With Roots and Wings Jay B. McDaniel, 2009-06-26 In With Roots to be open to the insights of people of other faiths as well as to share our own and to become centered on God McDaniel shows where the new universe story of Thomas Berry and Brian Swimme and the Christian story meet and differ where they complement and where they supplement one another With Roots Wings shows how to experience both green grace that comes from opening one's self to the rhythms of the cosmos and red grace symbolized in the crucifixion of Christ both of which are vital to a Christian ecological spirituality and praxis Most impressive is McDaniel's ability to absorb and reflect important lessons Christians can learn from Native Americans from Buddhists and Hindus from Muslims and Jews The complexity of the issues he addresses and his ability to explain them simply and clearly makes With Roots and Wings must reading for the general reader as well as ecological activists clergy and laity alike Nothing else comes near it in depth power and insight With Roots and Wings Jay Byrd McDaniel, 2009

Liberal Protestantism and Science Leslie A. Muray, 2007-12-30 Many students and members of the public who follow news reports on science and religion may think that Protestantism and science are in conflict But while evangelical attacks on evolution may make the headlines many mainstream Protestant groups have long embraced science and the scientific worldview This volume in the Greenwood Guides to Science and Religion covers those Protestant thinkers who seek to use the insights of science to further their understanding of religion and faith In addition the volume will also discuss such trends at the liberal protestant acceptance of evolution the advent of ecotheology and the Social Gospel The volume includes a selection of primary source documents a glossary and a timeline and an annotated bibliography of the most useful resources for further research context of current theological sociological political or environmental issues The End of Divine Truthiness: Love, Power, and God Paul Joseph Greene,2017-08-01 In The End of Divine Truthiness Paul Joseph Greene confronts stark realities of terrifying theologies that make a mockery out of divine love With urgent resolve Greene answers Martin Luther King Jr s pointed challenge to overcome reckless and abusive power without love and sentimental and anemic love without power Too many theologies cast God either as the tyrant whose loveless power lifts up the mighty or the victim whose powerless love sends the poor away empty Wielding Stephen Colbert s word truthiness as a scalpel Greene slices out one perilous theology after another to restore the wholesome truth that God is love Supported by three world religions Buddhism Christianity and Taoism he discovers a remarkably harmonious and revolutionary divine power that is fully aligned with divine love To reunify love and power here in the world as King challenges it is time to abandon ideologies of divine power that devastate divine love and promote atrocities Greene s call for the end of divine truthiness heralds a new day for the God whose love is power and whose power is love Current Contents Institute for Scientific Information (Philadelphia),1997 God is Green Bob Shore-Goss,2016-10-28 At this time of climate crisis here is a practical Christian ecospirituality It emerges from the pastoral and theological experience of Reverend Robert Shore Goss who worked with his congregation by making the earth a member of the church by greening worship and by helping the church building and operations attain a carbon neutral footprint Shore Goss explores an ecospirituality grounded in incarnational compassion Practicing incarnational compassion means following the lived praxis of Jesus and the commission of the risen Christ as Gardener Jesus becomes the green face of God Restrictive Christian spiritualities that exclude the earth as an original blessing of God must expand This expansion leads to the realization that the incarnation of Christ has deep roots in the earth and the fleshly or biological tissue of life This book aims to foster ecological conversation in churches and outlines the following practices for congregations meditating on nature inviting sermons on green topics covenanting with the earth and retrieving the natural elements of the sacraments These practices help us recover ourselves as fleshly members of the earth and the network of life If we fall in love with God s creation says Shore Goss we will fight against climate change American Baptist Quarterly ,1998 The Encyclopedia of Christianity Erwin Fahlbusch,Geoffrey William Bromiley,1999 Containing more than 300 articles covering the alphabetical entries P Sh this book also includes articles on significant topics ranging from Paul political theology and the Qur an to religious liberty salvation history and scholasticism African Earthkeepers M. L. Daneel,2001 Marthinus L Daneel profiles an African instituted interfaith earthkeeping mission that illustrates the transformation of the religious landscape now underway in the sub Saharan world Part One introduces the African initiated churches showing how their earthkeeping movement in Zimbabwe gives voice to African religious convictions as the people struggle with drought and moribund political structures In Part Two Daneel reflects theologically on the independent church movement helping the reader understand the meaning and challenge of these churches This book is the single best study of the African Independent

Church movement available today Christian Faith and the Environment Brennan Hill,1998 American Book Publishing Record ,1995 Divinity & Diversity Marjorie Suchocki,2003 One of today s foremost theologians presents the case for embracing religious pluralism as integral to the Christian gospel Religious pluralism is a fact in North American society today More than at any other time adherents of different religious traditions live work and play side by side Yet the fact of religious pluralism creates a tension for a large number of Christians At the same time they have realized that Muslims Hindus Buddhists Jews and members of many other religious groups have become their neighbors they are also aware of Christian teachings that seem to exclude these groups Statements such as no one comes to the Father except through me and outside the church there is no salvation seem to imply that these new neighbors are not part of the family of God or at least that their religious beliefs and practices are not viable avenues to human wholeness and salvation In this insightful and irenic work Marjorie Hewitt Suchocki demonstrates that Christians need not ignore nor even compromise the teachings of the gospel in order to accept and rejoice in religious pluralism She argues that the Christian doctrines of creation incarnation the image of God and the reign of God make the diversity of religions necessary Without such diversity the rich and deep community of humanity that is the goal of the Christian gospel cannot be realized Along the way Suchocki rejects the exclusivist claim that there can be no relationship with God apart from the church and the inclusivist idea that Christianity is the highest expression of the search for God with other religions possessing in part that which Christians possess in full She argues instead for a pluralist position insisting on a full recognition of the distinctive gifts that all of the religious traditions bring to the human table Regent University law review ,2003 Zygon ,2006 The University of Dayton Review University of Dayton,1996 The Catholic Periodical and Literature Index ,1995
