Transcultural Cities Jeffrey Hou, 2013 Transcultural Cities collects case studies of intercultural exchange and the urban transformations that have accompanied it. Jeffrey Hou and a talented team of multidisciplinary scholars argue for a more critical and open view of cities, urban places and placemaking as vehicles for cross cultural understanding. Greening Cities Puay Yok Tan, Chi Yung Jim, 2017-03-29 This book offers an overview of recent scientific and professional literature on urban greening and urban ecology focusing on diverse disciplines such as landscape architecture, geography, urban ecology, urban climatology, biodiversity conservation, urban governance, architecture and urban hydrology. It includes contributions in which academics, public policy experts and practitioners share their considerable knowledge on the multi-faceted aspects of greening cities. The greening of cities has witnessed a global resurgence over the past two decades and has made a significant contribution to urban liveability and sustainability as well as increasing resilience. As urban greening efforts continue to expand, it is useful to promote recent advances in our understanding of various aspects of planning, design and management of urban greenery, but at the same time it is also important to realize that there are important gaps in our knowledge and that further research is needed. The book is organized in three main parts: concepts, functions and forms of urban greening. The first part examines the historical roots of greening cities and how the burgeoning field of urban ecology can contribute useful principles and strategies to guide the planning, design and management of urban greening. The second part shifts the focus to the diverse range of services, the functions provided by urban greening such as those related to urban climate, urban biodiversity, human health and community building. The final part explores conventional, often neglected but important forms of urban greenery such as urban woodlands and urban farms, as well as relatively recent forms of urban greenery like those integrated with buildings and waterways. It offers a ready reference resource for researchers, practitioners and policy makers to grasp the critical issues and trigger further studies and applications in the quest for high performance green cities. Intercultural Urbanism Dean Saitta, 2020-07-23 Cities today are paradoxical. They are engines of innovation and opportunity, but they are also plagued by significant income inequality and segregation by ethnicity, race and class. These inequalities and segregations are often reinforced by the urban built environment, the planning of space and the design of architecture. This condition threatens attainment of wider social and economic prosperity. In this innovative new study, Dean Saitta explores questions of urban sustainability by taking an intercultural, trans-historical approach to city planning. Saitta uses a largely untapped body of knowledge, the archaeology of cities in the ancient world, to generate ideas about how public space, housing and civic architecture might be better designed to promote inclusion and community while also making our cities more environmentally sustainable. By integrating this knowledge with knowledge generated by evolutionary studies and urban ethnography, including a detailed look at Denver, Colorado, one of America's most desirable and fastest growing destination cities, but one that is also experiencing significant spatial segregation and gentrification.

Saitta's book offers an invaluable new perspective for urban studies scholars and urban planning professionals

Celebrating Urban Community Life Melvin Delgado, 2016-01-01 Communal celebrations bring out the best in us offering a place for people to come together and take a break from the routines of daily life They are a vital aspect of city life and are increasingly popular as an urban development strategy Celebrating Urban Community Life is a comprehensive guide to understanding and enhancing communal celebrations as a source of community capital Drawing on case studies from New York San Francisco and Toronto Melvin Delgado discusses the many ways in which fairs festivals and parades can enhance communal life Providing a framework for social scientists urban planners and social workers to analyse and foster celebrations that benefit urban populations the book is a valuable resource for those with an interest in this growing area of academic and practical interest

Resistant City: Histories, Maps And The Architecture Of Development Eunice Mei Feng Seng, 2020-02-24 This vivid book is an inquiry into the stagnation between the development of architectural practice and the progress in urban modernization It is about islands as territories of resistance It is about dense places where multitudes dwell in perennial contestations with the city on every front It is about the histories tactics and spaces of everyday survival within the hegemonic sway of global capital and unstoppable development It is preoccupied with making visible the culture of resistance and architecture's entanglement with it It is about urban resilience It is about Hong Kong where uncertainty is status quo This interdisciplinary volume explores real and invented places and identities that are created in tandem with Hong Kong's urban development Mapping contested spaces in the territory it visualizes the energies and tenacity of the people as manifest in their daily life social and professional networks and the urban spaces in which they inhabit Embodying the multifaceted nature of the Asian metropolis the book utilizes a combination of archival materials public data sources field observations and documentation analytical drawings models and maps

