When Champagne Became French When Champagne Became French:

When Champagne Became French Kolleen M. Guy, 2007-09 This work explains how nationhood emerges by viewing countries as cultural artifacts a product of invented traditions In the case of France scholars disagree not only over the nature of French national identity but also over the extent to which diverse and sometimes hostile provincial communities became integrated into the nation The author offers a new perspective by looking at one of the central elements in French national culture luxury wine and the rural communities that profited from its production When Champagne Became French Kolleen M. Guy, 2007-09-01 Winner of the 2002 Manuscript Award from Phi Alpha Theta Winner of the Gourmand World Cookbook Awards for English Wine Best Wine History Book and Best Book on French Wine Winner of the Clicquot Wine Book of the Year Competition Winner of the Outstanding Manuscript Award from Phi Alpha Theta this work explains how nationhood emerges by viewing countries as cultural artifacts a product of invented traditions In the case of France scholars sharply disagree not only over the nature of French national identity but also over the extent to which diverse and sometimes hostile provincial communities became integrated into the nation In When Champagne Became French Wine and the Making of a National Identity Kolleen M Guy offers a new perspective on this debate by looking at one of the central elements in French national culture luxury wine and the rural communities that profited from its production Focusing on the development of the champagne industry between 1820 and 1920 Guy explores the role of private interests in the creation of national culture and in the nation building process Drawing on concepts from social and cultural history she shows how champagne helped fuel the revolution in consumption as social groups searched for new ways to develop cohesion and to establish status By the end of the nineteenth century Guy concludes the champagne producing provinces in the department of Marne had developed a rhetoric of French identity that promoted its own marketing success as national This ability to mask local interests as national concerns convinced government officials of the need at both national and international levels to protect champagne as a French patrimony The Politics of Historical Memory and Commemoration in Africa Cassandra Mark-Thiesen, Moritz Mihatsch, Michelle Sikes, 2021-12-06 Essays in Memory of Jan Georg Deutsch The volume observes some of the principles that drove Prof Jan Georg Deutsch's research highlighting present day politics for the way they shape historical remembrance learning from people on the ground through fieldwork and oral history and bringing various parts of the African continent into discussion with one another From Cape Town to Charlottesville many societies are grappling with historical consciousness and the production of public memory In particular how and why societies remember and forget what should serve as symbols of collective memory and whether there exists space for multiple memory cultures are questions being vigorously debated once again These discussions present particular challenges not only to official memory bound to ideological constructions of nationhood but also to the teaching of history and its links to social justice movements The volume re-centres Africa and African history in memory studies with each chapter drawing parallels to comparable cases in

Africa and the world An underlying assumption is that what can be learned from the politics of historical memory in Africa will have relevance for contemporary politics globally and for understanding how memories can be mobilised for political ends

Terroir and Other Myths of Winegrowing Mark A. Matthews,2016-03-15 A must read for any wine grape grower or winemaker who has ever wrestled with the most important myths of winegrowing or debated them with colleagues and that would be all of us It is also a great read for any wine consumer interested in looking at the man behind the curtain so to speak the myths promoted by wine writers tasting room staff sommeliers and other wine gatekeepers Wines Vines A meticulously researched volume that every serious sommelier should read if only to disagree The Somm Journal Wine is a traditional product with traditional explanations Oft romanticized Old World notions of how to create fine wine have been passed down through generations and continue to dominate popular discussions of wine quality However many of these beliefs predate science and remain isolated from advances in the understanding of how crops grow and fruit ripens Allegiance to them has frequently impeded open minded investigation into how grapevines interact with the environment thus limiting innovation in winegrowing In Terroir and Other Myths of Winegrowing Mark A Matthews applies a scientist s skepticism and scrutiny to examine widely held beliefs about viticulture Is terroir primarily a marketing ploy that obscures understanding of which environments really produce the best wine Is reducing yield an imperative for high quality grapes and wine What does it mean to have vines that are balanced or grapes that are physiologically mature Matthews explores and dissects these and other questions to debunk the myths of winegrowing that may be holding us back from achieving a higher wine quality

Wine Drinking Culture in France Marion Demossier,2010-07-15 This book provides a new interpretation of the relationship between consumption drinking culture memory and cultural identity in an age of rapid political and economic change Using France as a case study it explores the construction of a national drinking culture the myths symbols and practices surrounding it and then through a multisited ethnography of wine consumption demonstrates how that culture is in the process of being transformed Wine drinking culture in France has traditionally been a source of pride for the French and in an age of concerns about the dangers of binge drinking a major cause of jealousy for the British Wine drinking and the culture associated with it are for many an essential part of what it means to be French but they are also part of a national construction Described by some as a national product or as a totem drink wine and its attendant cultures supposedly characterise Frenchness in much the same way as being born in France fighting for liberty or speaking French Yet this traditional picture is now being challenged by economic social and political forces that have transformed consumption patterns and led to the fragmentation of wine drinking culture The aim of this book is to provide an original account of the various causes of the long term decline in alcohol consumption and of the emergence of a new wine drinking culture since the 1970s and to analyse its relationship to national and regional identity

