Video in Social Science Research Kaye Haw, Mark Hadfield, 2011-03-24 In this digital age the use of video in social science research has become commonplace As sophistication has increased along with usability as spiralling staff costs push out direct observation the researchers training today are grasping video as a means of coming to terms with the continued pressure to produce accessible research However the fit of technology with research is far from simple Ideally placed to offer guidance to developing researchers this new text draws together the theoretical methodological and practical issues of effectively using video across the social sciences This book concentrates on how researchers can benefit from the use of video in their own research whether it is Video as representation Video as an aid to reflection Video that generates participation Video voice and articulation or Video that acts as a provocation In turn each of these five central functions is discussed in relation to different stages of the research process consisting of Research design Fieldwork and data collection Analysis of data and findings Dissemination As a practical research tool this book shows how why and when video should be used representing an invaluable guide for postgraduate and doctoral students conducting research in the social sciences as well as any researchers academics or professionals interested in developing technologically informed research Qualitative Data Analysis Matthew B. Miles, A. Michael Huberman, Johnny Saldana, 2014 Miles and Huberman's original research studies are profiled and accompanied with new examples from Saldana's recent qualitative work Ways to Study and Research Urban, Architectural and Technical Design T.M. de Jong, D.J.M. van der Voordt, 2005-12-31 How can we develop a scientific basis for architectural urban and technical design When can a design be labelled as scientific output comparable with a scientific report What are the similarities and dissimilarities between design and empirical research and between design research typological research design study and study by design Is there a need for a particular methodology for design driven study and research With these questions in mind more than forty members of the Faculty of Architecture of the Delft University of Technology have described their ways of study and research Each chapter shows the objectives the methodology and its implementation in search for a deeper knowledge of design processes and an optimal quality of the design itself The authors among them architects urban planners social scientists lawyers technicians and information scientists have widely differing backgrounds Nevertheless they share a great deal The central focus is a better understanding of design processes design tools and the effects of design interventions on issues such as utility aesthetics meaning sustainability and feasibility

Handbook of Early Childhood Literacy Nigel Hall, Joanne Larson, Jackie Marsh, 2003-12-06 This volume examines early literacy research on a global scale and puts social cultural and historical analyses in the front seat without losing sight of individual and family level matters in the process It is comprehensive ground breaking and provocative and should help literacy researchers to think differently about the field Marjorie Faulstich Orellana School of Education and Social Policy Northwestern University No other publication that I am aware of brings together views from such diverse disciplines contributing to a comprehensive statement about early childhood literacy The Handbook not only reviews the current field of situated literacy but presents some important and exciting new research It is a significant resource which promises to become a landmark text Eve Bearne University of Cambridge Faculty of Education This Handbook brings together an astonishing array of writers who explore contemporary political cultural and cognitive understandings of early childhood literacy Literacy and literacy acquisition are broadly defined here to encompass not just traditional notions of reading and writing but multimodalities multiliteracies and critical literacies It is rich and comprehensive an invaluable resource for scholars educators and students of early childhood literacy Elsa Auerbach Professor of English University of Massachusetts Boston This book is unique in its broad consideration of topics and its global focus I particularly appreciate how the Editors have situated current research in an historical context They have also included development issues pedagogy research and the newest areas of interest critical literacy and popular culture Diane Barone University of Nevada Reno The editors and their contributors place a strong emphasis on literacy as a social practice that occurs outside school settings This broad interpretation is a healthy counter blast to the current political views and legislation in many developed countries and should be welcomed by practitioners Another very welcome dimension is the can do approach that celebrates young children s literacy achievements This is an informative and insightful text for researchers and students to dip into and think about for some years to come Marian Whithead writing in Nursery World An inspired and stimulating read aimed at researchers academics professionals and students in the fields of early years education and research and early childhood literacy It will also be of interest to those working in other disciplines such as cultural studies and sociology I think this collection of work by the range of authors some of which are the most distinguished and renowned in the field not only represents real value for money but also makes an essential in depth perceptive and invaluable contribution to this relatively new and dynamic field It offers some cutting edge contemporary and exciting material combined with well founded wisdom and indeed excellent sources for further reading British Journal of Educational Studies In recent years there has been a virtual revolution in early childhood studies with a mass of books and papers seeking to re examine and reposition childhood At the same time an equally significant area has developed within literacy studies reflecting a growing interest in the nature of literacy as a socially situated phenomenon There is increased interest in literacy as a multimodal concept in which symbolic meaning is a central concept rather than more conventional and narrower notions of literacy The Handbook of Early Childhood Literacy is central in providing access to all these different perspectives The Handbook offers a way through the vast diversity of publications on early childhood literacy by providing comprehensive and up to date reviews of research and thinking in early childhood literacy The arrangement of chapters reflects a contemporary perspective on research into early childhood literacy Major sections include the global world of early childhood literacy childhood literacy and family community and culture the development of literacy in early childhood pedagogy and early childhood literacy and researching early childhood literacy Contributions by leading authorities focus on literacy as a socially situated and global experience one that is evolving in relation to changes in contemporary culture and technological innovation Graduate Studies ,1994 Research Supported by the SSRC.
