It examines key themes including historical discourses, macroeconomic policies, employment trends, issues of tribal areas, public services, and infrastructure, climate change, and gendered migration and vulnerability of girl children. Gendered Inequalities in Paid and Unpaid Work of Women in India Vibhuti Patel, Nandita Mondal, 2022-03-25 This book explores Indian women's economic contribution through paid and unpaid work in different sectors of the economy and society in extremely diverse life situations and geographical locations. It highlights gender implications of interlinkages between local, national, regional, and global dimensions of women's paid and unpaid work in India. It encompasses a vast canvas of life worlds of working women in the metropolitan, urban, peri-urban, rural, tribal areas in manufacturing, agricultural, fisheries, sericulture, plantation, and service sectors of the Indian economy. It provides nuanced insights into intersectional marginalities of caste, class, ethnicity, religion, and gender. The chapters are based on primary data collection and triangulation of qualitative and quantitative research methodologies. It presents the multiple marginalities of Indian women in the globalized political economy of the 21st century. It not only focuses on emerging issues but also suggests evidence-based policy imperatives. This book is an essential read for researchers, scholars, policymakers, practitioners, and students of women's gender studies. Gender, Time Use, and Poverty in Sub-Saharan Africa C. Mark Blackden, Quentin Wodon, 2006 The papers in this volume examine the links between gender, time use, and poverty in Sub-Saharan Africa. They contribute to a broader definition of poverty to include time poverty and to a broader definition of work to include household work. The papers present a conceptual framework linking both market and household work, review some of the available literature, and surveys on time use in Africa, and use tools and approaches drawn from analysis of consumption-based poverty to develop the concept of a time poverty line and to examine linkages between time poverty, consumption poverty, and other India Social Development Report 2023 Indira Hirway, 2024-01-20 This report highlights that gender inequalities and women's subordination in India are caused by two formidable macro structures patriarchy and the exclusion of unpaid work from the macro economy Both these structures reinforce each other and negatively impact women s empowerment Patriarchy imposes subordination on women and forces a disproportionately higher share of unpaid domestic services and unpaid care onto them This is unfair and unjust a violation of basic human rights Other structures like race religion and caste cut across these main structures The selected papers in this report show how patriarchy causes gender inequalities in all critical dimensions of women s life on the one hand and how unpaid domestic services and unpaid care sustains the macro economy and its growth on the other The contributors discuss pathways to integrate unpaid work with the macro economy such that the strength of patriarchy declines and at the same time gender equality is promoted To put it differently unless the structures are addressed by integrating unpaid work inequalities cannot be addressed effectively The report emphasizes that this is the only way to move to real macroeconomics The papers have explored pathways to break these structures gradually to achieve gender equality and empower women Though the path is challenging it is feasible to reach the goal of pervasive gender equality

Theory and Policy amidst Global Discontent Ananya Ghosh Dastidar, Rajeev Malhotra, Vivek Suneja, 2018-02-06 This book rethinks economic theory and calls for a creative and pragmatic approach to policymaking It examines what development and sustenance of economic progress mean and how these may be facilitated The relevance of this issue has received fresh impetus from the significant changes in the degree and pattern of international economic relations that are unfolding across the world posing both opportunities and challenges While globalisation of goods and financial markets may have delivered high growth for some nations the distribution of the benefits has often been highly unequal with gains to owners of capital and skills being disproportionately higher compared to that of labour especially the unskilled. Widening and persistent inequalities have been at the heart of rising polarisation and spread of conflicts that threaten the social fabric. This work emphasises the relevance of a broad policy framework based on building individual capabilities and in line with a human centric perspective. At the same time it points out the crucial need to create policy space for macroeconomic stability and to accommodate heterodox influences especially when conventional wisdom proves inadequate as starkly demonstrated inter alia during the recent global financial crisis. This festschrift dedicated to Deepak Nayyar presents chapters on diverse themes that address the persisting global problems of poverty inequality and sustaining development. The book will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of economics development studies public policy and governance and also to policymakers government officials and those in media.

