Writing Imagined Diasporas South Asian Women Reshaping North American Identity:

Writing Imagined Diasporas Joel Kuortti, 2009-05-05 Joel Kuortti's Writing Imagined Diasporas South Asian Women Reshaping North American Identity is a study of diasporic South Asian women writers. It argues that the diasporic South Asians are not merely assimilating to their host cultures but they are also actively reshaping them through their own new voices bringing new definitions of identity. As diaspora does not emerge as a mere sociological fact but it becomes what it is because it is said to be what it is. The writings of imagined diasporas challenge national discourses. Diaspora brings to mind various contested ideas and images. It can be a positive site for the affirmation of an identity or conversely a negative site of fears of losing that identity. Diaspora signals an engagement with a matrix of diversity of cultures, languages, histories, people, places, times. What distinguishes diaspora from some other types of travel is its centripetal dimension. It does not only mean that people are dispersed in different places but that they congregate in other places forming new communities. In such gatherings new allegiances are forged that supplant earlier commitments. New imagined communities arise that not simply substitute old ones but form a hybrid space in between various identifications. This book looks into the ways in which diasporic Indian literature handles these issues. In the context of diaspora there is an imaginative construction of collective identity in the making. That a given diaspora comes to be seen as a community is the result of a process of imagining at the same time creating new marginalities, hybridities and dependencies resulting in multiple marginalizations, hyphenizations and demands for allegiance. The study concentrates on eleven contemporary women writers from the United States and Canada who write on South Asian diasporic experiences. The writers are Ramabai Espinet, Jhumpa Lahiri, Amulya Malladi, Sujata Massey, Bharati Mukherjee, Uma Parameswaran, Kirin Narayan, Anita Rau Badami, Robbie Clipper, Sethi Shauna Singh, Baldwin and Vineeta Vijayaraghavan. Teaching Anglophone South Asian Women Writers Deepika Bahri, Filippo

Muslimness in Contemporary Literary Imaginations Neriman Kuyucu, 2025-10-14 Focusing on imagination and self representation as a key sociocultural force this book examines the diverse ways Muslim writers articulate complex and multifaceted conceptualizations of Muslimness at the critical juncture of culture faith gender sexuality and diasporic experience It highlights how contemporary fiction offers valuable insights into discussions on Muslims This book situates Muslim writing in relation to Muslimness as an inherently contradictory field of meaning and the Muslim diaspora which is re conceptualized as Muslim diaspora space Muslim diaspora space can be used as an analytical framework that can highlight an emerging literary site that Muslim writers create within the current politics of representation The texts selected for close analysis in this book demonstrate that diasporic experience is not limited to displacement and its challenges the process of diasporization also signifies the creative potential arising from navigating the tensions between mobility and rootedness sameness and difference and loss and renewal

Metaphor and Diaspora in Contemporary Writing J. Sell, 2012-01-06 Choose ten major contemporary diasporic writers from Abdulrazak to Zadie ask ten leading authorities to write about their use of metaphor and this is the result a timely reassertion of metaphor s unrivalled capacity to encompass sameness and difference and create understanding and empathy across boundaries of nationality race and ethnicity

British Asian Fiction Neil Murphy, Wai-chew Sim, 2008 In this outstanding collection of essays editors Neil Murphy and Wai chew Sim seek not so much to demarcate the field of British Asian fiction but to offer due acknowledgment of the artistic merit of the works of selected authors and simultaneously register their cultural significance This volume demonstrates in situ the virtues of commentary that engages in a substantial manner with formal and aesthetic considerations even as it implicates the discourses of alterity that dominate contemporary cultural criticism. Additionally, the essays delineate the complex subject positions explored by authors and texts and focus on the way writers negotiate the exigencies of their location within and between different social formations. If it is the case that British literature can no longer be discussed in monocultural terms because of the impact of the writers under consideration, it is also the case that the diverse trans-cultural positions they explore are often less specified than proclaimed. Addressing difference, commensurability, and form-related notions of truth, content, these essays enlarge our understanding of the range of British and affiliated identities as well as the cultural contexts from which they arose. Working as academics and critics from Singapore, a useful vantage point, Murphy and Sim have extended the parameters of British Asian to include not just writers from South Asia as is traditionally the case, but writers whose parents or who themselves have migrated to Britain from other regions of Asia, for example, Japan, Hong Kong, and Malaysia. This initiative has made it possible for professors Murphy and Sim to bring together first an interestingly varied group of authors among them those who came to prominence in the 1980s: Salman Rushdie, Timothy Mo, Kazuo Ishiguro, as well as their younger contemporaries Meera Syal, Romesh Gunasekera, Monica Ali, Hari Kunzru, Ooi Yang May, and second, a broad and diverse range of novels that span Timothy Mo's Sour Sweet (1982) and Tariq Ali's A Sultan in Palermo (2005), the fourth volume in his Islam quintet.

Changing Canvas: Explorations in Contemporary Indian Writing in English Dr. Priyanka Singl, Dr. Satish Grover, 2025-03-25

The landscape of Indian Writing in English has undergone a remarkable transformation in recent decades. From its early roots in colonial discourse and nationalist narratives, it has evolved into a vibrant, diverse, and dynamic field that engages with a broad spectrum of themes, voices, and genres. The present volume, Changing Canvas: Explorations in Contemporary Indian Writing in English, brings together a collection of critical essays that examine the emerging directions, thematic innovations, and evolving aesthetics in contemporary Indian English literature. This edited book aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the latest developments in the field, reflecting the socio-political, cultural, and literary changes that shape contemporary Indian consciousness. With the rise of globalization, digital media, diasporic engagements, and shifting gender perspectives, Indian writers in English have expanded the boundaries of storytelling, experimenting with form, voice, and subject matter. Issues such as identity, politics, environmental concerns, subaltern voices, postmodern narratives, feminist reinterpretations, queer expressions, and urban alienation now find nuanced and powerful representations in literature. The essays included in this volume critically explore works by both established and emerging writers, examining how literature continues to respond to and reflect the complexities of modern India. Each contributor brings a unique perspective, offering insightful readings and critical frameworks that engage with current literary debates and scholarly discourses. It is our hope that this volume will serve as a valuable resource for students, scholars, and enthusiasts of Indian Writing in English and will inspire further inquiry into the rich and ever-evolving tradition of Indian literature written in the English language We are grateful to all the contributors whose scholarship and dedication have made this book possible We also thank the readers for their interest and engagement with this important and evolving field of study
