Writing In The Kitchen Essays On Southern Literature And Foodways:

Writing in the Kitchen David A. Davis, Tara Powell, 2014-08-04 Scarlett O Hara munched on a radish and vowed never to go hungry again Vardaman Bundren ate bananas in Faulkner's Jefferson and the Invisible Man dined on a sweet potato in Harlem Although food and stories may be two of the most prominent cultural products associated with the South the connections between them have not been thoroughly explored until now Southern food has become the subject of increasingly self-conscious intellectual consideration The Southern Foodways Alliance the Southern Food and Beverage Museum food-themed issues of Oxford American and Southern Cultures and a spate of new scholarly and popular books demonstrate this interest Writing in the Kitchen explores the relationship between food and literature and makes a major contribution to the study of both southern literature and of southern foodways and culture more widely This collection examines food writing in a range of literary expressions including cookbooks agricultural journals novels stories and poems Contributors interpret how authors use food to explore the changing South considering the ways race ethnicity class gender and region affect how and what people eat They describe foods from specific southern places such as New Orleans and Appalachia engage both the historical and contemporary South and study the food traditions of ethnicities as they manifest through the written word

Class, Whiteness, and Southern Literature Jolene Hubbs, 2022-12-15 Class Whiteness and Southern Literature explores the role that representations of poor white people play in shaping both middle-class American identity and major American literary movements and genres across the long twentieth century Jolene Hubbs reveals that more often than not poor white characters imagined by middle-class writers embody what better-off people are anxious to distance themselves from in a given moment Poor white southerners are cast as social climbers during the status-conscious Gilded Age country rubes in the modern era racist obstacles to progress during the civil rights struggle and junk food devotees in the health-conscious 1990s Hubbs illuminates how Charles Chesnutt William Faulkner Flannery O'Connor Dorothy Allison and Barbara Robinette Moss swam against these tides pioneering formal innovations with an eye to representing poor white characters in new ways

Ecocriticism and the Future of Southern Studies Zackary Vernon, 2019-08-14 As the planet faces ever-worsening disruptions to global ecosystems carbon and chemical emissions depletions of the ozone layer the loss of biodiversity rising sea levels air toxification and worsening floods and droughts scholars across academia must examine the cultural effects of this increasingly postnatural world That task proves especially vital for southern studies given how often the U.S. South serves as a site for large-scale damming initiatives like the TVA disasters on the scale of Hurricane Katrina and the Deepwater Horizon spill and the extraction of coal oil and natural gas Ecocriticism and the Future of Southern Studies is the first book-length collection of scholarship that applies interdisciplinary environmental humanities research to cultural analyses of the U.S. South Sixteen essays examine novels nature writing films television and music that address a broad range of ecological topics related to the region including climate change manmade and natural environments the petroleum industry food cultures waterways natural and human induced disasters waste management and the Anthropocene Edited by Zackary Vernon this volume demonstrates how the greening of southern studies in tandem with the southernization of environmental studies can catalyze alternative ways of understanding the connections between regional and global cultures and landscapes By addressing ecological issues central to life throughout the South Ecocriticism and the Future of Southern Studies considers the confluence between region and environment while also illustrating the growing need to see environmental issues as matters of social justice Food in American Culture and Literature

Carl Boon,Nuray Önder,Evrin Ersöz Koç,2020-03-18 Carving a unique space within the burgeoning field of food studies the essays gathered in this volume position themselves at a variety of flashpoints along the spectrum of cultural and literary analysis While some remain firmly entrenched in traditional genre analysis some extend toward history and sociology giving this collection a multifaceted perspective The finest of these essays stand as cultural critiques forcing the reader to consider what food means and will mean in the United States Modernism and Food Studies