Recent feminist scholarship has provided new theoretical frameworks methodologies and empirical analyses of how gender and feminism are situated within the development process. Global Perspectives on Gender and Space Engaging Feminism and Development draws upon this framework to explore the effects of globalization on development in diverse geographical contexts. Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Wilma Dunaway, Maria Cecilia Macabuac, 2022-10-31. East South and Southeast Asia are home to two thirds of the world's hungry people but they produce more than three quarters of the world's fish and nearly half of other foods. Through integration into the world food system, these Asian fisheries export their most nutritious foods and import less healthy substitutes. Worldwide, their exports sell cheap because women, the hungriest Asians, provide unpaid subsidies to production processes. In the 21st century, Asian peasants produce more than 60 percent of the regional food supply, but their survival is threatened by hunger, public depeasantization policies, climate change, land grabbing, urbanization, and debt bondage. Where Shrimp Eat Better than People: Globalized Fisheries, Nutritional Unequal Exchange, and Asian Hunger is now available in paperback for individual customers.

Gender, Development and Globalization Lourdes Beneria, Günseli Berik, Maria Floro, 2015-07-24. Gender Development and Globalization is the leading primer on global feminist economics and development. Lourdes Beneria, a pioneer in the field of feminist economics, is joined in this second edition by Günseli Berik and Maria Floro to update the text to reflect the major theoretical, empirical, and methodological contributions and global developments in the last decade. Its interdisciplinary investigation remains accessible to a broad audience interested in an analytical treatment of the impact of globalization processes on development and wellbeing in general and on social and gender equality in particular. The revision will continue to provide a wide-ranging discussion of the strategies and policies that hold the most promise in promoting equitable and sustainable development. The authors make the case for feminist economics as a useful framework to address major contemporary global challenges such as inequalities between the global South and North as well as within single countries, persistent poverty, and increasing vulnerability to financial crises, food crises, and climate change. The authors' approach is grounded in the intellectual current of feminism and human development, drawing on Amartya Sen's capability approach and focused on the importance of the care economy, increasing pressures faced by women, and the failures of neoliberal reforms to bring about sustainable development, reduction in poverty, inequality, and vulnerability to economic crisis. Critical and Feminist Perspectives on Financial and Economic Crises Sakiko Fukuda-Parr, James Heintz, Stephanie Seguino, 2017-10-02. Economic and financial crises have become perennial features of today's global economy. Macroeconomic theories of crisis, including the global crisis that unfolded in 2008, emphasize the role of financial deregulation, capital flow imbalances, and growing debt, fueled by income and wealth inequality. These approaches tend to be divorced from feminist thinking, which analyzes broader distributional dynamics transmitted through structural channels and government policy responses with an emphasis on gender, race, class, and ethnicity. This volume brings together innovative thinking from heterodox macroeconomists and feminist economists to explore the causes, consequences, and ramifications of economic crises. By doing so, it highlights aspects of the economy that are frequently overlooked or ignored, such as the impact of crises on the vast amount of unpaid work which women perform relative to men. The collection of international studies assembled here takes an innovative approach to analyzing a range of issues, from the subprime mortgage crisis to the gendered effects of austerity to the role of the International Monetary Fund in governing an unstable global economy. In so doing, it looks beyond causes and consequences and points to new directions for macroeconomic and financial policy This book was originally published as a special issue of Feminist Economics

Care and Care Workers Nadya Araujo Guimarães, Helena Hirata, 2021-01-03 This book presents an original contribution to the study of care and care work by addressing pressing issues in the field from a Latin American and intersectional perspective The expansion of professional care and its impacts on public policies related to care are global phenomena but so far the international literature on the subject has focused mainly on the Global North This volume aims to enrich this literature by presenting results of research projects conducted in five Latin American countries Argentina Brazil Chile Colombia and Uruguay and comparing them with researches conducted in other countries such as France Japan and the USA Latin America is a social space where professional care has expanded dramatically over the past twenty years However unlike Japan USA and European countries such expansion took place in a context of heterogeneous and poorly structured markets in societies which stand out for its reliance on domestic workers to provide care work in the household as paid workers in both formal and informal arrangements Care and Care Workers A Latin American Perspective will be a useful tool for sociologists anthropologists social workers gerontologists and other social scientists dedicated to the study of the growing demand for care services worldwide as well as to decision makers dealing with public policies related to care services Society cannot function without the unpaid and poorly and informally paid work of caregivers Having the data and this book presents this data allows public policy to be based on the realities rather than on the prejudices habits or structural injustices of a previous time about gender roles class ethnicity race migrant status This volume not only presents the data then but also shows how some countries have begun to innovate to provide solutions to the problem that some people are overburdened by care while others do little of it Scholars and activists in Latin American countries lead the way in showing both how resistance remains and how to innovate So the rest of the world has much to learn from this volume
