Assembling the Archipelago: Heritage in Energy Transitions and Climate Action Marilena Mela, 2025-09-09 This book explores the potential of heritage to enact sustainable human environment relationships across geographical differences It does so by travelling to four archipelagoes the Wadden Islands in the Netherlands the Cyclades in Greece Shetland in Scotland and the Aeolian Islands in Italy In the face of planetary socioenvironmental crises the reliance on sustainable development strategies including the energy transition on technocratic top down solutions fail to counterbalance global agendas of extraction and growth and address environmental injustices in peripheral places This book stresses the need to think small arguing that seeds for meaningful change exist in such places and the geographically and historically situated relationships between people and environments Islands interconnected yet autonomous places with unique histories are good places to start In four archipelagoes frictions produced both by climate change and climate mitigation the fragile consensus around a solar park in the Wadden Sea conflicts around wind turbine towers in the Aegean experiments with the tides in Shetland and volcanic episodes in the Aeolian come in dialogue with the learning potential of their environmental and cultural heritage The counterposing of these stories renegotiates established discourses of heritage and sustainability and the associated courses of action in policy and planning This contribution will resonate with academics students policymakers and activists in heritage studies environmental humanities landscape studies science and technology studies and sustainability Readers are invited to participate in the life and troubles of four island landscapes and to think along on emergent archipelagic claims

Maritime spaces are socially constructed by humans and refer to seas and islands coasts port cities and villages as well as ships and other human made marine structures Social interaction with marine environments and living beings e g in a symbolic cultural or economic manner has led to the emergence of spatial structures which affect the knowledge beliefs meanings and obstinately patterns Those structures shape mutual expectations of human beings and form the perception imagination or memory of inhabitants of maritime spaces They enable or restrict human action construct people s everyday life their norms and values and are changeable Contributors include Jan Asmussen Robert Bart omiejski Benjamin Bowles Isabel Duarte Eduardo Sarmiento Ferreira Rita Gr cio Marie C Grasmeier Karolina Izdebska Seung Kuk Kim Arkadiusz Ko odziej Agnieszka Ko odziej Durna Maciej Kowalewski Urszula Koz owska Ulrike Kronfeld Goharani Rute Muchacho Giacomo Orsini W odzimierz Karol Pessel C lia Quico Harini Sivalingam Joana Sousa Frank Sowa Nuno Cintra Torres and G nter Warsewa Carbon dioxide removal: Perspectives from the social sciences and humanities Anders Hansson,Mathias Fridahl,Miranda Boettcher,Shinichiro Asayama,2024-07-09 Carbon dioxide removal CDR approaches are becoming increasingly central to visions of decarbonizing national economies The past few years have seen an increasing number of countries committed to net zero targets preceded by a surge of modelled 1.5 C scenarios envisioning large scale future CDR deployment The prospect of CDR deployment raises new complex socio ecological challenges and presents new deep uncertainties These complexities challenges and uncertainties cannot be investigated using solely the techno economic modelling and environmental risk assessment methods that currently dominate the construction of policy relevant knowledge on CDR Social sciences and the humanities perspectives on CDR are often restricted to instrumental tasks such as investigating public acceptance overcoming social resistance or supporting the development of integrated assessment models There is a need for more diverse investigations of CDR which include not only environmental and techno economic dimensions but also explore key societal complexities challenges and uncertainties Against this backdrop we call for submissions on CDR stemming from perspectives within the social sciences and humanities We encourage novel empirical and theoretical contributions on CDR related policy design or analyses of recent policy developments at sub national national and international levels of governance e g in context of climate targets and strategies climate tipping points mitigation deterrence or societal transformations Waddenland en waddenzee Kees Hana,1962 Language as an Ecological Phenomenon Sune Vork Steffensen,Stephen Cowley,Martin Döring,2024-05-30 Moving beyond a more traditional view of language as a discrete sociocultural and cognitive entity that distorts our understanding of surrounding ecologies this book argues that the starting point for ecolinguistics is an appreciation of language as not just about nature but of nature

Exploring this conceptual change in the field the book presents a process view in which language is substituted by languaging emphasising the bioecologies that we cohabit with numerous other species It puts forward this perspective by looking at the theoretical considerations behind the understanding of languaging as bioecological and through examining languaging in various contexts and places Drawing on examples from across the world it addresses topics such as climate catastrophes corporate narratives questions of ecological leadership the bioecological implications of the COVID pandemic and relational landscapes It also makes use of data from across multiple bioecological settings including the dairy and agricultural industries