Global Insurrectional Politics Nevzat Soguk, 2018-03-08 The recent Arab uprisings across North Africa and the Middle East have attracted scholarly attention as popular movements with novel transnational and religious dimensions What became known as the Arab Spring can be read as part of a broader politics of normative defiance of predominant political and economic orders From religious militations to Indigenous sovereign claims to mobilizations of refugees and migrants in camps and urban settings it may be possible to speak more generally of contemporary insurrectional politics as social movements that emanate from normative positions that pose significant challenges to systemic orders as we know them The purpose of this book is a to identify the material shifts giving rise to insurrectional politics b to reflect on key arenas of insurrection c to map chart the impact of insurrectional movements on institutions and relations of political governance at national and global levels and d to explore analytics that will advance theorization of insurrectional politics The book aims to generate new knowledge on systemic institutional transformations spanning the national and global by bringing together scholars whose work combines theoretical inquiry with empirical analysis of contemporary insurrectional politics This title was previously published as a special issue of Globalizations Promoting Urban Social Justice through Engaged Communication Scholarship George Villanueva, 2021-09-20 Winner of the 2023 Jane Jacobs Urban Communication Book Award awarded by the Urban Communication Foundation Based on the author's scholar activist interventions to promote social justice in cities this book highlights the role engaged communication scholarship can play in fostering a more equitable future Through three innovative case studies situated in South Los Angeles the book illustrates engaged communication scholarship projects grounded in design criteria that are social justice oriented place based collaborative and public It models university community partnerships that promote positive social change in marginalized communities that stand to benefit the most from university resources guiding readers in how these partnerships can be incorporated into social justice oriented curriculum and engaged learning projects It provides strategic recommendations for how in community communication research and media practices can be used to build local power in marginalized urban neighborhoods and calls for communication's research pedagogy epistemologies practices ethics politics and community engagement to purposefully serve the concerns of marginalized groups in society The book will be of interest to researchers and social change practitioners interested in solution oriented work in cities within the fields of research methods organizational communication urban planning public policy sociology and social work

All-Inclusive Engagement in Architecture Farhana Ferdous, Bryan Bell, 2020-12-22 Should all inclusive engagement be the major task of architecture All Inclusive Engagement in Architecture Towards the Future of Social Change presents the case that the answer is yes Through original contributions and case studies this volume shows that socially engaged architecture is both a theoretical construct and a professional practice navigating the global politics of poverty charity health technology neoliberal urbanism and the discipline's exclusionary basis The scholarly ideas and design projects of 58 thought leaders demonstrate the architect's role as a revolutionary social agent Exemplary works are included from the United States Mexico Canada Africa Asia and Europe This book offers a comprehensive overview and in depth analysis of all inclusive engagement in public interest design for instructors students and professionals alike showing how this approach to architecture can bring forth a radical reformation of the profession and its relationship to society

Making Home(s) in Displacement Luce Beeckmans, Alessandra Gola, Ashika Singh, Hilde Heynen, 2022-01-17 Making Home's in Displacement critically rethinks the relationship between home and displacement from a spatial material and architectural perspective Recent scholarship in the social sciences has investigated how migrants and refugees create and reproduce home under new conditions thereby unpacking the seemingly contradictory positions of making a home and overcoming its loss Yet making home's in displacement is also a spatial practice one which intrinsically relates to the fabrication of the built environment worldwide Conceptually the book is divided along four spatial sites referred to as camp shelter city and house which are approached with a multitude of perspectives ranging from urban planning and architecture to anthropology geography philosophy gender studies and urban history all with a common focus on space and spatiality By articulating everyday homemaking experiences of migrants and refugees as spatial practices in a variety of geopolitical and historical contexts this edited volume adds a novel perspective to the existing interdisciplinary scholarship at the intersection of home and displacement It equally intends to broaden the canon of architectural histories and theories by including migrants and refugees spatial agencies and place making practices to its annals By highlighting the political in the spatial and vice versa this volume sets out to decentralise and decolonise current definitions of home and displacement striving for a more pluralistic outlook on the idea of home

Temporality in Mobile Lives Shanthi Robertson, 2021-01-22 Shanthi Robertson provides fresh perspectives on 21st century migratory experiences in this innovative study of young Asian migrants lives in Australia Exploring the aspirations and realities of transnational mobility the book shows how migration has reshaped lived experiences of time for middle class young people moving between Asia and the West for work study and lifestyle opportunities Through a new conceptual framework of chronomobilities which looks at time regimes and time logics Robertson demonstrates how migratory pathways have become far more complex than leaving one country for another and can profoundly affect the temporalities of everyday life from career pathways to intimate relationships Drawing on extensive ethnographic material Robertson deepens our understanding of the multifaceted relationship between migration and time
