Tracks Change Railways Everyday Colonial:

Tracks of Change Ritika Prasad, 2016-05-12 From the mid nineteenth century onwards railways became increasingly important in the lives of a growing number of Indians While allowing millions to collectively experience the endemic discomforts of third class travel the public opportunities for proximity and contact created by railways simultaneously compelled colonial society to confront questions about exclusion difference and community It was not only passengers however who were affected by the transformations that railways wrought Even without boarding a train one could see railway tracks and embankments reshaping familiar landscapes realise that train schedules represented new temporal structures fear that spreading railway links increased the reach of contagion and participate in new forms of popular politics focused around railway spaces Tracks of Change explores how railway technology travel and infrastructure became increasingly woven into everyday life in colonial India how people negotiated with the growing presence of railways and how this process has shaped India's history

Temple Tracks Vineeta Sinha, 2023-08-11 The notions of labour mobility and piety have a complex and intertwined relationship Using ethnographic methods and a historical perspective Temple Tracks critically outlines the interlink of railway construction in colonial and post colonial Asia as well as the anthropology of infrastructure and transnational mobilities with religion In Malaysia and Singapore evidence of religion making and railway building from a colonial past is visible in multiple modes and media as memories recollections and traces

Tracks of Change Ritika Prasad, 2015 Discusses how railway technology travel and infrastructure became increasingly and inextricably woven with everyday life in colonial South Asia how people negotiated this increasing presence of railways in their lives and how the ensuing processes has materially shaped South Asia's present

The Global in the Local Xin Zhang, 2023-04-04 The story of globalization in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries as experienced by ordinary people in the Chinese river town of Zhenjiang Fear swept Zhenjiang as British soldiers gathered outside the city walls in the summer of 1842 Already suspicious of foreigners locals had also heard of the suffering the British inflicted two months earlier in Zhapu. A wave of suicides and mercy killings ensued rather than leave their families to the invaders; hundreds of women killed themselves and their children or died at the hands of male family members. British observers decried an Asian culture of ritual suicide. In reality, the event was sui generis, a tragic result of colliding local and global forces in nineteenth-century China. Xin Zhang's groundbreaking history examines the intense negotiations between local societies and global changes that created modern China. In the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, world-historical political, economic, and technological developments transformed the textures of everyday life in places like Zhenjiang, a midsize river town in China's prosperous Lower Yangzi region. Drawing on rare primary sources, including handwritten diaries and other personal writings, Zhang offers a ground-level view of globalization in the city. We see civilians coping with the traumatic international encounters of the Opium War, Zhenjiang brokers bankrolling Shanghai's ascendance as a cosmopolitan commercial hub, and merchants shipping goods to market for the first time on steamships. Far from passive recipients, the Chinese leveraged, resisted, and made change for themselves. Indeed, The Global in the Local argues that globalization is inevitably refracted through local particularities. Imperial Engineers Richard Hornsey, 2022-03-31

Established in 1871 on the outskirts of London, the Royal Indian Engineering College at Coopers Hill was arguably the first engineering school in Britain. For thirty-five years, the college helped staff the government institutions of British India, responsible for the railways, irrigation systems, telegraph network, and forests. Founded to meet the high demand for engineers in that country, it was closed thirty-five years later because its educational innovations had been surpassed by Britain's universities. On both occasions, against the wishes of the Government of India, Imperial Engineers offers a complete history of the Royal Indian Engineering College. Drawing on the diaries of graduates working in India, the college magazine, student and alumni periodicals, and other archival documents, Richard Hornsey details why the college was established and how the students' education prepared them for their work. Illustrating the impact of the college and its graduates in India and beyond, Imperial Engineers illuminates the personal and professional experiences of British men in India as well as the transformation of engineering education at a time of social and technological change. Cosmopolitan Aspirations in Contemporary Cinema María del Mar Azcona, Julia Echeverría, Pablo Gómez-Muñoz, 2024-12-16

This book presents cosmopolitanism as a useful methodological approach to understand the transnational synergies present in contemporary cinema. In line with existing literature from the social sciences, the volume aims to contribute to the cosmopolitan turn in cinema studies. It considers cosmopolitanism as, among others, a personal and social aspiration, of social justice, world citizenship, and celebration of difference, a notion to be criticised as elitist, Western, often imperialist, and homogenising, and an actually existing social practice characterised by contradiction, messiness, and conflict. The chapters in this volume offer insights into the variety of sometimes contradictory discourses that arise from a cosmopolitan interpretation of a wide variety of film texts. Key topics explored in this book include borders, mobility, migration, race, class, and film aesthetics. This book will be particularly useful to film studies scholars and students looking at transnational global world and decolonial cinemas and focusing on topics like borders migration and multiculturalism in film This book will also appeal to academic communities studying media literature mobilities geopolitics sociology and the social sciences in general Handbook

