Trail Caribou Newfoundland Regiment 1914 1918:

"The Trail of the Caribou" Robert Holland Tait, 1933 The Trail of the Caribou; the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, 1914-1918, By R.H. Tait Robert Holland Tait, 1933 Indigenous Peoples of the British Dominions and the First World War Timothy C. Winegard, 2011-11-03 The first comprehensive examination and comparison of the indigenous peoples of the five British dominions during the First World War The Canadian Experience of the Great War Brian Douglas Tennyson, 2013-05-01 Although the United States did not enter the First World War until April 1917 Canada enlisted the moment Great Britain engaged in the conflict in August 1914 The Canadian contribution was great as more than 600 000 men and women served in the war effort 400 000 of them overseas out of a population of 8 million More than 150 000 were wounded and nearly 67 000 gave their lives The war was a pivotal turning point in the history of the modern world and its mindless slaughter shattered a generation and destroyed seemingly secure values The literature that the First World War generated and continues to generate so many years later is enormous and addresses a multitude of cultural and social matters in the history of Canada and the war itself Although many scholars have brilliantly analyzed the literature of the war little has been done to catalog the writings of ordinary participants men and women who served in the war and wrote about it but are not included among well known poets novelists and memoirists Indeed we don't even know how many titles these people published nor do we know how many more titles were added later by relatives who considered the recollections or collected letters worthy of publication Brian Douglas Tennyson's The Canadian Experience of the Great War A Guide to Memoirs is the first attempt to identify all of the published accounts of First World War experiences by Canadian veterans Into the Blizzard Michael Winter, 2014-11-04 In June a few years ago I set out to visit some of the World War One battlefields of Europe the slope and valley and river and plain that the Newfoundland Regiment trained on and fought over and through and under So begins Michael Winter's extraordinary narrative that follows two parallel journeys one laid on top of the other like a sketch on opaque paper over the lines of an old map The first journey is that of the young men who came from Newfoundland's outports fields villages and narrow city streets to join the storied regiment that led many of them to their deaths at Beaumont Hamel during the Battle of the Somme on July 1 1916 The second journey is the author's taken a century later as he walks in the footsteps of the dead men to discover what remains of their passage across land and through memory Part unconventional history part memoir travelogue part philosophical inquiry Michael Winter uniquely captures the extraordinary lives and landscapes both in Europe and at home scarred by a war that is just now disappearing from living memory In subtle and surprising ways he also tells the hidden story of the very act of remembering of how the past bleeds into the present and the present corrals and shapes the past As he wanders from battlefield to barracks to hospital to hotel and finally to a bereft stretch of land battered by a blizzard back home Winter gently but persistently unsettles us startling us with the unexpected encounters and juxtapositions that arise from his physical act of walking through the places where the soldiers once marched this time armed with artifacts and knowledge those earlier souls could not have yet undone by the reality of their bodily presence beneath the earth In this unusual poignant and beautiful book Michael Winter gives us a new way of looking at a powerful piece of history that he reminds us continues to haunt our own lives Newfoundland Rhapsody Glenn David Colton, 2014-04-01 A new perspective on the cultural heritage of Newfoundland and Labrador told through the life of Frederick R Emerson Shell Shock, Memory, and the Novel in the Wake of World War I Trevor Dodman, 2015-09-09 Shell Shock Memory and the Novel in the Wake of World War I explores the narrative traces subaltern faces and commemorative spaces of shell shock in wartime and postwar novels by Mulk Raj Anand Ford Madox Ford Mary A Ward George Washington Lee Ernest Hemingway F Scott Fitzgerald and Christopher Isherwood This book argues that World War I novels serve as an untapped source of information about shell shock and renews our present understanding of the condition by exploring the nexus of shell shock and practices of commemoration Shell shock novelists testify to the tenaciousness and complexity of the disorder write survivors into visibility and articulate the immediacy of wounds that remain to be seen This book helps readers understand more fully the extent to which shell shock continues to shape and trouble modern memories of the First World War Canada and the Great War Western Front Association, 2003 Canada and the Great War explores the military and socio cultural history of World War I adding new dimensions not only to the history of Canada s role in the war but to the war s role in shaping Canada The topics covered are wide ranging and eclectic and include among others studies of the Battle of Amiens the Halifax explosion Charlie Chaplin and wartime propaganda in the Canadian Expeditionary Force Newfoundland s contribution to the war effort the leadership capabilities of Brigadier General Griesbach and the wartime poetry of John McRae Contributors include Major John Armstrong ret author many articles on military history and an administrative specialist in the Canadian Forces for thirty two years including stints as an instructor in history at the Royal Military College Laura Brandon curator of war art at the Canadian War Museum and co author of Canvas of War Painting and the Canadian Experience 1914 1918 Patrick Brennan associate professor of history at the University of Calgary Tim Cook archivist at the National Archives of Canada Owen Cooke independent researcher and former chief archivist at the Directorate of History Canadian Department of National Defence Andrew Horrall archivist in charge of military records at the National Archives of Canada John Hurst retired administrator from the University of Guelph and head of the Ontario Branch of the WFA Jeff Keshen associate professor of history at the University of Ottawa David Parsons Lt Colonel with the Canadian Forces in Korea and chair of the Newfoundland Branch of the WFA Roger Sarty director of Historical Research and Exhibit Development at the Canadian War Museum Christopher J Terry director Canada Science and Technology Museums and chair of the Aviation Museum Group of the International Association of Transportation Museums and Sidney F Wise professor emeritus in history and former dean of Graduate Studies and Research at Carleton University For King and Kanata Timothy Charles Winegard, 2012 In his groundbreaking book For King and Kanata Timothy C Winegard reveals how national and international forces directly influenced the more than 4 000 status Indians who voluntarily served in the Canadian Expeditionary Force between 1914 and 1919 A History of the Church Lads' Brigade in Newfoundland Sterling D.
