The Words The Autobiography Of Jean Paul Sartre:

The Words Jean-Paul Sartre, 1981-04-12 Jean Paul Sartre's famous autobiography of his first ten years has been widely compared to Rousseau's Confessions. Written when he was fifty-nine years old, The Words is a masterpiece of self-analysis. Sartre, the philosopher, novelist, and playwright, brings to his own childhood the same rigor of honesty and insight he applied so brilliantly to other authors. Born into a gentle, book-loving family and raised by a widowed mother and doting grandparents, he had a childhood which might be described as one long love affair with the printed word. The Words explores and evaluates the whole use of books and language in human experience.

The Words Jean-Paul Sartre, 1964 Jean Paul Sartre was arguably the best known and most influential French writer of his time. As a philosopher, as a novelist, as a playwright, as the author of filmscripts, as the editor of Les Temps Modernes, as a man who was never afraid to commit himself to the moral and political as well as the literary life of his own times, he was unique. Not since Voltaire has Western civilization produced so humane a man, and he boldly engaged a man of letters. At 59, he undertook his autobiography, bringing to his own childhood the same rigor of honesty and insight which he had applied so brilliantly in earlier books to Baudelaire and Jean Genet. Directed to the heart as well as to the intellect, the result is like nothing else in the Sartre canon or in France, where The Words has been accorded a place beside that other masterpiece of self-analysis, Rousseau's Confessions. Adapted from publisher description.

Jean-Paul Sartre Jean-Paul Sartre, 2001 This first collection of Sartre's key philosophical writings provides an indispensable resource for all students and readers of his work, which has been extremely influential in philosophy, literature, and politics.
