Cohen, 2014-04-29 When people experience a traumatic event such as war or the threat of annihilation they often turn to history for stories that promise a positive outcome to their suffering During World War II the French took comfort in the story of Joan of Arc and her heroic efforts to rid France of foreign occupation To bring the Joan narrative more into line with current circumstances however popular retellings modified the original story so that what people believed took place in the past was often quite different from what actually occurred Paul A Cohen identifies this interplay between story and history as a worldwide phenomenon found in countries of radically different cultural religious and social character He focuses here on Serbia Israel China France the Soviet Union and Great Britain all of which experienced severe crises in the twentieth century and in response appropriated age old historical narratives that resonated with what was happening in the present to serve a unifying restorative purpose A central theme in the book is the distinction between popular memory and history Although vitally important to historians this distinction is routinely blurred in people s minds and the historian s truth often cannot compete with the power of a compelling story from the past even when it has been seriously distorted by myth or political manipulation Cohen concludes by suggesting that the patterns of interaction he probes given their near universality may well be rooted in certain human propensities that transcend cultural difference What Is a Human? James Paul Gee, 2020-09-17 In a sweeping synthesis of new research in a number of different disciplines this book argues that we humans are not who we think we are As he explores the interconnections between cutting edge work in bioanthropology evolutionary biology neuroscience human language and learning and beyond James Paul Gee advances also a personal philosophy of language learning and culture informed by his decades of work across linguistics and the social sciences Gee argues that our schools institutions legal systems and societies are designed for creatures that do not exist thus resulting in multiple interacting crises such as climate change failing institutions and the rise of nationalist nationalism As Gee constructs an understanding of the human that takes into account our social collective and historical nature as established by recent research he inspires readers to reflect for themselves on the very question of who we are a key consideration for anyone interested in society government schools health activism culture and diversity or even just survival Freud's Theory of Culture Abraham Drassinower, 2003 Abraham Drassinower takes a fresh look at Freud countering his prevalent image as a man pessimistically renouncing the possibility of social political and cultural change Truthful Fictions: Conversations with American Biographical Novelists Michael Lackey, 2014-02-27 In this new collection of interviews some of America's most prominent novelists identify the key intellectual developments that led to the rise of the contemporary biographical novel discuss the kind of historical truth this novel communicates indicate why this narrative form is superior to the traditional historical novel and reflect on the ideas and characters central to their individual works These interviews do more than just define an innovative genre of contemporary fiction They provide a precise way of understanding the complicated relationship and pregnant tensions between contextualized thinking and historical representation interdisciplinary studies and truth production and fictional reality and factual constructions By focusing on classical and contemporary debates regarding the nature of the historical novel this volume charts the forces that gave birth to a new incarnation of this genre Momma And The Meaning Of Life Irvin D. Yalom, 2014-03-25 As the public grows disillusioned with therapeutic quick fixes people are looking for a deeper psychotherapeutic experience to make life more meaningful and satisfying What really happens in therapy What promises and perils does it hold for them No one writes about therapy or indeed the dilemmas of the human condition with more acuity style and heart than Irvin Yalom Here he combines the storytelling skills so widely praised in Love's Executioner with the wisdom of the compassionate and fully engaged psychotherapist In these six compelling tales of therapy Yalom introduces us to an unforgettable cast of characters Paula who faces death and stares it down Magnolia into whose ample lap Yalom longs to pour his own sorrows Irene who learns to seek out anger and plunge into it And there's Momma old fashioned ill tempered who drifts into Yalom's dreams and tramples through his thoughts At once wildly entertaining and deeply thoughtful Momma and the Meaning of Life is a work of rare insight and imagination A Path Twice Traveled Paul A. Cohen, 2021-02-01 In this memoir Paul A. Cohen one of the West's preeminent historians of China traces the development of his work from its inception in the early 1960s to the present offering fresh perspectives that consistently challenge us to think more deeply about China and the historical craft in general A memoir of course is itself a form of history But for a historian writing a memoir on one's career is quite different from the creation of that career in the first place This is what Cohen alludes to in the title A Path Twice Traveled The title highlights the important disparity between the past as originally experienced and the past as later reconstructed by which point both the historian and the world have undergone extensive change This distinction which conveys nicely the double meaning of the word history is very much on Cohen's mind throughout the book He returns to it explicitly in the memoir's final chapter appropriately titled Then and Now The Two Histories

Existentialism and its relevance to the contemporary system of education in India: Existentialism and present educational scenario Rukhsana Akhter,2014-05-01 Existentialism represents a protest against the rationalism of traditional philosophy against misleading notions of the bourgeois culture and the dehumanizing values of industrial civilization Since alienation loneliness and self estrangement constitute threats to human personality in the modern world existential thought has viewed as its cardinal concerns a quest for subjective truth a reaction against the negation of Being and a perennial search for freedom From the ancient Greek philosopher Socrates to the twentieth century French philosopher Jean Paul Sartre and other thinkers have dealt with this tragic sense of ontological reality the human situation within a comic context The book put forward is the beginning of an attempt to revive existentialism by addressing these issues The idea is eventually to present a conception of personhood that is recognizably existentialist or similar to that presented by writers like Kierkegaard Heidegger Jaspers and Sartre in certain fundamental ways but that takes into account the last twenty years of developments in the many different areas of philosophy that directly affect our understanding of what it is to be a person The result will hopefully be a more sophisticated existentialist theory of personhood that can be presented in contemporary terms as a serious challenge to current dogmas in metaphysics and moral theory and be defended against the ascendant naturalistic rationalistic or pragmatist alternatives
