Relocating Global Cities M Mark Amen, M Martin Bosman, Kevin Archer, 2006-04-27 Drawing on eight case studies from key cities on the periphery of global cities literature Relocating Global Cities argues that all cities are globalizing in important ways Case studies of Frankfurt Johannesburg Bangkok Manila Tampa Sydney Brussels and Caracas provide the basis for an alternative theoretical approach to global city formation Reconciling a market based understanding and an agency based understanding of global cities this book proposes that globalization and cities are mutually constituted by the global political economy engaging with transnational and local agents The volume proposes an alternate theoretical approach to the literature of globalization while remaining grounded in concrete discussions of key cities Its expert contributors reconcile the conflicting ways in which two dominant paradigms one emphasizing market forces and the other the unique actions of individuals and groups embody our understanding of global cities This book will be of interest to students and researchers alike and is a perfect complement to texts in Urban Studies and Globalization

Gender, Work, and Economy Heidi Gottfried, 2013-11-15 This engaging new text uses a feminist lens to crack open the often hidden worlds of gender and work addressing enduring questions about how structural inequalities are produced and why they persist Making visible the social relationships that drive the global economy the book explores how economic transformations not only change the way we work but how we live our lives The full extent of changing patterns of employment and the current financial crisis cannot be fully understood in the confines of narrow conceptions of work and economy Feminists address this shortcoming by developing both a theory and a political movement aimed at unveiling the power relations inherent in old and new forms of work By providing an analysis of gender work and the economy Heidi Gottfried brings to light the many faces of power from the bedroom to the boardroom A discussion of globalization is threaded throughout the book to uncover the impact of increasing global interconnections and vivid case studies are included from industrialized countries such as the US and the global cities of New York London and Tokyo as well as from developing countries and the emerging global cities of Beijing Shanghai and Dubai This comprehensive analysis of gender and work in a global economy incorporating sociology geography and political economy perspectives will be a valued companion to students in gender studies and across the social sciences more generally

The Political Economy of City Branding Ari-Veikko Anttiroiko, 2014-02-24 Globalization affects urban communities in many ways One of its manifestations is increased intercity competition which compels cities to increase their attractiveness in terms of capital entrepreneurship information expertise and consumption This competition takes place in an asymmetric field with cities trying to find the best possible ways of using their natural and created assets the latter including a naturally evolving reputation or consciously developed competitive identity or brand The Political Economy of City Branding discusses this phenomenon from the perspective of numerous post industrial cities in North America Europe East Asia and Australasia Special attention is given to local economic development policy and industrial profiling and global city rankings are used to provide empirical evidence for cities characteristics and positions in the global urban hierarchy On top of this social and urban challenges such as creative class struggle are also discussed The core message of the book is that cities should apply the tools of city branding in their industrial promotion and specialization but at the same time take into account the special nature of their urban communities and be open and inclusive in their brand policies in order to ensure optimal results This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners working in the areas of local economic development urban planning public management and branding

Megacities Dirk Kruijt, Kees Koonings, 2013-04-04 For the first time in history the majority of the world's population lives in cities the result of a rapid process of urbanization that started in the second half of the twentieth century Megacities around the world are rapidly becoming the scene for deprivation especially in the global South and the urban excluded face the brunt of what in many cases seems like low intensity warfare Featuring case studies from across the globe including Latin America the Middle East and Africa Megacities examines recent worldwide trends in poverty and social exclusion urban violence and politics and links these to the challenges faced by policy makers and practitioners

Frontiers of Globalization Research: Ino Rossi, 2007-03-21 To bring this volume together the editor asked leading scholars in the field of globalization to outline a research framework that reflects their own approach to the subject The resulting book presents a broad spectrum of analytical approaches to globalization Theoretical reviews are complemented by substantive chapters and methodological analyses Contributors include scholars in the fields of sociology anthropology history and political science These writings have been organized into four sections theoretical perspectives and cultural globalization economic globalization political globalization and methodological approaches

Re-Envisioning Global Development Sandra Halperin, 2013-04-17 Re-Envisioning Global Development offers an original conceptualisation of capitalist development from its origins to the present day Most approaches to understanding contemporary development assume that industrial capitalism was achieved through a process of nationally organised economic growth and that in recent years its organisation has become increasingly trans local or global However Halperin shows that nationally organised economic growth has rarely been the case it has only recently come to characterise a few countries and for only a few decades This innovative text elaborates an alternative ontology and way of thinking about global development during the last two centuries one linked not to nations and regions but to a set of essentially trans national relations and connections It argues that capitalist development has everywhere and from the start involved not whole nations or societies but only sectors or geographical areas within states By bringing this aspect of historically normal capitalist development into clearer focus the book clarifies the specific conditions and circumstances that enabled European economies to pursue a more broad based development following World War II and what prevented a similar outcome in the contemporary third world It also clarifies the nature spatial extent and circumstances of current globalising trends Wide ranging and provocative this book is required reading for advanced level students and scholars in development studies development economics and political science New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities Peter W.
