Transforming Otherness Peter Nynas, 2017-07-28 Today people in different situations and contexts face intercultural challenges These are a result of increasing mobility Sometimes such challenges are brought about by crisis situations and an international labor market However people also come in contact with each other through forms of new technology such as the Internet and through literature and film In these multicultural encounters misunderstandings and sometimes clashes are experienced This volume presents studies in culture communication and language all of which strive through a variety of theoretical perspectives to develop understanding of such challenges and perhaps offer practical solutions Encountering otherness may evoke fears negative attitudes and a corresponding will to dismiss the otherness in front of us either consciously or unconsciously This denial of otherness may also be subtle Thinking about otherness as described in this volume also raises questions about how otherness is represented and mediated and about the possible role of third parties in facilitating communication in such situations Sometimes a third party can play a crucial role in facilitating the communication process and serve as a channel of communication Trust in humanity as a bridge to community requires a subtle balance between representations of self and other Various problems arise in intercultural mediation which may be caused by cultural and political differences and these are sometimes used to validate stereotypical beliefs and images The editors argue that in both academic and art circles European perspectives have widely been understood as universal

Gloria E. Anzaldúa Grażyna Zygań, 2023-10-17 Gloria E Anzaldúa is a crucial figure in contemporary border and women's studies When in 1987 she published her groundbreaking book Borderlands La Frontera The New Mestiza she became one of the most often quoted writers of the US Mexico border but she remains relatively little known outside Americas In one of the first monographs written on her work Grażyna Zygań introduces Anzaldúa's work and outlines her feminist revisionist thinking to new audiences especially in Europe The author defines these borderlands as areas where numerous systems of power exploitation and oppression intersect capitalism patriarchy racism and white man's supremacy She also concentrates on the innovative philosophy of women's writing from the body that Anzaldúa has propagated and on her formative role in the women of color feminism Zygań also works to expand Anzaldúa's borderland thinking by applying it to the recent issues related to migration crisis and border problems in the European Union namely the contradictory treatment of refugees at the Polish eastern border Gloria E Anzaldúa is situated at the intersection of various disciplines in particular American cultural studies feminist criticism and Latin American postcolonial studies and is a valuable source of knowledge about Anzaldúa's ideas for undergraduate and graduate students