Global History of Work Karin Hofmeester, Marcel van der Linden, 2017-11-20 Coffee from East Africa wine from California chocolate from the Ivory Coast all those every day products are based on labour often produced under appalling conditions but always involving the combination of various work processes we are often not aware of What is the day to day reality for workers in various parts of the world and how was it in the past How do they work today and how did they work in the past These and many other questions comprise the field of the global history of work a young discipline that is introduced with this handbook In 8 thematic chapters this book discusses these aspects of work in a global and long term perspective paying attention to several kinds of work Convict labour slave and wage labour labour migration and workers of the textile industry but also workers organisation strikes and motivations for work are part of this first handbook of global labour history written by the most renowned scholars of the profession Against the Fetishisation of Plural Time Nitin Sinha, 2025-06-02 From the viewpoint of social history is time itself a plural entity or are there multiple forms of engagement in and with it Pivoted around this question Sinha attempts to rethink the current theory and practice of history writing by pointing the pitfalls of the growing fetishisation of plurality and the plural time framework Engaging a range of studies in History Anthropology and Sociology Sinha provides a critical assessment of some of the leading frameworks on time studies questions their foundational premises highlights their limitations and proposes an alternative framework that is attuned to privileging the approach of social history The purposes of the latter the book argues is best served when time's irreversible character is not diluted under the weight of plurality Plurality in time is an outcome of practices and their historicisation plurality of time can become an empty statement Rather than defining what time is the book casts that inquiry into the historical mould to explore how time as a contestatory resource becomes part of social relationships and what it does to them when scripts of power align themselves with the control of time Iran in Motion Mikiya Koyagi, 2021-04-27 Completed in 1938 the Trans Iranian

Railway connected Tehran to Iran's two major bodies of water the Caspian Sea in the north and the Persian Gulf in the south Iran's first national railway it produced and disrupted various kinds of movement voluntary and forced intended and unintended on different scales and in different directions among Iranian diplomats tribesmen migrant laborers technocrats railway workers tourists and pilgrims as well as European imperial officials alike Iran in Motion tells the hitherto unexplored stories of these individuals as they experienced new levels of mobility Drawing on newspapers industry publications travelogues and memoirs as well as American British Danish and Iranian archival materials Mikiya Koyagi traces contested imaginations and practices of mobility from the conception of a trans Iranian railway project during the nineteenth century global transport revolution to its early years of operation on the eve of Iran's oil nationalization movement in the 1950s

Weaving together various individual experiences this book considers how the infrastructural megaproject reoriented the flows of people and goods In so doing the railway project simultaneously brought the provinces closer to Tehran and pulled them away from it thereby constantly reshaping local national and transnational experiences of space among mobile individuals A Sea of Debt Fahad Ahmad Bishara, 2017-03-10 An innovative legal history of economic life in the Western Indian Ocean charting the emergence of a trans oceanic contractual culture The Coolie's Great War Radhika Singha, 2020 A spectacular history of the hundreds of thousands of unacknowledged Indian laborers who kept the Allied supply lines flowing in the First World War Pandemic India David Arnold, 2022-05-24 Covid 19 has given renewed urgent attention to the pandemic as a devastating recurrent global phenomenon Today the term is freely and widely used but in reality it has a long and contested history centred on South Asia Pandemic India is an innovative enquiry into the emergence of the idea and changing meaning of pandemics exploring the pivotal role played by or assigned to India over the past 200 years Using the perspectives of the social historian and the historian of medicine and a wide range of sources it explains how and why past pandemics were so closely identified with South Asia the factors behind outbreaks exceptional destructiveness in India responses from society and the state both during and since the colonial era and how such collective catastrophes have changed lives and been remembered Giving a long history to India s current pandemic the book offers comparisons with earlier epidemics of cholera plague and influenza David Arnold assesses the distinctive characteristics and legacies of each episode tracking the evolution of public health strategies and containment measures This is a historian s reflection on time as seen through the pandemic prism and on the ways the past is used or misused to serve the present Business Strategies and Public Policies in India and Europe Bidisha Banerji, Sheetal Sharma, 2025-06-13 The book discusses public policy business strategies building diverse and inclusive societies securing climate justice and building business resilience for the future analyzing India and Europe simultaneously with the help of comparative design along with dedicated chapters on single country or region from the two entities Situated in the contemporary times the book dives into some of the most pressing issues of our times in two entities known for their diverse societies and democratic outlook The book delves into domestic and international aspects when looking at the formulation and implementation of public policy It also deals with the changing geo political realities and how that has impacted domestic concerns and policies From literature and theoretical contributions the book has quantitative and qualitative chapters suitable for expert as well as general reading This book is a valuable resource not just for university students but research community think tanks and people in governance largely those involved in public policy Importantly this book would also serve as an important resource for scholars of international studies The scholars of comparative public policy would find this book a much need addition to the field as the book looks at public policy from a comparative lens apart from single country cases studies Finally given the relevance scope and access of understanding the book can be read by anyone interested in workings of public policy India or Europe Routledge

