William Jardine Proudfoot, 1861 Related in a Work Entitled Travels in China by John Barrow Preceded by a Preliminary Inquiry into the Nature of the Powerful Motive of the Same Author and Its Influence on His Duties at the Chinese Capital as Comptroller to the British Embassy in 1793 Travels in China John Barrow, 2015-11-25 Travels in China from John Barrow English statesman and writer 1764 1848 Travels, Explorations and Empires, 1770-1835, Part I Vol 2 Tim Fulford, Peter J Kitson, Tim Youngs, 2021-12-16 A collection of work that attempts to reflect the diversity of travel literature from the late 18th and early 19th centuries This literature often reveals something of the cultural and gender difference of the travellers as well as ideas on colonialism anthropology and slavery Travels in China John Barrow, 2010-07-29 In 1792 a British embassy headed by Earl Macartney travelled from Peking Beijing China to Canton Guangzhou with the aim of improving trade with China The complete account of the mission was recorded by the Earl's private secretary Sir John Barrow in Travels in China 1804 a work intended to shew this extraordinary people in their proper colours as well as to divest the court of the tinsel and tawdry varnish which Barrow thought that missionary accounts promoted Both a paean to British imperial ambitions and a compelling example of early nineteenth century travel literature Travels in China presents an account of Chinese government trade industry and cultural and religious practices through the eyes of one of England's most ardent expansionists Barrow would go on to write an account of the mutiny on H M S Bounty 1831 but Travels in China remained by far the more significant work in his lifetime Travels in China, Containing Descriptions, Observations, and Comparisons, Made and Collected in the Course of a Short Residence at the Imperial Palace of Yuen-Min-Yuen, and on a Subsequent Journey Through the Country from Peking to Canton. In which it is Attempted to Appreciate the Rank that this Extraordinary Empire May be Considered to Hold in the Scale of Civilized Nations. By John Barrow, Esq. Late Private Secretary to the Earl of Macartney, and One of His Suite as Ambassador from the King of Great Britain to the Emperor of China. Illustrated with Several Engravings Sir John Barrow, 1804 Britain's Chinese Eye Elizabeth Chang, 2010-04-20 This book traces the intimate connections between Britain and China throughout the nineteenth century and argues for China's central impact on the modern British visual imagination through a study of gardens blue and white willow plates the opium den and the photograph and literary texts British Travel Writing from China, 1798-1901, Volume 1 Elizabeth H Chang, 2022-01-26 In 1793 Lord Macartney led the first British diplomatic mission to China in over one hundred years This five volume reset edition draws together British travel writings about China throughout the next century The collection ends with the Boxer Uprising which marked the beginning of the end of informal British empire on the Chinese mainland Travels in an Upside-Down World Derek Geoffrey Sidenius, 2025-08-19 This is a book about discovering China from both historical and personal perspectives It covers a five year period from 1984 when China's modernizations were just taking hold to 1989 and the student led Tiananmen protest that culminated in a vicious crackdown and a draconian aftermath During this time the author taught at a major university of China s Ministry of Public Security in Beijing and worked as a journalist for China s top media outlets also in Beijing The book examines aspects of both China s educational system and its approach to covering the news It contains accounts of travels to all parts of the country sometimes on the author s own sometimes with friends and colleagues and sometimes with his two teenaged daughters joining him from Canada Featured also is a story of the author and his daughter Katharine being chosen for movie parts shot on location in a remote region of the country as well as trips with his daughters to other countries one crossing Asia on the Trans Siberian Railway and another climbing Kilimanjaro Africa s highest mountain In his book the author says every day was an epiphany Often the result was beyond expectation The sum effect of his varied experiences in an upside down world was to turn his own world upside down too
