Translator And Interpreter Training Issues Methods And Debates Bloomsbury Studies In Translation:

Translator and Interpreter Training John Kearns, 2008-05-12 As a research area education in the fields of translation and interpreting has received growing attention in recent years with the increasing professionalization of the language mediation sector demanding ever more highly trained employees with broader repertoires This trend is evidenced in the present collection which addresses issues in pedagogy in a variety of translation and interpreting domains A global range of contributors discuss teaching evaluation professionalization and competence as they apply to an array of educational and linguistic situations Translator and Interpreter Training Issues Methods and Debates presents an in depth consideration of the issues involved in this area of translation and interpreting studies and will be of interest to all students and academics working and researching in the field

The Bloomsbury Companion to Language Industry Studies Erik Angelone, Maureen Ehrensberger-Dow, Gary Massey, 2019-11-14 This volume provides a comprehensive overview of the key issues shaping the language industry including translation interpreting machine translation editing terminology management technology and accessibility By exploring current and future research topics and methods the Companion addresses language industry stakeholders researchers trainers and working professionals who are keen to know more about the dynamics of the language industry Providing systematic coverage of a diverse range of translation and interpreting related topics and featuring an A to Z of key terms The Bloomsbury Companion to Language Industry Studies examines how industry trends and technological advancement can optimize best practices in multilingual communication language industry workspaces and training

Self-Translation Anthony Cordingley, 2013-01-17 Self Translation Brokering originality in hybrid culture provides critical historical and interdisciplinary analyses of self translators and their works It investigates the challenges which the bilingual oeuvre and the experience of the self translator pose to conventional definitions of translation and the problematic dichotomies of original and translation author and translator Canonical self translators such as Samuel Beckett Vladimir Nabokov and Rabindranath Tagore are here discussed in the context of previously overlooked self translators from Japan to South Africa from the Basque Country to Scotland This book seeks therefore to offer a portrait of the diverse artistic and political objectives and priorities of self translators by investigating different cosmopolitan post colonial and indigenous practices Numerous contributions to this volume extend the scope of self translation to include the composition of a work out of a multilingual consciousness or society They demonstrate how production within hybrid contexts requires the negotiation of different languages within the self generating powerful experiences from crisis to liberation and texts that offer key insights into our increasingly globalized culture

Translation, Adaptation and Transformation Laurence Raw, 2012-01-12 In recent years adaptation studies has established itself as a discipline in its own right separate from translation studies The bulk of its activity to date has been restricted to literature and film departments focussing on questions of textual transfer and adaptation of text to film It is however much more interdisciplinary and is not simply a case of transferring content from one medium to another This collection furthers the research into exactly what the act of adaptation involves and whether it differs from other acts of textual rewriting In addition the cultural turn in translation studies has prompted many scholars to consider adaptation as a form of inter semiotic translation But what does this mean and how can we best theorize it What are the semiotic systems that underlie translation and adaptation Containing theoretical chapters and personal accounts of actual adaptations and translations this is an original contribution to translation and adaptation studies which will appeal to researchers and graduate students

Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies Mona Baker, Gabriela Saldanha, 2019-09-20 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies remains the most authoritative reference work for students and scholars interested in engaging with the phenomenon of translation in all its modes and in relation to a wide range of theoretical and methodological traditions This new edition provides a considerably expanded and updated revision of what appeared as Part I in the first and second editions Featuring 132 as opposed to the 75 entries in Part I of the second edition it offers authoritative critical overviews of additional topics such as authorship canonization conquest cosmopolitanism crowdsourced translation dubbing fan audiovisual translation genetic criticism healthcare interpreting hybridity intersectionality legal interpreting media interpreting memory multimodality nonprofessional interpreting note taking orientalism paratexts thick translation war and world literature Each entry ends with a set of annotated references for further reading Entries no longer appearing in this edition including historical overviews that previously appeared as Part II are now available online via the Routledge Translation Studies Portal Designed to support critical reflection teaching and research within as well as beyond the field of translation studies this is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of translation interpreting literary theory and social theory among other disciplines

Quality In Professional Translation Joanna Drugan, 2013-01-03 This book questions the prevalent assumption that ethnicity and nationalist politics had nothing to do with the Cold War and that far from being frozen until the fall of communism they remained central to the conflict in Europe Leading scholars bring their understanding of particular regions to bear on the wider issue of why ethnic explanations were written out of the discourse and whether this was a failure on the part of Western observers This in turn has led to an overly simple understanding of power flowing downwards from superpower to nation state and from state to society Engaging with key thinkers such as Gaddis Moynihan and Adam Roberts this collection ultimately allows such speculation to be replaced by historical research and bridges the gap between high politics and ethnic concerns

Translation and Creativity Kirsten Malmkjær, 2019-07-23 Kirsten Malmkjær argues that translating can and should be considered a valuable art form Examining notions of creativity and their relationship with translation and focusing on how the originality of translation is manifest in texts the author explores a range of texts and their translations in order to illustrate original as opposed to derivative translation With reference to thirty translators discourses on their source texts and the author's own experience of translating a short text Malmkjær explores the theory of creativity philosophical aesthetics the philosophy of language experimental and theoretical translation studies and translators discourses on their work Showing the relevance of these varied topics to the study of translating and translations underlines their complexity and the immensity of understanding that is regularly invested in translations This work proposes a complete rethinking of the concepts of creativity and originality as applied to translation and is vital reading for advanced students and researchers in translation studies and comparative literature Global Trends in Translator and Interpreter Training Séverine Hubscher-Davidson, Michal Borodo, 2012-06-07 This book looks at translator and interpreter training focusing on mediation and culture in a global context It updates numerous research currents in translator and interpreter education by situating them in relation to broader curricular and technological discussions Particular attention is given to the way in which translator and interpreter training relates both to other topics on university curricula and to recent developments in the professional sphere of language mediation These include the new European standard for translation services and the ethical training of interpreters The significant impact of new technologies in translation is also studied These discussions take place in the context of an increasingly mature and sophisticated theoretical environment of translator and interpreter training research one which recognizes the implications of discourses such as constructivism and objectives oriented design for new pedagogies in the field Words, Images and Performances in Translation Rita Wilson, Brigid Maher, 2012-02-02 Towards Authentic Experiential Learning in Translator Education (2nd Edition) Donald Kiraly, Gary Massey, 2019-11-18 This volume brings together the voices of a number of translation and interpreting scholars and educators representing several different cultures and language combinations in order to present their views on and experiences with authentic experiential learning in professional translation and interpreting programmes Readers who happen to be translator educators and who have not yet explored the possibility of incorporating authentic experiential learning into their teaching will be encouraged by this short collection of chapters to consider or reconsider this pedagogical option In addition the volume will inspire new and up and coming translator educators to reflect on their own understandings of what it means to know to learn and to teach as they set out to educate translators competently and wisely in this still new millennium Finally it also provides a context and justification for experiential learning on the wider canvas of teacher development and organizational learning This second edition includes two new chapters Chapters 10 and 11 and updated versions of many other chapters from the first edition