Epidemic Encounters, Communities, and Practices in the Colonial World Poonam Bala, Russel Viljoen, 2023-01-24 The essays in this volume examine the nature and extent of disease on indigenous communities and local populations located within the vast regions of the Indian and Pacific Oceans as a result of colonial sea power and colonial conquest While this established a long term impact of disease on populations the essays also offer insights into the dynamics of these populations in resisting colonial intrusions and introduction of disease to newly acquired territories

Empire and Ecology in the Bengal Delta Debjani Bhattacharyya, 2018-05-24 What happens when a distant colonial power tries to tame an unfamiliar terrain in the world's largest tidal delta This history of dramatic ecological changes in the Bengal Delta from 1760 to 1920 involves land water and humans tracing the stories and struggles that link them together Pushing beyond narratives of environmental decline Bhattacharyya argues that property thinking a governing tool critical in making land and water discrete categories of bureaucratic and legal management was at the heart of colonial urbanization and the technologies behind the draining of Calcutta The story of ecological change is narrated alongside emergent practices of land speculation and transformation in colonial law Bhattacharyya demonstrates how this history continues to shape our built environments with devastating consequences as shown in the Bay of Bengal's receding coastline

The Legacy of Mahatma Gandhi Sagar Simlandy and Sharmila Dutta Banik, 2021-07-03 Mahatma Gandhi the father of nation has a multi dimensional personality a politician leader statesman journalist writer barrister philosopher social scientist and activist He was born on 2nd October 1869 during colonial period and died on 30th January 1948 while India was independent Between these two different perspectives of his life he formulated and developed his political and philosophical ideas which he himself experienced in South Africa and India Now the time has come to be reviewed re examined whether his political ideas and philosophy are relevant in the 21st Century characterized by the problem of armed clashes terrorism and the moral crisis of humanity His ideas of Truth Non violence Satyagraha Sarvodaya etc are to be re examined to make these fit to be solved the present crises His secular ideas of coexistence of all religions are more relevant than in his own time Casteism is still a major problem in Indian politics Can Gandhi s concept of Harijan eradicate casteism and create a casteless society Should Gandhian ideas of Democracy not western type and socialism not Marxian type be reviewed to solve the recent crises The intellectuals and scholars coming from different parts of the country and the world will explore various aspects of Mahatma Gandhi s political and philosophical ideas for the question of humanity and morality which lack the present society and politics The Book has important features and knowledge about Gandhian ideas and knowledge

Empire Building Rosie Llewellyn-Jones,2023-08-21 Empire Building is a new account of the East India Company s impact on India focusing on how it changed the subcontinent s built environment in the context of defence urbanisation and infrastructural development Rosie Llewellyn Jones examines these initiatives through a lens of political building using Indian contractors and labourers Railways docks municipal buildings Freemasons lodges hotels racecourses barracks cemeteries statues and canals everything the British erected made a political statement even if unconsciously Hence this book is concerned less with architectural styles more with subtle infiltration into the minds of those who saw and used these structures It assesses in turn Indian responses to the changing landscape Indians often reacted favourably to new manufacturing technologies from Britain such as minting and gunpowder while the British learnt from and adapted local methods From military engineers and cartography to imported raw metals and steam power Llewellyn Jones considers the social and environmental changes wrought by colonialism This period was marked by a shift from formerly private Indian controlled functions such as education entertainment trading and healing to British public institutions such as universities theatres chambers of commerce and hospitals Stepping aside from ongoing colonialism debates this is a fascinating account of India s physical transformation during the Company period

Coolie Migrants, Indian Diplomacy Kalathmika Natarajan,2025-11-14 Over the centuries millions of migrant labourers sailed from the Indian subcontinent across the Bay of Bengal and Indian Ocean to shape what is now the world s largest diaspora This book recovers the histories and legacies of those coolie migrants and presents a new paradigm for the diplomatic history of independent India going beyond high politics to explore how indenture emigration and international relations became entangled Before and after independence Indian notions of the international realm as a sanctified space were shaped by migrant journeys this was a space of anxiety in which to negotiate the coolie stain on the country s reputation Discourse was defined by intersections of caste class race and gender and framed the migrant worker as the quintessential other of Indian diplomacy Drawing on rich multi archival analysis spanning the vast geographies of labour migration Kalathmika Natarajan pieces together the stories of quarantine camps en route to Ceylon cultural and educational missions in the Caribbean discretionary passport policies in India and the mediation of immigrant life in Britain The result is a nuanced history from the interwar period to the decades after independence and a critical analysis centring both caste and the negotiation of undesirable mobility as foundational to Indian diplomacy