Medieval French on the Move Leah Tether, Patrick Moran, Anne Salamon, 2025-03-17 When Keith Busby published his field shaping Codex and Context in 2002 the work was referred to as groundbreaking and monumental It prompted scholars of medieval literature to return to manuscripts in their droves However Busby s Codex and Context would also enact another more gradual movement His formulation of the term medieval Francophonia to describe the presence power and effect of French outside France would filter steadily into academic enquiry The term and concept are now widely recognised and applied in global scholarship including in multiple major projects dedicated to the topic This volume brings together a series of cutting edge studies of medieval Francophonia covering in one place and for the first time the fullest scope of the concept s remit with contributions on history historiography language literature culture society and authority At the same time as offering a timely contribution to the field this volume pays tribute to Busby s life work not only to pioneer medieval Francophonia but also and moreover to encourage the study of the medieval through material philology Each of the studies here written by Busby s friends and colleagues thus roots its approach in a material context

Eating Our Way Toward Civilization Nataly Sielicki, 2012-05-25 In the series of short essays the author overviews works of anthropologists archeologists cultural sociologists historians and gastronomists who argue that the cooking played a significant role in human evolution and history and sometimes even whole Empires were built not by the sword but by the spoon The ancient and modern cuisines bear a deep imprint of the civilizations they appeared and were developing in One can get a real insight on the cultures often long gone by trying recipes created then and there This maxim did not cease to be true nowadays Contemporary cultures as well could be judged by their cuisines Verdict issued by this criteria when applied to the American diet may appear shocking The American culture is the childish young adolescent one As a special treat an essay about the everyday life in the Soviet Union People Waiting in Line is included

The Taste of Water Christy Spackman, 2023-12-19 The Taste of Water explores the increasing erasure of tastes from drinking water over the twentieth century It asks how dramatic changes in municipal water treatment have altered consumers awareness of the environment their water comes from Through examination of the development of sensory expertise in the United States and France over the twentieth century this unique history uncovers the foundational role palatability has played in shaping Western water treatment processes By focusing on the relationship between taste and the environment Christy Spackman shows how efforts to erase unwanted tastes and smells have transformed water into a highly industrialized food product divorced from the natural environment The Taste of Water invites readers to question their own assumptions about what water does and should naturally taste like while exposing them to the invisible but substantial sensory labor involved in creating tap water

Divided Spirits Sarah Bowen, 2015-10-01 Divided Spirits tells the stories of tequila and mezcal two of Mexico's most iconic products In doing so the book illustrates how neoliberalism influences the production branding and regulation of local foods and drinks It also challenges the strategy of relying on alternative markets to protect food cultures and rural livelihoods In recent years as consumers increasingly demand to connect with the people and places that produce their food the concept of terroir the taste of place has become more and more prominent Tequila and mezcal are both protected by denominations of origin DOs legal designations that aim to guarantee a product's authenticity based on its link to terroir Advocates argue that the DOs expand market opportunities protect cultural heritage and ensure the reputation of Mexico's national spirits Yet this book shows how the institutions that are supposed to guard the legacy of all Mexicans often fail those who are most in need of protection the small producers agave farmers and other workers who have been making tequila and mezcal for generations The consequences for the quality and taste of tequila and mezcal and for communities throughout Mexico are stark Divided Spirits suggests that we must move beyond market based models if we want to safeguard local products and the people who make them Instead we need systems of production consumption and oversight that are more democratic more inclusive and more participatory Lasting change is unlikely without the involvement of the state and a sustained commitment to addressing inequality and supporting rural development

French Wine Rod Phillips, 2020-04-07 A fascinating book that belongs on every wine lover's bookshelf The Wine Economist It's a book to read for its unstoppable torrent of fascinating and often surprising details Andrew Jefford Decanter For centuries wine has been associated with France more than with any other country France remains one of the world's leading wine producers by volume and enjoys unrivaled cultural recognition for its wine If any wine regions are global household names they are French regions such as Champagne Bordeaux and Burgundy Within the wine world products from French regions are still benchmarks for many wines French Wine is the first synthetic history of wine in France from Etruscan Greek and Roman imports and the adoption of wine by beer drinking Gauls to its present status within the global marketplace Rod Phillips places the history of grape growing and winemaking in each of the country's major regions within broad historical and cultural contexts Examining a range of influences on the wine industry wine trade and wine itself the book explores religion economics politics revolution and war as well as climate and vine diseases French Wine is the essential reference on French wine for collectors consumers sommeliers and industry professionals

