evolution of the human animal the role of agriculture in the making of the modern world and the fragility of love

Laika's Window Kurt Caswell, 2018-09-18 Laika began her life as a stray dog on the streets of Moscow and died in 1957 aboard the Soviet satellite Sputnik II Initially the USSR reported that Laika the first animal to orbit the earth had survived in space for seven days providing valuable data that would make future manned space flight possible People believed that Laika died a painless death as her oxygen ran out Only in recent decades has the real story become public Laika died after only a few hours in orbit when her capsule overheated Laika's Window positions Laika as a long overdue hero for leading the way to human space exploration Kurt Caswell examines Laika's life and death and the speculation surrounding both Profiling the scientists behind Sputnik II he studies the political climate driven by the Cold War and the Space Race that expedited the satellite's development Through this intimate portrait of Laika we begin to understand what the dog experienced in the days and hours before the launch what she likely experienced during her last moments and what her flight means to history and to humanity While a few of the other space dog flights rival Laika's in endurance and technological advancements Caswell argues that Laika's flight serves as a tipping point in space exploration beyond which the dream of exploring nearby and distant planets opened into a kind of fever from which humanity has never recovered Examining the depth of human empathy what we are willing to risk and sacrifice in the name of scientific achievement and our exploration of the cosmos and how politics and marketing can influence it Laika's Window is also about our search to overcome loneliness and the role animals play in our drive to look far beyond the earth for answers The Publishers Weekly, 2009

A Sense of Place: Regional American Literature, The Age of Capitalism, Consumer Culture, and the Collapse of Nature in the Anthropocene Jack Thornburg, 2024-10-02 The Age of Capitalism Consumer Culture and the Collapse of Nature in the Anthropocene argues that the stability of post industrial postmodern society is threatened by the convergence of three distinct yet interrelated crises environmental degradation capitalist economic development and the primacy of consumption and self absorption as the basis for economic development at the expense of community and social relationships Jack Thornburg contrasts advanced modern society with indigenous cultures in terms of nature and conceptions of the communal self The complex nature of capitalist oriented society has influenced how individuals conceptualize themselves The outcome the author contends is a competitive society in which individuals are alienated living in uncertain times One consequence of these crises all of which derive from the Enlightenment and the concomitant appearance and evolution of capitalism has been the destruction of a worldview balancing and connecting well being with prosperity of the natural world Money and materialism cannot buy happiness as capitalist narrative asserts Thornburg claims that the happiness sought by individuals seeking meaning through consumption can only be realized by reintegrating nature with the human spirit

Encountering Earth Trevor George Hunsberger Bechtel, Matt Eaton, Tim Harvie, 2018-05-14 One day Matthew Eaton was walking through an impromptu animal shelter display at his local pet store when suddenly an eight month old kitten dug his claws into Eaton's flesh Eaton recognized that the eyes of this cat and the curve of his claw compelled a response analogous to those found in the writings of Buber Levinas and Derrida And not just Eaton but a whole community of theologians have found themselves in an encounter with particular places and animals that demands rich theological reflection Eaton enlisted fellow editors Harvie and Bechtel to collect the essays in this volume in which theologians listen to horses rats snakes cats dogs and the earth itself who become new theological voices demanding a response In this volume the voice of the more than human world is heard as making theology possible These essays suggest that what we say theologically represents not simply ideas of our own making subsequently superimposed onto the natural world through our own discovery but rather flow from an expressive Earth With additional contributions from Kimberly Carfore Lisa E Dahill Celia Deane Drummond Heather Eaton Nathan Kowalsky Abigail Lofte Jame Schaefer Cristina D Vanin Mark Wallace Grace Y Kao Chris Carter John Berkman Laura Hobgood

Beloved Community Hinlicky, Paul R., 2015-05-04 An original comprehensive system of theology especially apropos to the post Christendom North American context In this scholarly work Paul Hinlicky transcends the impasse between dogmatic and systematic theology by articulating and arguing a single cognitive claim God is the One who has determined to redeem the creation by the missions of his Son and Spirit Deploying an unusual Spirit Son Father trinitarian scheme Hinlicky treats the problem of the knowledge of God and the nature of the theological discipline and he proceeds to carefully develop his system of theology through expansive wideranging argumentation Each main part of his work includes discussion of the ecumenical convergences in doctrine gained over the last generation and exploration of interreligious dialogues especially with Judaism and Islam Throughout the book Hinlicky engages with other theologians particularly with Robert Jenson's Systematic Theology and concludes each major section with a discussion of an alternate perspective on the subject
