South Asia Peter B. Andersen, Rubya Mehdi, Amit Prakash, 2021-03-30 This book offers an overview of the history and development of civil society in three major nations of South Asia: Pakistan, India, and Bangladesh from colonial times to the present. It examines the liberalization of civil society since the 1980s, the needs it created for civil action, the professionalization of civil society organizations, and the extent to which civil society may benefit society at large in the context of local, national, and global transformations in the economy, political regime, and ideology. The reader will find new insights on the interaction between the liberalization of multifaceted civil societies in the three countries, presenting contrasts such as restrictions put on women's organizations or labour unions and acceptance of religious organizations' activities. The volume looks at forms of transfer of civil society models, representation, and democratic legitimacy of civil society organizations such as nongovernmental organizations, government-organized NGOs, and faith-based organizations, along with the structuring of civil society through legal frames as well as female religious and ethnic mobilizations around language and literature. Using wide-ranging empirical data and theoretical analyses, it deals with civil society issues relating to human rights and political challenges, justice, inequality, empowerment, and the role of bureaucracy, women's movements, and ethnic and linguistic minorities. It also presents early responses to the Covid-19 crisis in 2020, which created significant pressure on the states and on civil society. This book will be useful to scholars and researchers of political studies, development studies, sociology, public policy, and governance, law, and human rights, as also to professionals in think tanks, civil society activists, and NGOs.
