Vanishing Point Not A Memoir:

Vanishing Point Ander Monson, 2010-03-30 An adventurous exploration of the I in American culture by the author of Neck Deep and Other Predicaments Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me Me In contemporary America land of tell all memoirs and endless reality television what kind of person denies the opportunity to present himself in his own voice to lead with I How many layers of a life can be peeled back before the self vanishes In this provocative witty series of meditations Ander Monson faces down the idea of memoir grappling with the lure of selfinterest and self presentation While setting out to describe the experience of serving as head juror at the trial of Michael Antwone Jordan he can't help veering off into an examination of his own transgressions inadvertent and otherwise He scrutinizes his private experience of the public funeral ceremony for Gerald R Ford He considers his addiction to chemically concocted Doritos and disappointment in the plain natural corn chip and finds that the manufactured considered form at least in snacks is ultimately a more rewarding experience than the truth So why is America so crazy about accurately confessional memoirs With Vanishing Point Monson delivers on the promise shown in Neck Deep which introduced his winning voice and ability to redefine the essay and puts most memoirs to shame Time Out Chicago

Composition, Creative Writing Studies, and the Digital Humanities

Adam Koehler, 2017-01-26 In an era of blurred generic boundaries multimedia storytelling and open source culture creative writing scholars stand poised to consider the role that technology and the creative writer's playful engagement with technology has occupied in the evolution of its theory and practice Composition Creative Writing Studies and the Digital Humanities is the first book to bring these three fields together to open up new opportunities and directions for creative writing studies Placing the rise of Creative Writing Studies alongside the rise of the digital humanities in Composition Rhetoric Adam Koehler shows that the use of new media and its attendant re-evaluation of fundamental assumptions in the field stands to guide Creative Writing Studies into a new era Covering current developments in composition and the digital humanities this book re-examines established assumptions about process genre authority authorship and pedagogical practice in the creative writing classroom

Writing the South through the Self

John C. Inscoe, 2011-05-01 Drawing on two decades of teaching a college level course on southern history as viewed through autobiography and memoir John C Inscoe has crafted a series of essays exploring the southern experience as reflected in the life stories of those who lived it Constantly attuned to the pedagogical value of these narratives Inscoe argues that they offer exceptional means of teaching young people because the authors focus so fully on their confrontations as children adolescents and young adults with aspects of southern life that they found to be troublesome perplexing or challenging Maya Angelou Rick Bragg Jimmy Carter Bessie and Sadie Delany Willie Morris Pauli Murray Lillian Smith and Thomas Wolfe are among the more prominent of the many writers both famous and obscure that Inscoe draws on to construct a composite portrait of the South at its most complex and diverse The power of place struggles with racial ethnic and class identities the strength and strains of family educational opportunities both embraced and thwarted all of these are themes that infuse the works in this most intimate and humanistic of historical genres Full of powerful and poignant stories anecdotes and testimonials Writing the South through the Self explores the emotional and psychological dimensions of what it has meant to be southern and offers us new ways of understanding the forces that have shaped southern identity in such multifaceted ways A Companion to American
