Treatment For Posttraumatic Stress Disorder In Military And Veteran Populations Final Assessment

Elaine Miller-Karas

Treatment For Posttraumatic Stress Disorder In Military And Veteran Populations Final Assessment:

Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Institute of Medicine, Board on the Health of Select Populations, Committee on the Assessment of Ongoing Efforts in the Treatment of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder, 2012-07-22 Prior to the military conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan wars and conflicts have been characterized by such injuries as infectious diseases and catastrophic gunshot wounds. However, the signature injuries sustained by United States military personnel in these most recent conflicts are blast wounds and the psychiatric consequences to combat, particularly posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), which affects an estimated 13 to 20 percent of U.S. service members who have fought in Iraq or Afghanistan since 2001. PTSD is triggered by a specific traumatic event including combat, which leads to symptoms such as persistent re-experiencing of the event, emotional numbing or avoidance of thoughts, feelings, conversations or places associated with the trauma, and hyperarousal such as exaggerated startle responses or difficulty concentrating. As the U.S. reduces its military involvement in the Middle East, the Departments of Defense (DoD) and Veterans Affairs (VA) anticipate that increasing numbers of returning veterans will need PTSD services. As a result, Congress asked the DoD in consultation with the VA to sponsor an IOM study to assess both departments' PTSD treatment programs and services. Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Initial Assessment is the first of two mandated reports. It examines some of the available programs to prevent, diagnose, treat, and rehabilitate those who have PTSD and encourages further research that can help to improve PTSD care.

Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Committee on the Assessment of Ongoing Efforts in the Treatment of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder, Board on the Health of Select Populations, Institute of Medicine, 2014-06-17 Posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is one of the signature injuries of the U.S. conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq, but it affects veterans of all eras. It is estimated that 7-20% of service members and veterans who served in Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom may have the disorder. PTSD is characterized by a combination of mental health symptoms: re-experiencing of a traumatic event, avoidance of trauma-associated stimuli, adverse alterations in thoughts and mood, and hyperarousal that last at least 1 month and impair functioning. PTSD can be lifelong and pervade all aspects of a service member's or veteran's life, including mental and physical health, family, and social relationships and employment. It is often concurrent with other health problems such as depression, traumatic brain injury, chronic pain, substance abuse disorder, and intimate partner violence. The Department of Defense (DoD) and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provide a spectrum of programs and services to screen for, diagnose, treat, and rehabilitate service members and veterans who have or are at risk for PTSD. The 2010 National Defense Authorization Act asked the Institute of Medicine to assess those PTSD programs and services in two phases. The Phase 1 study, Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Initial Assessment, focused on data gathering. Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Final Assessment is the report of the second phase of the study This report analyzes the data received in Phase 1 specifically to determine the rates of success for each program or method Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Final Assessment considers what a successful PTSD management system is and whether and how such a system is being implemented by DoD and VA This includes an assessment of what care is given and to whom how effectiveness is measured what types of mental health care providers are available what influences whether a service member or veteran seeks care and what are the costs associated with that care This report focuses on the opportunities and challenges that DoD and VA face in developing implementing and evaluating services and programs in the context of achieving a high performing system to care for service members and veterans who have PTSD The report also identifies where gaps or new emphases might be addressed to improve prevention of screening for diagnosis of and treatment and rehabilitation for the disorder The findings and recommendations of Treatment for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder in Military and Veteran Populations Final Assessment will encourage DoD and VA to increase their efforts in moving toward a high performing comprehensive integrated PTSD management strategy that addresses the needs of current and future service members veterans and their families

Building Resilience to Trauma Elaine Miller-Karas,2015-02-20 After a traumatic experience survivors often experience a cascade of physical emotional cognitive behavioral and spiritual responses that leave them feeling unbalanced and threatened Building Resilience to Trauma explains these common responses from a biological perspective reframing the human experience from one of shame and pathology to one of hope and biology It also presents alternative approaches the Trauma Resiliency Model TRM and the Community Resiliency Model CRM which offer concrete and practical skills that resonate with what we know about the biology of trauma In programs co sponsored by the World Health Organization the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee ADRA International and the department of behavioral health of San Bernardino County the TRM and the CRM have been used to reduce and in some cases eliminate the symptoms of trauma by helping survivors regain a sense of balance Clinicians will find that they can use the models with almost anyone who has experienced or witnessed any event that was perceived as life threatening or posed a serious injury to themselves or to others The models can also be used to treat symptoms of vicarious traumatization and compassion fatigue

