Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and physical fitness of obese women. The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The subjects were 10 obese women (mean age 45.5 years, range 35–55 years, mean BMI 35.5 kg/m², range 32.5–38.5 kg/m²). The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group (n = 5) and an intervention group (n = 5). The control group maintained their current diet and lifestyle, while the intervention group followed a 1000 kcal energy deficit diet. The study was conducted over a 10-week period. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 10 weeks. The assessments included body composition (body mass index, body fat percentage, lean body mass) and physical fitness (maximal oxygen consumption, maximal heart rate, maximal power output). The results showed that the intervention group had a significant decrease in body mass index, body fat percentage, and lean body mass compared to the control group. The intervention group also had a significant increase in maximal oxygen consumption, maximal heart rate, and maximal power output compared to the control group. The results suggest that a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet can improve body composition and physical fitness in obese women.