Commerce, Food, and Identity in Seventeenth-Century England and France Garritt Dyk, 2025-10-01 Tell me what you eat and I'll tell you who you are was the challenge issued by French gastronome Jean Brillat Savarin Champagne is declared a unique emblem of French sophistication and luxury linked to the myth of its invention by Dom Perignon Across the Channel a cup of sweet tea is recognized as a quintessentially English icon simultaneously conjuring images of empire civility and relentless rain that demands the sustenance and comfort that only tea can provide How did these tastes develop in the seventeenth century Commerce Food and Identity in Seventeenth Century England and France Across the Channel offers a compelling historical narrative of the relationship between food national identity and political economy in the early modern period These mutually influential relationships are revealed through comparative and transnational analyses of effervescent wine spices and cookbooks the development of coffeehouses and caf s and the national sweet tooth in England and France Europeans Are Lovin' It? Coca-Cola, McDonald's and Responses to American Global Businesses in Italy and France, 1886-2015 Giulia Crisanti,2023-09-25 From the French origin of Coca Cola to McDonald s sponsorship of the 2015 Milan Expo the book presents the first comparative history of these multinational corporations in two Western European countries addressing some compelling questions to what extent our increasingly globalized world is persistently shaped by forms of American hegemony and what are some of the forces that have been most effective at challenging the relationship between Americanization and globalization Through the local history of global companies the book tells a new story about not only the influence of American businesses in Europe but also the influence of European governments and societies on those American businesses and their adaptability Tasting French Terroir Thomas Parker,2015-05 This book explores the origins and significance of the French concept of terroir demonstrating that the way the French eat their food and drink their wine today derives from a cultural mythology that developed between the Renaissance and the Revolution Through close readings and an examination of little known texts from diverse disciplines Thomas Parker traces terroir s evolution providing insight into how gastronomic mores were linked to aesthetics in language horticulture and painting and how the French used the power of place to define the natural world explain comportment and frame France as a nation Alcohol Mack P. Holt,2006-03-01 Why are we so ambivalent about alcohol Are we torn between our love of a drink and the need to restrict or even prohibit alcohol How did saloon culture arise in the United States Why did wine become such a ubiquitous part of French culture Alcohol A Social and Cultural History examines these questions and many more as it considers how drink has evolved in its functions and uses from the late Middle Ages to the present day in the West Alcohol has long played an important role in societies throughout history and understanding its consumption can reveal a great deal about a culture This book discusses a range of issues including domestic versus recreational use the history of alcoholism and the relationship between alcohol and violence religion sexuality and medicine It looks at how certain forms of alcohol speak about class gender and place Drawing on examples from Europe North America and Australia this book provides an overview of the many roles alcohol has played over the past five centuries Wine Marketing Colin Michael Hall,Richard Mitchell,2008 This is a practical guide to the specific issues that affect the marketing of wine at an international level The author covers theory and the results of research but the focus is on the nuts and bolts of marketing based on case studies Whites and Reds Stephen V. Bittner,2021

Whites and Reds illuminates the ideas controversies political alliances technologies business practices international networks growers vintners connoisseurs and consumers who shaped the history of wine in the Russian Empire and the Soviet Union over more than two centuries

A Velvet Empire David Todd, 2023-09-26 How France's elites used soft power to pursue their imperial ambitions in the nineteenth century After Napoleon's downfall in 1815 France embraced a mostly informal style of empire one that emphasized economic and cultural influence rather than military conquest A Velvet Empire is a global history of French imperialism in the nineteenth century providing new insights into the mechanisms of imperial collaboration that extended France's power from the Middle East to Latin America and ushered in the modern age of globalization David Todd shows how French elites pursued a cunning strategy of imperial expansion in which conspicuous commodities such as champagne and silk textiles together with loans to client states contributed to a global campaign of seduction French imperialism was no less brutal than that of the British But while Britain widened its imperial reach through settler colonialism and the acquisition of far flung territories France built a velvet empire backed by frequent military interventions and a broadening extraterritorial jurisdiction Todd demonstrates how France drew vast benefits from these asymmetric imperial like relations until a succession of setbacks around the world brought about their unravelling in the 1870s A Velvet Empire sheds light on France's neglected contribution to the conservative reinvention of modernity and offers a new interpretation of the resurgence of French colonialism on a global scale after 1880 This panoramic book also highlights the crucial role of collaboration among European empires during this period including archrivals Britain and France and cooperation with indigenous elites in facilitating imperial expansion and the globalization of capitalism

Transnational French Studies Charles Forsdick, Claire Launchbury, 2023-10-01 The contributors to Transnational French Studies situate this disciplinary subfield of Modern Languages in actively transnational frameworks The key objective of the volume is to define the core set of skills and methodologies that constitute the study of French culture as a transnational transcultural and translingual phenomenon Written by leading scholars within the field chapters demonstrate the type of inquiry that can be pursued into the transnational realities both material and non material that are integral to what is referred to as French culture The book considers the transnational dimensions of being human in the world by focussing on four key practices which constitute the object of study for students of French language and multilingualism the construction of transcultural places and the corresponding sense of space the experience of time and transnational subjectivities The underlying premise of the volume is that the transnational is present and has long been present throughout what we define as French history and culture Chapters address instances and phenomena associated with the transnational from prehistory to the present opening up the geopolitical map of French studies beyond France and including sites where communities identified as French have formed