Evidence-Based Treatments for Trauma-Related Disorders in Children and Adolescents Markus A. Landolt,Marylène Cloitre,Ulrich

Schnyder,2025-02-07 The second completely revised and updated edition of this handbook presents the current evidence based psychological treatments for trauma related disorders in childhood and adolescence In addition it provides clearly structured up to date information on the fundamental principles of traumatic stress research and practice in this age group covering epidemiology developmental issues pathogenetic models diagnostics and assessment Each of the chapters on treatment which form the core of the book begins with a summary of the theoretical underpinnings of the approach followed by a case presentation illustrating the treatment protocol session by session an analysis of special challenges typically encountered in implementing this treatment and an overview of the current evidence supporting the treatment approach An innovative new section has been added to address the needs of emerging populations featuring four new chapters that delve into the treatment of preschoolers forcibly displaced children and adolescents sexual and gender minorities and indigenous populations A special section considers treatments in particular settings such as schools hospitals and juvenile justice systems The concluding chapter provides an integrative discussion on how to effectively treat traumatized children and adolescents and an outlook into future developments This book will be invaluable for clinical child and adolescent psychologists child and adolescent psychiatrists psychotherapists and other mental health professionals dedicated to the care of traumatized children and adolescents Treating Complex Traumatic Stress Disorders in Adults Julian D.

Ford,Christine A. Courtois,2020-04-03 Revision of Treating complex traumatic stress disorders 2009 Beyond Trauma: Hope and Healing for Warriors Dean Bonura,2016-03-03 It is estimated that well over 250 000 military veterans from Iraq and Afghanistan are suffering today from PTSD and even more from post traumatic stress or PTS Clinical interventions alone do not adequately address all the issues associated with PTSD There is also a profound spiritual dimension to trauma and it is frequently manifested in post trauma symptoms such as guilt grief and shame and in various forms of loss including loss of meaning loss of faith and loss of peace Pastors chaplains and Christian counselors have a legitimate healing role alongside clinicians in addressing the spiritual aspects of trauma through spiritual interventions that are based on Scripture and leverage new ways of viewing trauma and assumptions about its meaning Beyond Trauma Hope Healing for Warriors equips pastors chaplains and other pastoral caregivers with the knowledge and resources to not only understand the spiritual effects of trauma but to make appropriate interventions that will lead veterans in their churches and communities to healing and growth Clear and Present Safety Michael A. Cohen,Micah Zenko,2019-03-26 An eye opening look at the history of national security fear mongering in America and how it distracts citizens from the issues that really matter What most frightens the average American Terrorism North Korea Iran But what if none of these are probable or consequential threats to America What if the world today is safer freer wealthier healthier and better educated than ever before What if the real dangers to Americans are noncommunicable diseases gun violence drug overdoses even hospital infections In this compelling look at what they call the Threat Industrial Complex Michael A Cohen and Micah Zenko explain why politicians policy analysts academics and journalists are misleading Americans about foreign threats and ignoring more serious national security challenges at home Cohen and Zenko argue that we should ignore Washington s threat mongering and focus instead on furthering extraordinary global advances in human development and economic and political cooperation At home we should focus on that which actually harms us and undermines our quality of life substandard schools and healthcare inadequate infrastructure gun violence income inequality and political paralysis Moral Injury in Veterans and Active Duty

Military with PTSD Harold G. Koenig, Donna Ames, Arndt Büssing, 2019-12-11 This eBook focuses on a relatively new frontier in psychiatry the topic of moral injury MI which is examined here in the setting of post traumatic stress disorder PTSD among Veterans and Active Duty Military We define MI describe how to identify it by screening explain the impact that MI has on mental health outcomes particularly PTSD and mental health problems often associated with PTSD and provide information on what clinicians can do about it While the focus here is on Veterans and Active Duty Military MI is much more widespread than just among former or current military personnel Healthcare professionals first responders clergy and many patients seeking mental health care are also likely suffering from MI which is not recognized or treated because clinicians are not familiar with it Burnout among health professionals and those engaged in other high stress occupations may often have MI as an underlying condition that is driving the burnout or related emotional condition Therefore psychiatrists and all mental health professionals must know about this syndrome utilize the tools now available to identify it and learn about interventions that can be employed to treat it Success in treating many of the common mental health conditions that appear resistant to treatment may depend on knowing about this new yet very old syndrome Principle-Based Stepped Care and Brief Psychotherapy for Integrated Care Settings Alexandros Maragakakis, William T.
