Rethinking Participation in Global Governance Joost Pauwelyn, Martino Maggetti, Tim Büthe, Ayelet Berman, 2022-05-05 International organizations and other global governance bodies often make rules and decisions without input from many of the individuals groups firms and governments that are affected by them The standards of the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision for instance developed by a small number of states govern financial markets and the safety of bank deposits in over a hundred jurisdictions Historically the interests of developing countries as well as non commercial and diffuse interests within countries have been excluded or disregarded in global governance Scholars and practitioners have criticised this democratic deficit and called for greater participation of such marginalized stakeholders Against this background international institutions have introduced a variety of reforms with the goal of increasing and facilitating the participation of these excluded stakeholders This book brings together an expert group of scholars and practitioners to investigate the consequences of stakeholder participation reforms in the global governance of health and
