When Addictions Threaten Christian Care:

When Addictions Threaten Charles T. Knippel, 2000-10 Get a biblical perspective and practice advice on how addictions form and how to recover from them Lutheran Forum, 2000 Making Christian Counseling More Christ Centered Rick W. Marrs Ph.D., 2019-09-13 Many Christian counselors and pastors want to bring Christ's Gospel and forgiveness into their soul care but don't know how Luther's very Christ-centered theology based in his desire for care of souls can provide us with that foundation Various techniques flowing from that foundation are shared Martin Luther formulated his proclamation of the message of Scripture for his contemporaries between the poles of God's voice in the pages of the Bible and the needs and afflictions of his hearers and readers Marrs brings twenty-first century readers into that exchange and demonstrates how Luther's insights into the gospel of Jesus Christ help bring healing and comfort to those struggling with guilt shame fear loneliness and other spiritual afflictions in our day This volume provides those who are engaged in conversation with the troubled and distressed rich resources for fostering peace and joy in the midst of such trouble and distress Robert Kolb PhD professor of systematic theology emeritus Concordia Seminary Saint Louis USA If all good theology is pastoral in its orientation then this groundbreaking practical biblical study is well worth careful consideration by any pastor or Christian counsellor In it Marrs engages in a conversation with the teaching of Luther as a Christ-centered pastoral theologian and the practical insights of psychologists on the personal care of their clients with a special emphasis on Luther's insistence on the need to distinguish between law and gospel in the proper application of God's gracious word with the delivery of soul care to God's people John W Kleinig PhD Professor Emeritus Australian Lutheran College University of Divinity Adelaide South Australia Addicted to Christ Helena Hansen, 2018-04-24 How are spiritual power and self-transformation cultivated in street ministries In Addicted to Christ Helena Hansen provides an in-depth analysis of Pentecostal ministries in Puerto Rico that were founded and managed by self-identified ex-addicts Richly ethnographic the book melds Hansen's dual expertise in public anthropology and psychology Through her interviewees' stories she examines key elements of the Pentecostal system mysticism ascetic practice and the idea of otherworldliness She then shares the strategies of Pentecostal ministries which according to street ministries are the core elements of spiritual victory over addiction transformation techniques to build spiritual strength and authority through pain and discipline cultivation of alternative masculinities based on male converts reclamation of domestic space and radical rupture from a post-industrial culture of disposability By contrasting the ministries' logic of addiction with that of biomedicine Hansen rethinks roads to recovery while discovering unexpected convergences with biomedicine revealing the true sway of street corner ministries Provided by publisher Alcohol, Addiction and Christian Ethics Christopher C. H. Cook, 2006-05-04 Addictive disorders are characterised by a division of the will in which the addict is attracted both by a desire to continue the addictive behaviour and also by a desire to stop it Academic perspectives on this predicament usually come from clinical and scientific standpoints with the moral model rejected as outmoded But Christian theology has a long history of thinking and writing on such problems and offers insights which are helpful to scientific and ethical reflection upon the nature of addiction Chris Cook reviews Christian theological and ethical reflection upon the problems of alcohol use and misuse from biblical times until the present day Drawing particularly upon the writings of St Paul the Apostle and Augustine of Hippo a critical theological model of addiction is developed Alcohol dependence is also viewed in the broader ethical perspective of the use and misuse of alcohol within communities

Christian Nationalism and the Birth of the War on Drugs Andrew Monteith, 2023-07-18 Recovers the religious origins of the War on Drugs Many people view the War on Drugs as a contemporary phenomenon invented by the Nixon administration But as this new book shows the conflict actually began more than a century before when American Protestants began the temperance movement and linked drug use with immorality Christian Nationalism and the Birth of the War on Drugs argues that this early drug war was deeply rooted in Christian impulses While many scholars understand Prohibition to have been a Protestant undertaking it is considerably less common to consider the War on Drugs this way in part because racism has understandably been the focal point of discussions of the drug war Antidrug activists expressed and still do express blatant white supremacist and nativist motives Yet this book argues that that racism was intertwined with religious impulses Reformers pursued the civilizing mission a wide ranging project that sought to protect child races from harmful influences while remodeling their cultures to look like Europe and the United States Most reformers saw Christianity as essential to civilization and missionaries felt that banning drugs would encourage religious conversion and progress This compelling work of scholarship radically reshapes our understanding of one of the longest and most damaging conflicts in modern American history making the case that we cannot understand the War on Drugs unless we understand its religious origins

Addiction Treatment Daniel Hood, 2017-09-08 Addiction Treatment is an ethnography that compares two types of residential drug free treatment programs religious faith based programs and science based secular programs Although these programs have originated from significantly different ideological bases in examining the day to day operations of each Daniel E Hood concludes that they are far more alike than they are different Drug free treatment today whether in secular or religious form is little more than a remnant of the temperance movement It is a warning to stop using drugs At its best treatment provides practical advice and support for complete abstinence At its worst it demeans users for a form of behavior that is not well understood and threatens death if they do not stop Hood argues that there is no universal agreement on what addiction is and that drug abuse is little more than a catch all term of no specific meaning used to condemn behavior that is socially unacceptable Through extensive participatory observations intimate life history interviews and informal conversations with residents and staff Hood shows how both programs use the same basic techniques of ideological persuasion mutual witnessing methods of social control discourse deprivation and the same proposed zero tolerance abstinent lifestyle Christian living vs Right living as they endeavor to transform clients from addicts to citizens or from
