Logical Structures for Representation of Knowledge and Uncertainty Ellen Hisdal, 2013-04-17

It is the business of science not to create laws but to discover them We do not originate the constitution of our own minds greatly as it may be in our power to modify their character And as the laws of the human intellect do not depend upon our will so the forms of science of 1 1 which they constitute the basis are in all essential regards independent of individual choice George Boole 10 p 11 1 1 Comparison with Traditional Logic The logic of this book is a probability logic built on top of a yes no or 2 valued logic It is divided into two parts part I BP Logic and part II M Logic BP stands for Bayes Postulate This postulate says that in the absence of knowledge concerning a probability distribution over a universe or space one should assume 1 a uniform distribution 2 The M logic of part II does not make use of Bayes postulate or of any other postulates or axioms It relies exclusively on purely deductive reasoning following from the definition of probabilities The M logic goes an important step further than the BP logic in that it can distinguish between certain types of information supply sentences which have the same representation in the BP logic as well as in traditional first order logic although they clearly have different meanings see example 6 1 2 also comments to the Paris Rome problem of eqs 1 8 1 9 below

Styles of Learning and Teaching Noel J. Entwistle, 2013-10-31 First Published in 1989 This book is in a sense a text book of educational psychology designed mainly for those with little previous knowledge of the subject But it is not a conventional text book To begin with it does not cover the whole area which normally defines educational psychology It concentrates instead on those aspects which are most directly applicable to understanding the processes related to learning intellectual skills and acquiring knowledge Also the book does not aim to provide a detailed coverage it is deliberately selective in the topics which are covered The main aim is to present an outline or perhaps an overview of current ideas in educational psychology in the hope of providing a more coherent picture of what otherwise tends to be a rather fragmentary set of topics drawn from mainstream psychology Read in conjunction with more conventional textbooks this overview should provide a good guide to the recent literature

Extensionalism: The Revolution in Logic Nimrod Bar-Am, 2008-04-03 a single life span Philosophers then do not see more or know more and they do not see less or know less They aim to see less detail and more of the abstract Their details if you like are abstractions Walking on God's earth as a pedestrian as a farmer working his fields or as a passer by one's picture of one's surroundings is every bit as intelligent as that of the pilot riding the sky The views of the field are radically different however One sees only a specific field and in all lively detail the exact pattern of the land or even the exact outline of a given leaf grasshopper grain of sand even Acquaintance with minute detail is not without its price details may stand in the way of conjuring the big picture It may be difficult to compare whichever field one happens to be in with far off fields with respect to their size or shape or any other quality One may wish to inquire if far off fields were already planted harvested or even if they exist A pedestrian may find it hard or even impossible to do so The pedestrian view contains fine points that the pilot's map never would but it does not necessarily contain more information for it lacks the general context After all there are only so many items that one can observe and account for at a single glance a single map a single book a single life span
