The SAGE Handbook of Advertising Gerard J Tellis, Tim Ambler, 2007-10-24 In this era of snackable content which satisfies only in the moment it s great to have a comprehensive Advertising Handbook which one can consult repeatedly The references are comprehensive and the Handbook opens up many key areas for practitioners Hamish Pringle Director General IPA Finally a Handbook of Advertising that brings the field up to date I am impressed with its comprehensive coverage of topics and the distinguished specialists who have shared their key findings with us Philip Kotler Kellogg School of Management When trying to make sense of the mystifying world of advertising academics and practitioners often seem to inhabit separate universes Not in this

Handbook For once the best brains from each side genuinely collude with constructive results Wise agencies will read it before their clients do Sir Martin Sorrell CEO WPP This mighty tome brings together a vast range of views of advertising based on deep experience and scholarship For practitioners and academics alike it will be a voyage of discovery and enlightenment Lord Maurice Saatchi Chairman M C Saatchi This magnificent volume captures all we need to know about how advertising works and its context Baroness Peta Buscombe Director General Advertising Association London Advertising is a field that has attracted a great deal of academic attention but to date there has been no summarising of the state of the art of research This far reaching and scholarly Handbook is edited by two highly respected and trusted thinkers in the field and includes contributions from leading academics based in both the UK and the USA Tim Ambler and Gerald J Tellis archive their aim of setting advertising and the theory that underpins it in its historical and societal context show casing the most significant advertising research questions of our time and pointing readers in the direction of future avenues for fruitful investigation The SAGE Handbook of Advertising would be a welcome addition to any marketing academics bookshelf

Recommender Systems Handbook Francesco Ricci, Lior Rokach, Bracha Shapira, 2015-11-17 This second edition of a well received text with 20 new chapters presents a coherent and unified repository of recommender systems major concepts theories methodologies trends and challenges A variety of real world applications and detailed case studies are included In addition to wholesale revision of the existing chapters this edition includes new topics including decision making and recommender systems reciprocal recommender systems recommender systems in social networks mobile recommender systems explanations for recommender systems music recommender systems cross domain recommendations privacy in recommender systems and semantic based recommender systems This multi disciplinary handbook involves world wide experts from diverse fields such as artificial intelligence human computer interaction information retrieval data mining mathematics statistics adaptive user interfaces decision support systems psychology marketing and consumer behavior Theoreticians and practitioners from these fields will find this reference to be an invaluable source of ideas methods and techniques for developing more efficient cost effective and accurate recommender systems Handbook of Satisfiability Armin Biere, 2009 Satisfiability SAT related topics have attracted researchers from various disciplines logic applied areas such as planning scheduling operations research and combinatorial optimization but also theoretical issues on the theme of complexity and much more they all are connected through SAT My personal interest in SAT stems from actual solving The increase in power of modern SAT solvers over the past 15 years has been phenomenal It has become the key enabling technology in automated verification of both computer hardware and software Bounded Model Checking BMC of computer hardware is now probably the most widely used model checking technique The counterexamples that it finds are just satisfying instances of a Boolean formula obtained by unwinding to some fixed depth a sequential circuit and its specification in linear temporal logic Extending model checking to software verification is a much more difficult problem on the frontier of current research One promising approach for languages like C with finite word length integers is to use the same idea as in BMC but with a decision procedure for the theory of bit vectors instead of SAT All decision procedures for bit vectors that I am familiar with ultimately make use of a fast SAT solver to handle complex formulas Decision procedures for more complicated theories like linear real and integer arithmetic are also used in program verification Most of them use powerful SAT solvers in an essential way Clearly efficient SAT solving is a key technology for 21st century computer science I expect this collection of papers on all theoretical and practical aspects of SAT solving will be extremely useful to both students and researchers and will lead to many further advances in the field Edmund Clarke FORE Systems University Professor of Computer Science and Professor of Electrical and Computer Engineering at Carnegie Mellon University winner of the 2007 A M Turing Award