Jessica Martell,Adam Fajardo,Philip Keel Geheber,2019-01-09 As the first book length study to bring the fields of modernism and food studies together Modernism and Food Studies anchors the burgeoning field of modernist food studies This volume collects theoretically and methodologically diverse essays that investigate modernist representations of food broadly treated in phases from production to distribution and consumption By exploring the profound relationship between modernist aesthetics and the new food cultures of modernity Modernism and Food Studies uncovers new links between seemingly disparate spaces cultures and artistic media in a globalizing world Consumption and the Literary Cookbook Roxanne Harde,Janet Wesselius,2020-11-18 Consumption and the Literary Cookbook offers readers the first book length study of literary cookbooks Imagining the genre more broadly to include narratives laden with recipes cookbooks based on cultural productions including films plays and television series and cookbooks that reflected and or shaped cultural and historical narratives the contributors draw on the tools of literary and cultural studies to closely read a diverse corpus of cookbooks By focusing on themes of consumption gastronomical and rhetorical the sixteen chapters utilize the recipes and the narratives surrounding them as lenses to study identity society history and culture The chapters in this book reflect the current popularity of foodie culture as they offer entertaining analyses of cookbooks the stories they tell and the stories told about them

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Food and Popular Culture Kathleen Lebesco,Peter Naccarato,2017-12-14 The influence of food has grown rapidly as it has become more and more intertwined with popular culture in recent decades The Bloomsbury Handbook of Food and Popular Culture offers an authoritative comprehensive overview of and introduction to this growing field of research Bringing together over 20 original essays from leading experts including Amy Bentley Deborah Lupton Fabio Parasecoli and Isabelle de Solier its impressive breadth and depth serves to define the field of food and popular culture Divided into four parts the book covers Media and Communication including film television print media the Internet and emerging media Material Cultures of Eating including eating across the lifespan home cooking food retail restaurants and street food Aesthetics of Food including urban landscapes museums visual and performance arts Socio Political Considerations including popular discourses around food science waste nutrition ethical eating and food advocacy Each chapter outlines key theories and existing areas of research whilst providing historical context and considering possible future developments The Editors Introduction by Kathleen LeBesco and Peter Naccarato ensures cohesion and accessibility throughout A truly interdisciplinary ground breaking resource this book makes an invaluable contribution to the study of food and popular culture It will be an essential reference work for students researchers and scholars in food studies film and media studies communication studies sociology cultural studies and American studies Ruin and Resilience Daniel Spoth,2023-04-05 In Ruin and Resilience Daniel Spoth confronts why the environmental stories told about the U S South curve inevitably toward distressing plotlines Examining more than a dozen works of postbellum literature and cinema Spoth's analysis winds from John Muir's walking journey across the war torn South through the troubling of southern environmentalism's modernity by Faulkner and Hurston past the accounts of its acceleration in Welty and O'Connor and finally into the present uncovering how the tragic econarrative is transformed by contemporary food studies climate fiction and speculative tales inspired by the region Phrased as a reaction to the rising temperatures and swelling sea levels in the South Ruin and Resilience conceptualizes an environmental ecocritical ethos for the southern United States that takes account of its fundamentally vulnerable status and navigates the space between its reactionary politics and its ecological failures Inventing Authenticity Carrie Helms Tippen,2018-08-12 In Inventing Authenticity Carrie Helms Tippen examines the rhetorical power of storytelling in cookbooks to fortify notions of southernness Tippen brings to the table her ongoing hunt for recipe cards and evaluates a wealth of cookbooks with titles like Y'all Come Over and Bless Your Heart and famous cookbooks such as Sean Brock's Heritage and Edward Lee's Smoke and Pickles She examines her own southern history grounding it all in a thorough understanding of the relevant literature The result is a deft and entertaining dive into the territory of southern cuisine black-eyed peas and cornbread fried chicken and fried okra pound cake and peach cobbler and a look at and beyond southern food tropes that reveals much about tradition identity and the yearning for authenticity Tippen discusses the act of cooking as a way to perform and therefore reinforce the identity associated with a recipe and the complexities inherent in attempts to portray the foodways of a region marked by a sometimes distasteful history Inventing Authenticity meets this challenge head on delving into problems of cultural appropriation and representations of race thorny questions about authorship and more The commonplace but deceptively complex southern cookbook can sustain our sense of where we come from and who we are or who we think we are The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Food J. Michelle Coghlan,2020-03-19 This Companion rethinks food in literature from Chaucer's Canterbury Tales to contemporary food blogs and recovers cookbooks as literary texts
