Schooling the Nation Jennifer Rycenga, 2025-01-07 Founded in 1833 by white teacher Prudence Crandell Canterbury Academy educated more than two dozen Black women during its eighteen month existence Racism in eastern Connecticut forced the teen students to walk a gauntlet of taunts threats and legal action to pursue their studies but the school of higher learning flourished until a vigilante attack destroyed the Academy Jennifer Rycenga recovers a pioneering example of antiracism and Black white cooperation At once an inspirational and cautionary tale Canterbury Academy succeeded thanks to far reaching networks alliances and activism that placed it within Black women's and abolitionist history Rycenga focuses on the people like Sarah Harris the Academy's first Black student Maria Davis Crandall's Black housekeeper and her early connection to the embryonic abolitionist movement and Crandall herself Telling their stories she highlights the agency of Black and white women within the currents and as a force changing those currents in nineteenth century America Insightful and provocative Schooling the Nation tells the forgotten story of remarkable women and a collaboration across racial and gender lines

Encyclopedia of African American History, 1896 to the Present Paul Finkelman, 2009 Alphabetically arranged entries from A to C that explores significant events major persons organizations and political and social movements in African American history from 1896 to the twenty first century
