Wacker Manual:

The ^AWorking Man's Reward Elaine Lewinnek, 2014-04-03 Between the 1860s and 1920s Chicago's working class immigrants designed the American dream of home ownership viewing homes as a consumer oriented respite from work and a productive space they hoped to control Spurred by ideas about the gendered respectability of domesticity early city planning and land economics as well as an evolving discourse about the racial attributes of property values Chicagoans helped create America's suburbanization

Making Sense of the City Zane L. Miller, 2001 Through an examination of such topics as city charters city planning texts neighborhood organizations municipal recreation programs urban government reforms urban identity and fair housing campaigns the authors offer insight into the process through which ideas about the nature of the city have affected action in the urban environment

BOOK JACKET Chicago by the Book The Caxton Club, 2018-11-20 Despite its rough and tumble image Chicago has long been identified as a city where books take center stage In fact a volume by A J Liebling gave the Second City its nickname Upton Sinclair's The Jungle arose from the midwestern capital's most infamous industry The great Chicago Fire led to the founding of the Chicago Public Library The city has fostered writers such as Nelson Algren Saul Bellow and Gwendolyn Brooks Chicago's literary magazines The Little Review and Poetry introduced the world to Eliot Hemingway Joyce and Pound The city's robust commercial printing industry supported a flourishing culture of the book With this beautifully produced collection Chicago's rich literary tradition finally gets its due Chicago by the Book profiles 101 landmark publications about Chicago from the past 170 years that have helped define the city and its image Each title carefully selected by the Caxton Club a venerable Chicago bibliophilic organization is the focus of an illustrated essay by a leading scholar writer or bibliophile Arranged chronologically to show the history of both the city and its books the essays can be read in order from Mrs John H Kinzie's 1844 Narrative of the Massacre of Chicago to Sara Paretsky's 2015 crime novel Brush Back Or one can dip in and out savoring reflections on the arts sports crime race relations urban planning politics and even Mrs O Leary's legendary cow The selections do not shy from the underside of the city recognizing that its grit and graft have as much a place in the written imagination as soaring odes and boosterism As Neil Harris observes in his introduction Even when Chicagoans celebrate their hearth and home they do so while acknowledging deep seated flaws At the same time this collection heartily reminds us all of what makes Chicago as Norman Mailer called it the great American city With essays from among others Ira Berkow Thomas Dyja Ann Durkin Keating Alex Kotlowitz Toni Preckwinkle Frank Rich Don Share Carl Smith Regina Taylor Garry Wills and William Julius Wilson and featuring works by Saul Bellow Gwendolyn Brooks Sandra Cisneros Clarence Darrow Erik Larson David Mamet Studs Terkel Ida B Wells Barnett Frank Lloyd Wright and many more

Wacker's Manual of the Plan of Chicago Walter Dwight Moody, 1916

The Chicago Tribune Tower Competition Katherine Solomonson, 2003-11-15 In 1922 the Chicago Tribune sponsored an international competition to design its new corporate headquarters Both a serious design contest and a brilliant publicity stunt the competition received worldwide attention for the hundreds of submissions from the sublime to the ridiculous it garnered In this lavishly illustrated book Katherine Solomonson tells the fascinating story of the competition the diverse architectural designs it attracted and its lasting impact She shows how the Tribune used the competition to position itself as a civic institution whose new headquarters would serve as a defining public monument for Chicago For architects planners and others the competition sparked influential debates over the design and social functions of skyscrapers It also played a crucial role in the development of advertising consumer culture and a new national identity in the turbulent years after World War I

Wacker's Manual of the Plan of Chicago Moody Walter D.,1901 The Plan of Chicago Carl Smith,2009-08-01