New Global Perspectives on Archaeological Prospection James Bonsall, 2019-09-02 This volume presents over 90 papers from the 13th International Conference on Archaeological Prospection 2019 Sligo Papers address archaeological prospection techniques methodologies and case studies from 33 countries across Africa Asia Australasia Europe and North America reflecting current and global trends in archaeological prospection

Farming the North Sea Coast, 900-2000 Piet van Cruyningen, 2025-04 The author opens a powerful dialogue between agricultural history on the one hand and environmental history on the other a brilliant and provocative synthesis of a thousand years of coastal farming Tim Soens University of Antwerp Belgium The fascinating story of how the North Sea coast has been farmed is ever changing Long before the industrial revolution the inhospitable fens and marshes of the low lying coastal wetlands on both sides of the Sea had been transformed into one of the most productive agricultural regions in Europe Agriculture in the coastlands reached its apogee during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as is witnessed by the many impressive farm buildings established then However more recently it has become clear that lowland farming and even the physical existence of the lowlands are in jeopardy owing to rising sea levels and problems of drainage This book offers a history of farming and water management on the North Sea coast assessing the forces driving and inhibiting agricultural progress more broadly It examines the ways in which farmers in the past dealt with the two main constraints on their decision making the natural environment and the human environment of institutional rules and customs regulating behaviour It looks in particular at how setbacks were overcome and how farming practices were improved which then raised the money with which to finance the maintenance of dykes canals and sluices

Revoicing Intangible Cultural Heritage Laura Hodsdon, Valts Ernštreits, Kadri Koreinik, Sjoerd-Jeroen Moenandar, 2025-06-13 Revoicing Intangible Cultural Heritage draws upon an original wide ranging dataset to show that the dynamics and ethics of participation in European national minority cultures intangible cultural heritage ICH are more nuanced than has previously been articulated Arguing for an approach to analysing ICH that reflects societal change in regions that are historically those of national minorities contributions to the volume focus on three regions across four countries This allows for comparative exploration of exemplar contexts that span a range of circumstances in which European national minority cultures thrive and strive for voice and recognition It explores how a wide range of people engage with national minorities ICH and seeks a better understanding of the ethical and practical dimensions of this participation It proposes a heritage literate revoicing of ICH to create socially positive pathways to resilient ICH and in turn ensure ICH is an arena where these positive social relations are shaped as part of an evolving ecosystem into the future Revoicing Intangible Cultural Heritage takes an interdisciplinary approach ideally placed to interrogate the interplay of different groups with ICH from multiple perspectives This makes the book essential reading for academics and students working in heritage studies sociolinguistics cultural and event studies sociology creative practice and cultural geography

The National Union Catalogs, 1963- ,1964 Environmental History of the Rhine-Meuse Delta P.H. Nienhuis,2008-05-06

This unique text presents the environmental history of the lowland delta of the rivers Rhine and Meuse It is an ecological story of evolving human environmental relations and how they cope with climate change and sea level rise The text offers a combination of in depth ecology and environmental history The synthesis presents a blueprint for future management and restoration from progressive reclamation of land in the past to adaptation of human needs to the forces of nature

Environmental Humanities Jeremy Chow,2022-11-11 This groundbreaking interdisciplinary collection demonstrates how eighteenth century studies can be taught through the lens of the environmental humanities Activating topics such as climate change new materialisms the blue humanities indigeneity and decoloniality and green utopianism to interpret eighteenth century literature and culture each essay includes recommendations for innovative teaching and learning International Law of Underwater Cultural Heritage Kim Browne,Murray Raff,2023-01-01 This book brings together three distinct areas of International Law namely Environmental Heritage and Ocean Law to address the international legal protection of historically significant wrecks with particular focus on the environmental hazards they may pose The confluence of Heritage Law and the Law of the Sea with International Environmental Law represents an important development in international governance strategies for the twenty first century in particular those legal and administrative regimes that concern the world s oceans and underwater cultural heritage protection. Importantly, connections between international legal regimes such as the 1982 Law of the Sea and institutions like the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) and United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) can play a crucial part in governance strategies that involve the regulation of marine pollution and historic shipwrecks. Wadden Sea Landelijke vereniging tot behoud van de Waddenzee (Harlingen), 1982
