Hearings Before the House Select Committee on Lobbying Activities, House of Representatives, Eighty-first Congress, Second Session, Created Pursuant to H. Res. 298 United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Lobbying Activities, 1950 Black on the Block Mary Pattillo, 2010-04-02 In Black on the Block Mary Pattillo a Newsweek Woman of the 21st Century uses the historic rise alarming fall and equally dramatic renewal of Chicago's North Kenwood Oakland neighborhood to explore the politics of race and class in contemporary urban America There was a time when North Kenwood Oakland was plagued by gangs drugs violence and the font of poverty from which they sprang But in the late 1980s activists rose up to tackle the social problems that had plagued the area for decades Black on the Block tells the remarkable story of how these residents laid the groundwork for a revitalized and self consciously black neighborhood that continues to flourish today But theirs is not a tale of easy consensus and political unity and here Pattillo teases out the divergent class interests that have come to define black communities like North Kenwood Oakland She explores the often heated battles between haves and have nots home owners and apartment dwellers and newcomers and old timers as they clash over the social implications of gentrification Along the way Pattillo highlights the conflicted but crucial role that middle class blacks play in transforming such districts as they negotiate between established centers of white economic and political power and the needs of their less fortunate black neighbors A century from now when today's sociologists and journalists are dust and their books are too those who want to understand what the hell happened to Chicago will be finding the answer in this one Chicago Reader To see how diversity creates strange and sometimes awkward bedfellows turn to Mary Pattillo's Black on the Block Boston Globe

Last Project Standing Catherine Fennell, 2015-11-28 In 1995 a half vacant public housing project on Chicago's Near West Side fell to the wrecking ball The demolition and reconstruction of the Henry Horner housing complex ushered in the most ambitious urban housing experiment of its kind smaller mixed income and partially privatized developments that the thinking went would mitigate the insecurity isolation and underemployment that plagued Chicago's infamously troubled public housing projects Focusing on Horner's redevelopment Catherine Fennell asks how Chicago's endeavor transformed everyday built environments into laboratories for teaching urbanites about the rights and obligations of belonging to a city and a nation that seemed incapable of taking care of its most destitute citizens Drawing on more than three years of ethnographic and archival research she shows how collisions with everything from haywire heating systems and decaying buildings to silent neighbors became an education in the possibilities but also the limits of collective care concern and protection in the aftermath of welfare failure As she documents how the materiality of both the unsuccessful older projects and the recently emerging housing fosters feelings of belonging and loss her work engages larger debates in critical anthropology and poverty studies and opens a vital new perspective on the politics of space race and development in urban America

Ghosts in the Schoolyard Eve L. Ewing, 2020-04-10 Failing schools Underprivileged schools Just plain bad schools That's how Eve L Ewing opens Ghosts in the Schoolyard describing Chicago Public Schools from the outside The way politicians and pundits and parents of kids who attend other schools talk about them with a mix of pity and contempt But Ewing knows Chicago Public Schools from the inside as a student then a teacher and now a scholar who studies them And that perspective has shown her that public schools are not buildings full of failures they re an integral part of their neighborhoods at the heart of their communities storehouses of history and memory that bring people together Never was that role more apparent than in 2013 when Mayor Rahm Emanuel announced an unprecedented wave of school closings Pitched simultaneously as a solution to a budget problem a response to declining enrollments and a chance to purge bad schools that were dragging down the whole system the plan was met with a roar of protest from parents students and teachers But if these schools were so bad why did people care so much about keeping them open to the point that some would even go on a hunger strike Ewing s answer begins with a story of systemic racism inequality bad faith and distrust that stretches deep into Chicago history Rooting her exploration in the historic African American neighborhood of Bronzeville Ewing reveals that this issue is about much more than just schools Black communities see the closing of their schools schools that are certainly less than perfect but that are theirs as one more in a long line of racist policies The fight to keep them open is yet another front in the ongoing struggle of black people in America to build successful lives and achieve true self determination
