Writing To Make A Difference:

Writing to Make a Difference Chris Benson, Scott Christian, 2002 The student projects presented in this book demonstrate a powerful approach to teaching writing one that requires no special equipment or resources and can be adapted for students of any age The key is getting students involved in action research and in writing about issues that are important to them and their communities Written by public school teachers these chapters describe projects covering a variety of issues including avoiding teenage health risks preserving oral histories fighting racism investigating environmental hazards decreasing instances of teen pregnancy and much more Based on a process model of writing instruction these projects will show teachers how to engage their students while also teaching the basic skills that appear in educational standards and assessment frameworks Handbook of Research on Writing Instruction Practices for Equitable and Effective Teaching Hodges, Tracey S., 2022-05-27 Writing is a critical component for teaching children about advocacy and empowering student voice as well as an essential tool for learning in many disciplines Yet writing instruction in schools often focuses on traditional methods such as the composition of five paragraph essays or the adherence to proper grammatical conventions While these are two components of writing instruction and preparation in education they only provide a small glimpse into the depth and breadth of writing As such writing instruction is increasingly complex and requires multiple perspectives and levels of skill among teachers The Handbook of Research on Writing Instruction Practices for Equitable and Effective Teaching serves as a comprehensive reference of issues related to writing instruction and leading research about perspectives methods and approaches for equitable and effective writing instruction It includes practices beyond K 12 including best writing practices at the college level as well as the development of future teachers Providing unique coverage on culturally relevant writing socio and racial linguistic justice and urgent writing pedagogies this major reference work is an indispensable resource for administrators and educators of both K 12 and higher education pre service teachers teacher educators libraries government officials researchers and academicians Writing to Make an Impact Sandra Murphy, Mary Ann Smith, 2020 Through ideas and practices straight from the classrooms of outstanding teachers this lively resource illustrates writing that makes an impact on a reader a writer or a cause writing that everyone wants to read The book is rich with student work that shows how writing can make things happen in the world The authors provide ready to use lessons that include a full range of writing including poetry narrative petitions proposals emails self reflections long term projects and critical analyses Young people yearn to have an impact on the world but often lack the tools to make change This book demonstrates how shifting the focus and purposes for writing can turn students frustration with the status quo into action There s no time to waste The need for change both in school and in society is urgent Carol Jago past president National Council of Teachers of English and associate director California Reading and Literature Project at UCLA In true National Writing Project style Sandy Murphy and Mary Ann Smith take us inside the classrooms of remarkable teachers to

Teaching Writing in the Age of Catastrophic Climate Change Justin Everett,Russell Mayo,2024-11-25 Catastrophic storms searing heat waves crumbling waterfronts warming oceans air fouling forest fires and mass extinction have become facts of life Under these conditions it is difficult to imagine that the global industrial civilization will continue in its present form This requires us to reconsider the subject of ecocomposition from a new perspective What does it mean to teach college writing in the face of this sobering reality The introduction reviews the history of ecocomposition and reframes it in light of the apocalyptic turn in climate discourse over the last quarter century as well as the role that ecocomposition theory can play in framing these discussions Teaching Writing in the Age of Catastrophic Climate Change is organized into four sections The first section considers the environmental narrative from the viewpoint of climate justice while the second reframes pedagogies of place in light of the climate catastrophe The third section examines the intersections of writing studies and the natural sciences while the fourth section entertains the personal and emotional dimensions of teaching ecocomposition within the framework of catastrophic climate change If we have been successful these chapters provide a starting place for having sobering discussions in our classrooms and considering what ecocomposition means in this unsettling age

Writing Matters Ruth Whitehouse,2024-09-05 The epigraphy of 1st millennium BCE Italy has been studied for many years but these studies have largely concentrated on the languages encoded in the inscriptions and their semantic meanings This book takes a more holistic approach that looks not only at content but also the archaeological contexts of the inscriptions and the materiality of their supports the artefacts and monuments on which the inscriptions occur The first writing in Italy was not a local invention but was introduced by the Phoenicians and Greeks in the 9th 8th centuries BCE It was taken up by number of indigenous communities over the subsequent centuries to write their own languages before these were eventually submerged by the spread of Latin In a series of theoretical methodological and interpretative essays Ruth Whitehouse explores what can be learned about how writing was used by these communities and what it meant to them The bodies of data considered relate to Venetic and Raetic the northeast Lepontic the northwest Messapic the southeast and Etruscan west central Italy extending also into Campania in the south and the Po plain in the north While not a comprehensive survey there are enough different groups to allow a comparative approach to be adopted Analysis of the datasets is able to reveal the similarities and differences between them as well as identify features that were widespread in 1st millennium BCE Italy and others that were more idiosyncratic and specific to particular cultural groups Placing materiality at the centre of study allows a reconsideration of the roles writing played in the lives of the individuals and groups who occupied Italy in the 1st millennium BCE

Encouraging Your Child's Writing Talent

Nancy Peterson, 2006 Encouraging Your Child's Writing Talent brings a new perspective to teaching kids writing one that helps parents encourage and cultivate a child's creative insights and love of words through the writing process. The author introduces parents to the characteristics of the gifted writer and much more. Educational Resource Writing and Teaching to Change the World

Stephanie Jones, 2014-03-29 The story begins when some committed and curious teachers from the Red Clay Writing Project gathered into a teacher inquiry community to spend a year focusing on and documenting their experiences with one of their most disenfranchised students. By analyzing and rethinking what they do in the classroom and why they do it the authors come to re-imagine who they are as teachers and as human beings. These honest and compelling stories about connecting with one student uncover valuable insights for becoming more responsive to all students. The book introduces the Oral Inquiry Process and examines its role in fostering critical awareness among educators. Perfect for use in teacher preparation courses and professional learning groups the text includes prompts at the end of each chapter to support teacher writer groups along with a suggested writing exercise.
