The Water Environment Of Cities:

The Water Environment of Cities Lawrence A. Baker, 2009-04-21 The concept for the Water Environment of Cities arose from a workshop Green 1 Cities Blue Waters workshop held in 2006 The workshop assembled experts from engineering planning economics law hydrology aquatic ecology geomorphology and other disciplines to present research findings and identify key new ideas on the urban water environment At a lunch discussion near the end of the workshop several of us came to the recognition that despite having considerable expertise in a narrow discipline none of us had a vision of the urban water environment as a whole We were as in the parable blind men at opposite ends of the elephant knowing a great deal about the parts but not understanding the whole We quickly recognized the need to develop a book that would integrate this knowledge to create this vision The goal was to develop a book that could be used to teach a complete multidisciplinary course The Urban Water Environment but could also be used as a supplemental text for courses on urban ecosystems urban design landscape architecture water policy water quality management and watershed management The book is also valuable as a reference source for water professionals stepping outside their arena of disciplinary expertise The Water Environment of Cities is the first book to use a holistic interdisciplinary approach to examine the urban water environment We have attempted to portray a holistic vision built around the concept of water as a core element of cities Water has multiple roles involved with lake management issues on a daily basis Secondly it highlighted a series of important lake management case studies in order to draw out some key partnership principles and thirdly it provided a timely opportunity for participants to assess the role of lake networking organizations and consider whether a Global Alliance for Lakes is needed to ensure the long term sustainability of the world s lake ecosystems Water Sensitive Cities Carol Howe,Cynthia Mitchell,2011-10-20

Today s urban water managers are faced with an unprecedented set of issues that call for a different approach to urban water management These include the urgent changes needed to respond to climate change population growth growing resource constraints and rapidly increasing global urbanization Not only are these issues difficult to address but they are facing us in an environment that is increasingly unpredictable and complex Although innovative new tools are now available to water professionals to address these challenges solving the water problems of tomorrow cannot be done by the water professionals alone Instead the city of the future whether in the developed or developing world must integrate water management planning and operations with other city services to meet the needs of humans and the environment in a dramatically superior manner Water Sensitive Cities has been developed from selected papers from 2009 Singapore Water Week Planning for Sustainable Solutions and also papers taken from other IWA events It pulls together material that supports the water professionals need for useful and up to date material Authors Carol Howe UNESCO IHE Institute for Water Education The Netherlands Cynthia Mitchell University of Technology Sydney Australia Cities and the
