The Killing of Cambodia: Geography, Genocide and the Unmaking of Space James A. Tyner,2017-05-15 Between 1975 and 1978 the Khmer Rouge carried out genocide in Cambodia unparalleled in modern history Approximately 2 million died almost one quarter of the population Taking an explicitly geographical approach this book argues whether the Khmer Rouge s activities not only led to genocide but also terraced the erasure of space In the Cambodia of 1975 the landscape would reveal vestiges of an indigenous pre colonial Khmer society a French colonialism and American intervention The Khmer Rouge however were not content with retaining the past inscriptions of previous modes of production and spatial practices Instead they attempted to erase time and space to create their own utopian vision of a communal society The Khmer Rouge s erasing and reshaping of space was thus part of a consistent sacrifice of Cambodia and its people a brutal justification for the killing of a country and the birth of a new place Democratic Kampuchea While focusing on Cambodia the book provides a clearer geographic understanding to genocide in general and insights into the importance of spatial factors in geopolitical conflict From Rice Fields to

Killing Fields James A. Tyner,2017-10-13 Between 1975 and 1979 the Communist Party of Kampuchea fundamentally transformed the social economic political and natural landscape of Cambodia During this time as many as two million Cambodians died from exposure disease and starvation or were executed at the hands of the Party The dominant interpretation of Cambodian history during this period presents the CPK as a totalitarian communist and autarkic regime seeking to reorganize Cambodian society around a primitive agrarian political economy From Rice Fields to Killing Fields challenges previous interpretations and provides a documentary based Marxist interpretation of the political economy of Democratic Kampuchea Tyner argues that Cambodia s mass violence was the consequence not of the deranged attitudes and paranoia of a few tyrannical leaders but that the violence was structural the direct result of a series of political and economic reforms that were designed to accumulate capital rapidly the dispossession of hundreds of thousands of people through forced evacuations the imposition of starvation wages the promotion of import substitution policies and the intensification of agricultural production through forced labor Moving beyond the Cambodian genocide Tyner maintains that it is a mistake to view Democratic Kampuchea in isolation as an aberration or something unique Rather the policies and practices initiated by the Khmer Rouge must be seen in a larger historical geographical context American Cinema of the 1910s Charlie

Keil,Ben Singer,2009-02-04 It was during the teens that filmmaking truly came into its own Notably the migration of studios to the West Coast established a connection between moviemaking and the exoticism of Hollywood The essays in American Cinema of the 1910s explore the rapid developments of the decade that began with D W Griffith s unrivaled one reelers By mid decade multi reel feature films were profoundly reshaping the industry and deluxe theaters were built to attract the broadest possible audience Stars like Mary Pickford Charlie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks became vitally important and companies began writing high profile contracts to secure them With the outbreak of World War I the political economic and industrial groundwork was laid for American cinema s global dominance By the end of the decade filmmaking had become a true industry complete with vertical integration efficient specialization and standardization of practices and self regulatory agencies Film Stardom, Myth and Classicism M. Williams,2012-11-16 Since the golden era of silent movies stars have been described as screen gods goddesses and idols This is the story of how Olympus moved to Hollywood to divinise stars as Apollos and Venuses for the modern age and defined a model of stardom that is still with us today Répertitres François

Verschaeve,2007 Elite Rivalry, Mass Killing and Genocide in Authoritarian Regimes Eelco van der Maat,2024-06-18 This book explains how mass killing is driven by elite politics within authoritarian regimes Mass killing and genocide defy reason and explanation How can genocidal elites present defenceless victims as an existential threat Why use indiscriminate killing that drives victims to coordinated resistance Mass killing seems counterproductive irrational and therefore inherently ideological By building on new insights on authoritarian politics this book argues that mass killing is not ideological but instead is a rational response to elite rivalry within authoritarian regimes Mass killing is therefore not driven by rivalries between groups but by elite rivalry within groups In Rwanda for example the genocide was not driven by conflicts between Hutu and Tutsi but by conflicts within the Hutu regime The work demonstrates how mass killing helps elites build coalitions with groups that benefit from violence and how it divides support coalitions of rival elites Mass killing can therefore help elites win dangerous internal rivalries By qualitatively and quantitatively exploring elite rivalry and mass killing this book provides a new explanation for a host of mass killings and genocides It demonstrates that well known genocides such as the Rwandan and Cambodian genocides which are seemingly ideological are instead better explained by elite rivalry Mass killing is therefore not driven by the random madness of leaders nor by the desire to kill an outgroup but by the internal threats that authoritarian elites face This book will be of much interest to scholars and students of civil wars genocide political violence and International Relations in general
