book questions the territoriality of historical concepts and offers a narrative which aims to overcome cultural essentialism by focussing on crossing borders of all kinds Transcultural History reflects critically on the way history is constructed asking who formed history in the past and who succeeded in shaping what we call the master narrative Although trained European historians the authors aim to present a useful approach to global history showing first of all how a Eurocentric but universal historiography removed or essentialised certain topics in Asian history As an empirical discipline history is based on source material analysed according to rules resulting from a strong methodological background This book accesses the global past after World War I looking at the well known stage of the Paris Peace Conferences observing the multiplication of new borders and the variety of transgressing institutions concepts actors men and women inventing themselves as global subjects but sharing a bitter experience with almost all local societies at this time namely the awareness of having relatives buried in far distant places due to globalised wars

Cultural Histories of the Material World Peter N. Miller, 2013-07-23 All across the humanities fields there is a new interest in materials and materiality This is the first book to capture and study the material turn in the humanities from all its varied perspectives Cultural Histories of the Material World brings together top scholars from all these different fields from Art History Anthropology Archaeology Classics Folklore History History of Science Literature Philosophy to offer their vision of what cultural history of the material world looks like and attempt to show how attention to materiality can contribute to a more precise historical understanding of specific times places ways and means The result is a spectacular kaleidoscope of future possibilities and new perspectives