Arguably the most influential document in the history of urban planning Daniel Burnham s 1909 Plan of Chicago coauthored by Edward Bennett and produced in collaboration with the Commercial Club of Chicago proposed many of the city s most distinctive features including its lakefront parks and roadways the Magnificent Mile and Navy Pier Carl Smith s fascinating history reveals the Plan s central role in shaping the ways people envision the cityscape and urban life itself Smith s concise and accessible narrative begins with a survey of Chicago s stunning rise from a tiny frontier settlement to the nation s second largest city He then offers an illuminating exploration of the Plan s creation and reveals how it embodies the renowned architect s belief that cities can and must be remade for the better The Plan defined the City Beautiful movement and was the first comprehensive attempt to reimagine a major American city Smith points out the ways the Plan continues to influence debates even a century after its publication about how to create a vibrant and habitable urban environment Richly illustrated and incisively written his insightful book will be indispensable to our understanding of Chicago Daniel Burnham and the emergence of the modern city Communication Matters Jeremy Packer,Stephen B. Crofts Wiley,2013-06-17

Communication has often been understood as a realm of immaterial insubstantial phenomena images messages thoughts languages cultures and ideologies mediating our embodied experience of the concrete world Communication Matters challenges this view assembling leading scholars in the fields of Communication Rhetoric and English to focus on the materiality of communication Building on the work of materialist theorists such as Gilles Deleuze Michel Foucault Friedrich Kittler and Henri Lefebvre the essays collected here examine the materiality of discourse itself and the constitutive force of communication in the production of the real Communication Matters presents original work that rethinks communication as material and situates materialist approaches to communication within the broader materiality turn emerging in the humanities and social sciences This collection will be of interest to researchers and postgraduate students in Media Communication Studies and Rhetoric The book includes images of the digital media installations of Francesca Talenti Professor Department of Communication Studies University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill New Ideals in the Planning of Cities, Towns and Villages John Nolen,1919 Atlantic Crossings Daniel T. RODGERS,2009-06-30 The most belated of nations Theodore Roosevelt called his country during the workmen s compensation fight in 1907 Earlier reformers progressives of his day and later New Dealers lamented the nation's resistance to models abroad for correctives to the backwardness of American social politics. Atlantic Crossings is the first major account of the vibrant international network that they constructed so often obscured by notions of American exceptionalism and of its profound impact on the United States from the 1870s through 1945. On a narrative canvas that sweeps across Europe and the United States, Daniel Rodgers retells the story of the classic era of efforts to repair the damages of unbridled capitalism. He reveals the forgotten international roots of such innovations as city planning, rural cooperatives, modernist architecture for public housing, and social insurance among other reforms. From small beginnings to reconstructions of the new great cities and rural life and to the wide-ranging mechanics of social security for working people, Rodgers finds the interconnections, adaptations, exchanges, and even rivalries in the Atlantic region's social planning. He uncovers the immense diffusion of talent, ideas, and action that were breathtaking in their range and impact. The scope of Atlantic Crossings is vast and peopled with the reformers: university men and women, new experts, bureaucrats, politicians, and gifted amateurs. This long duration of contemporary social policy encompassed fierce debate, new conceptions of the role of the state, an acceptance of the importance of expertise in making government policy, and a recognition of a shared destiny in a newly created world.

After the Shock City Tom Hulme, 2019. A comparative and transnational study of urban culture in Britain and the United States from the late nineteenth to the twentieth century. Using the industrial cities of Manchester and Chicago as case studies, this book traces the idea of citizenship across different areas of local life in the first half of the twentieth century, from philosophy and festivals to historical reenactment and public housing. Coalitions of voluntary associations, municipal government, and local elites lambasted modern urban culture as the cause of social disintegration. But rather than simply decanting the population to new and smaller settlements, they tried to reimagine a reformed city as a place that could foster loyal and healthy communities. Celebrating civic progress in the period since the shock city of the nineteenth century, they sought to create a sense of local pride that could bracket growing class and racial tensions. The diverse individuals, groups, and communities of the city reacted in different ways to this message. Some were happy to gather under the identity of one civic banner. Others, held back by discriminatory structures of society, chose to shape their own idea of citizenship, one that looked far beyond the city for a sense of belonging and rights. Historians have tended to emphasise the rise of national identity, state centralisation, and popular patriotism at the expense of distinctive local identities, municipal autonomy, and expressions of civic pride. This book aims to redress the imbalance, demonstrating how local ideas of belonging could still exert a powerful hold on the making of modern citizenship. TOM HULME is a lecturer in the School of History, Anthropology, Philosophy, and Politics, Queen's University Belfast.
